Auction Sale of House Lots
Suitable for Moderate Priced Residences

17 House lots of 8,000 to 10,000 sq. ft. each will be sold on the premises at 2.30 p. m., Saturday, Oct. 4, 1902. These lots are located on the Boylston Street Boulevard, Woodcliff and Rockledge Roads (all macadamized streets, accepted by the City and having water and gas pipes and electric lines laid.)

The land is 4 minutes' walk from Newton Highlands Station of the R. & A. R. R. (10 cent fare to Boston) and is passed on Centre Street by electric connecting with all parts of Newton, Needham, Brookline, Wellesley and surrounding towns; and on Boylston Street by the new Boston & Worcester electric R. R., making quick time to Boston.

The neighborhood is highly desirable and is close to schools, churches and stores. The lots are all beautifully wooded with fine old oak and chestnut trees.

The sale is to be made with reasonable restrictions. Fifty dollars is to be paid on each lot at the time and place of sale; the balance payable, if desired, on easy terms to those building within a year. For plans and particulars apply to the Auctioneer, Chas. S. Judkins, 113 Devonshire Street, Boston, who will also furnish R. R. tickets to those desiring to attend sale by the train leaving South station at 1.40 p. m. for Newton Highlands on day of sale.

RENOMINATED.

Congressman S. L. Powers Unanimous Choice

Of the Twelfth District Republicans
At Yesterday's Convention.

Congressman Samuel L. Powers was unanimously renominated at the 12th congressional convention held at Wesleyan hall, Boston, yesterday forenoon.

Newton was represented on the committee on credentials by Mr. Frederick Johnson, on the committee to nominate a district committee by Mr. W. F. Garcelon and Mr. W. S. Slocum was one to escort the nominee to the hall.

Mr. Powers was placed in nomination by Mr. Slocum who said:

Mr. Chairman:—

I rise for the purpose of proposing to this convention a candidate for nomination, a person whom I believe will be its unanimous choice.

Two years ago he was the particular candidate of the part of the district in which I reside.

He had lived with us seventeen years and was known to us as a faithful friend, a good citizen, and honorable lawyer, a man with experience in the affairs of government, and a loyal Republican.

He was elected by a large majority and has served the district in the Fifty-Seventh Congress.

Our confidence in him has been justified.

Today he is the candidate of this whole district.

Let his record in the first session of the Fifty-Seventh Congress speak for him.

His first speech won from the Speaker the compliment of "One of the House debaters."

He was prominent in the passage of the bill for the protection of the President. The bill called for by the dastardly assassination of President McKinley.

His legal experience has been of value in the progress of measures to perfect the present bankruptcy law.

He has been painstaking in attending to the personal requests of his constituents.

He has been fair, kind and considerate to all, regardless of party affiliation.

He has helped the old soldiers and their dependents and aided them and their widows in obtaining justly deserved pensions.

He has worked for better postal facilities in the towns of his district. He was the organizer of the "Tantalus Club," and is its present president.

That club is well known in Washington, if not in this section of the country.

It has compelled the recognition upon the floor of the House of new members in the place of the old regime, which relegated such members to silence and "innocuous desuetude."

He is faithful to the principles of the Republican party.

He is a loyal supporter of the administration of President Roosevelt.

This in brief is his record and we present him for nomination by this Republican Convention of the Twelfth Congressional District.

Mr. Powers was received with enthusiasm and spoke as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:— I hardly need say to you that I am deeply sensible of the honor conferred upon me by the action of your convention. It is certainly a source of great satisfaction to learn that my renomination has been accorded me with absolute unanimity.

"While I am not conscious that there has been any such criticism of my conduct in the public service as to require or demand my renomination as a personal vindication, nevertheless you will pardon me if I see fit to regard this second nomination which you have so generously tendered me today as a renewed expression of your confidence in me, for which I am profoundly grateful. I cannot forbear, however, giving at this time some expression concerning the obligations under which I have been placed by the most loyal and considerate constituency which I now have the honor to represent in congress.

"From the very first the people of my district, irrespective of party

In Memoriam.

In the death of Mrs. Lucy W. Lawrence, Newton has lost a rare and gracious presence. She was born in Boston on the fourth of July, 1818. Her maiden name was Davis. One of her sisters was the wife of the late Prof. Joseph H. Thayer of Harvard University, and another was the wife of Mr. William C. Strong of Newton Highlands. In her youth she was carefully reared and was educated at one of the best private schools of Boston. Her parents were devoted members of the Congregational church, and here at many times she was constantly engaged in church work. In 1867 she became the wife of Dr. Amos E. Lawrence, who was then pastor of the Congregational church in South Lee, near Stockbridge, which she made her home for several years. Here she was the active and efficient helper of her husband. In 1874 she came with him and his children to establish a home in Newton Centre, and here at 942 Beacon street she lived for twenty-eight years. To some it might seem as if the real work of her life were over in fact it had just begun. She was intensely interested in the work of education and in the educational institutions of the city; they were never out of her mind.

She has left a most admirable copy of Guido Keri's Aurora, from the Rospigliosi Palace to the Newton High school. Mrs. Lawrence entered into everything which forms the higher life of any community. She was well acquainted with the best that has been written. Her love of literature was not confined to any time or school; Milton and Shakespeare were no more her favorites than Tennyson or Browning. Her home was a centre from which the noblest and sweetest influence proceeded. In their personal appearance Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence were noteworthy; they seemed to represent in their own persons the highest form of culture. To converse with Mrs. Lawrence was a privilege. She talked simply, and without effort, and in a way that rested and charmed the listener, on themes of vital interest. She always appeared to be seeking information, and she was always giving it. No one could talk with her for any time without becoming conscious that he was breathing a finer air.

Mrs. Lawrence had a mind that was always open to the intellectual and spiritual influences of her time. She was ready to hear all sides, and to welcome truth from whatever quarter it came. The longer she lived the broader her outlook became. She was never in a hurry to justify her usual opinion, but she was willing to wait, for the truth, which she was convinced would do her no harm. Things she wished to believe were not always so clear as she would have liked them to be, but she never doubted that the sincerity and earnestness of her seeking would lead her into light at the last. That could be said of her which Tennyson has said of his friend in "In Memoriam."

"Perplexed in faith but not in deeds. At last she beat her music out."

Mrs. Lawrence did nothing striking she was not a writer nor a speaker, nor the leader of any moral or philanthropic movement. She was not of those who make a noise in the streets. She followed the light that was given her and unfolded all the possibilities of her nature to the utmost, and thus she did her life work. In the circle of relatives and friends she has for years been an elevating and ennobling influence. By being what she was she made those who knew her realize the beauty and significance of life. And, as we think of all this she was in mind and character and of all that has gone with her, we comfort ourselves with the assurance that

"Earth is less fragrant now and heaven more sweet."

Funeral of Mr. Wm. Hopkins.

St. Mary's church, at Newton Upper Falls was filled to overflowing last Friday morning, when the many friends of Mr. William Hopkins, the genial "Bud Brier" of the Boston Globe gathered to pay their last tribute of love and affection.

The services began at 8.40. Rev. Fr. C. I. Riordan, assistant pastor of St. Mary's, was celebrant, Rev. Fr. M. J. Flaherty of St. John's Seminary, Brighton, deacon, Rev. Fr. N. J. Merritt of St. Patrick's, Roxbury, sub-deacon, and Rev. Dr. Sipple of Cambridge master of ceremonies.

Seated within the sanctuary railing were Rev. Dr. Shannon, professor of dogmatic theology at the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., Rev. Dr. Barry of Boston, Rev. Fr. D. J. Wholey of Newton Centre, Rev. Fr. Lee of Newton Centre, Rev. Fr. T. F. Walsh and Rev. Fr. Maher.

Schmidt's unison mass was sung. "De Profundis" was sung by the male members of the choir and intoned by E. Mark Sullivan. At the close of the mass, and following the words of Rev. Fr. Riordan, Mr. James Hurley sang "Only Waiting."

Miss Katherine Fitzgerald presided at the organ.

The church quartet, made up of Miss Alice L. Sullivan, soprano; Miss Mary Daley, alto; Mr. Edward Hegley bass, and Mr. James Hurley, tenor was assisted by E. Mark Sullivan of West Newton, Mr. John Leahy of the Newton Upper Falls, Miss Lena Leahy, Miss Lucy Murphy of Boston and Mr. Harry Cleary of Brookline.

The pallbearers were Dr. W. H. McQueen, Andrew C. Hughes and Jeremiah Mahoney of Newton Upper Falls; Mr. John Sheridan of Wellesley, Mr. D. A. McCarthy, editor of the Sacred Heart Review and Mr. Edward Hegley of Newton Upper Falls.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:
Dear Sir—The directors of the Pomroy Home wish to express their gratitude to the Rev. Dr. Shinn for his very urgent appeal to our citizens for a special contribution to our Home for the current year. The facts stated in that letter, and they are correctly stated, are in themselves a sufficient appeal for aid. To close our financial year in November without again intrenching on our invested fund we need $700, this amount having been expended on new plumbing and other repairs made imperative by sanitary conditions.

The Home is fortunate in having in Miss Hayes an admirable matron and was never doing better work it should not be hampered or restricted by want of income when our city is twice as large and upland as it was in the early days of the institution.

Yours respectfully,
Arthur C. Walworth, Treas.

Newton, Sept. 30, 1902.

Editor of the Graphic, Newton, Mass.
As a citizen of Newton I call the attention of the people to the cutting of the superfluous limbs from their trees, and trees that are decaying, and put the laboring men right into the work of cutting and levelling of trees and limbs, cutting same into sufficient lengths to go into the furnace, which will burn just as well if green, along with some coal, and will burn in the grate with dry wood. Having myself used a great deal of furnace and grates, I find that the trimmings of limbs from any apple trees and ornamental trees, furnish me with kindling wood and stuff for the greater part of the winter; and this winter, when wood will be costly and burnable, it behooves each person who owns trees that need trimming and cutting down, to do all they can to increase the supply. Each family making a saving call less on the coal dealer.

Another thing which the writer has noticed with a great deal of an economical feeling. For years it is the custom of people to empty every kind of old paper and paper boxes of every description into barrels, to be carted off by the city. Now in our family we never have as much as a paill of paper go out for the city to cart away. We burn everything all through the summer. Our girl picks the furnace full, and as the day becomes cool as such will in summer we set fire to it and if one has a good flue and plenty of draft much heat is derived. It keeps the furnace dry and free from rust through the summer. The amount of paper and waste that goes into barrels is enormous. If converted into heat would help heat hundreds of houses.

In the beginning, say the first of this winter, save all your refuse paper, pack it in barrels and during the winter, if necessary, keep the boys at work shovelling it into the heater. You will find that you will save a vast deal of heat, and save the city from carting away so much superfluous paper which should be burnt at home. It is a crying shame to see the amount of paper stuffed into barrels, often time with small boxes of wood, which might just as well go into the furnace and grate during the winter.

I burn everything of the kind—everything goes into my furnace or grate. Sometimes it is a pleasure to feed a furnace with this refuse. Begin now, and not have so many disgraceful looking barrels of old paper culch to be carted away when it will go up the chimney in cremation.

But do trim off superfluous branches from your trees, cut them up in lengths to suit your furnace and grate, and you will not regret it.

There are too many needless trees, particularly on north side of street, in most all of the streets of Newton, and unless the people begin to trim these trees, malaria will settle down in the streets of Newton, and people will only find it out when the tardy board of health and interested physicians tell the people the cause, and the cause now by cutting down trees and trimming where too much shade is given. Newton is notorious for its amount of trees, which is the cause of so much rain centering down on it. There is too many dark and damp streets for the good of the people thereof.

Yours truly,
Housekeeper.

Letter to Charles E. Currier,

Newton.
Dear Sir: Ira Gould, a painter in Colebrook, N. H., bought of our agent there, Wesley Wentworth, 4 gallons of paint, thinned it down with two gallons of oil, and gave his own house one coat.

Every painter in town declared he had painted two coats.

"That's all the far the story goes," as Uncle Remus says. We don't know whether it made a good job or not; but the painter thought it did. We should call it priming. Maybe the house didn't need painting. A priming coat is enough if put on often enough.

But if Ira Gould had set out to do us a favor, he couldn't have done better. One priming coat of Devco is enough to make painters say, "He's been painting two coats; and wants us to think he has done it with one, and that half oil! No thank you."

We don't know Mr. Gould but we know Mr. Wentworth. Guess the story is straight.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.

SWIMMING IN SCHOOLS.

EXTRACT FROM "HOW TO SWIM", BY CAPTAIN DAVID DALTON, CHIEF INSPECTOR OF THE U. S. VOLUNTEER LIFE-SAVING CORPS. PP. 130-131

"In England, by Act of Parliament instruction in swimming in public schools has been made compulsory.

Upon the continent, in every city of importance, there are public baths, free to those who cannot afford to pay.

"In America, what is the condition of affairs? In most of the seaboard cities, there are free baths in the summer; that is excellent as far as it goes, but it does not go far, for in New York for example, ten times as many houses as now exist would hardly accommodate those who desire to bathe and to learn to swim.

"Even these twelve baths, supposed to accommodate that proportion of four millions of people which cares for the water, are closed in September. During the winter, throughout this country there are but two cities, I believe, which furnish free bathing facilities.

"To this need of them, however, the cities are waking up, and in the most important centres of population appropriations for public bath houses have been made. There is then, little need of dwelling upon this phase of the question, except for a moment to point out that a corps of instructors in swimming ought to be in attendance at every bath.

"The more important subject is the necessity for establishing swimming baths in every school house, and in making the swimming class as important a feature of education as the geography class.

"I would have a tank in the basement of every school house and an instructor to teach swimming. I would have laws passed providing that every child should learn to swim.

"Perhaps certain of my readers will smile at this, asking whether I have estimated the cost. I have estimated it. In each of those school houses which are already provided with asphalt floors in the basements, the expense of putting in a tank ought not to exceed $6,000, including equipment of towels, etc. In the running expenses I reckon $1,500 for the instructor and his assistant; another, $1,000 for an instructor of the girls and her assistant; $2,000 for washing and drying towels, etc., for heating, lighting and repairs. Roughly $5,000 a year for each bath. A heavy item of expense? Not when the advantage to be derived from it is considered. Ask any physician whether the better health to the community that would come if each member of it should bathe once a day is not worth $5,000 a year spent on every school house in every city.

Every member of a community that had grown up under a system of daily baths would bathe. The habit of bathing is not one that decreases as the child matures.

"Besides the benefit to health, there is the benefit to public safety. No longer would our ships leave port, as they do now, with crews of men not half of whom can keep afloat if the ship should leak. No longer would only a small number of our police officers be competent to save persons who fall from wharves. I am including these merely as examples; I need hardly add that other illustrations could be drawn ad infinitum.

"America spends vast sums upon less important measures than instruction in swimming. Is it preposterous to suggest that some of this money might be devoted to so noble an object as the cleanliness and safety of the people? I believe not, and I am making it my chief object in life, to present the cause of public education in swimming to the public."

AN EDITORIAL FLOP

(Copyright, 1902, by C. D. Lewis.)

Pilplinton of the Weekly Banner advertised that the laws were too severely administered. One night when in his house alone a burglar got in and forced the editor to open all his closets and drawers in search of booty. Catching the man off his guard, Pilplinton felled him with a single blow, bound and gagged him and then said to him: "You are the first criminal we have encountered in the flesh. All our arguments were based on criminals in the abstract. We have been deceived. Our delusions have been put to flight." The robber cursed him high and low and struggled with his bonds, and Pilplinton continued:

"Better late than never, however. We shall now advocate the maximum punishment for all criminals. You entered our house to rob us. Let us see if you have anything worth taking."

He knelt down beside the man and searched his pockets. The search brought to light a gold watch, $37 in cash and a diamond pin, the proceeds of a crime committed elsewhere.

"Ah, this is better," chuckled Pilplinton. "This is more money than we have handled in three months. We shall appropriate everything to our personal benefit. It is lucky you paid us a visit. This plunder dispels any last lingering fear that necessity drove you to crime."

He picked up the broom, broke off the handle, and for five long minutes he pounded the burglar's body from chin to heel. The man yelled and cursed and rolled over on the floor, and when the blows ceased he said:

"If I have to live a thousand years, I'll have your life for this!"

"Another one of our pet theories has been that criminals were not vicious," replied the editor as he sat down to rest. "In the last issue of the Banner we had a half column article on the subject. We contended that the average criminal had neither spite nor malice, but was simply seeking to get what the world denied him, a living. You seem to be a thoroughly wicked man."

"You bet I am!"

"In our issue of two weeks ago we contended that the average robber aimed to rob the rich only, and only because oppressed by capital. Were we correct? No. I see we were not. The moment you entered this house you realized that it belonged to a poor man. There are at least ten men in this town worth $25,000 each, but you passed them all by."

"I wish I had put a bullet into your head and gone through the house afterward!" growled the man.

The editor arose and wielded the broom handle for another five minutes and then sat down to remark:

"About six weeks ago there was a case of punishment in the New Jersey state prison which aroused public discussion. A convict refused to obey orders and was given the strap. We contended that a few kind words would have touched his heart and broken his resolution, while our esteemed contemporary argued that he should have been punished an hour sooner than he was. It seems that we were wrong in that particular also."

"Look out for me, old man!" growled the burglar as he gritted his teeth.

"I see. Our whole line of reasoning from start to finish has been wrong. Excuse my pertinacity, but was it the knowledge that Gould, Vanderbilt and Astor had tens of millions while you had only a few shillings that drove you into crime?"

"You are a fool," was the blunt reply. "But, tell me, could you have found work and lived an honest life had you so desired?"

"Work! Why, you hump nosed bloke, who wants work when he can make a living without? The only thing I'm sorry for is that such a fool as you are should have laid me by the heels in this fashion. If I was free, I'd roast you at the fire!"

"We believe you would, but you won't get free. We can now clearly see what an ass we have made of ourself in arguing as we have, and—"

And he rose up and applied the broom handle again until his arms ached. Greatly to his surprise the burglar called for mercy.

"Can this be a parallel case of the New Jersey affair?" asked Mr. Pilplinton. "All our kind words produced no effect on you, but corporal punishment seems to bring you to terms."

"For heaven's sake, don't wallop me any more!" whined the man. "Let up on me, and I'll make tracks. You've had all the fun there was in it and can afford to turn me loose."

"Not yet. In our arguments with our esteemed contemporary we have repeatedly declared that criminals were only hardened by corporal punishment. We now discover that we have been altogether wrong and that—"

"Don't, don't!" shouted the burglar as Mr. Pilplinton spat on his hands and flourished the broomstick. "You didn't get all my money. If you will let me go, I will tell you where I have hidden $100."

"Well?"

"In that left boot. Take it and let me go, and you'll never see me around here again."

Mr. Pilplinton pulled off the boot and found five twenty dollar bills in it. He put them in his pocket and asked:

"Got any more?"

"Not a red. Now let me go."

Holding the burglar's revolver in one hand and using the knife with the other, Mr. Pilplinton soon freed the fellow from bondage. He had no pluck left. He got upon his feet, with a groan, opened the kitchen door as commanded, and the editor followed him around the house to the front gate. The man hadn't a word to say. He gained the highway and dragged himself out of sight in the darkness and has never been heard of in the village since.

M. QUAD.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

PARK THEATRE, Oct. 6.—"Woman Against Woman."
MUSIC HALL, Oct. 6.—"The Funny Page."
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, Oct. 6.—"A Trip to Switzerland."
TREMONT THEATRE, Oct. 6.—Grand Opera.

Boston Music Hall—"The Sign of the Cross," that most successful of all the semi-religious plays, is drawing large audiences to the Boston Music Hall, but gives way next Monday afternoon to Reilly and Woods' big company of comedians, singers and dancers. This season they present an entertainment that is bright, lively and interesting from start to finish. The entire company is seen in a laughable musical comedy, entitled "The Funny Page," and introducing to the stage such characters as Happy Hooligan, Alphonse and Gaston, Mrs. Katzenjammer, Foxy Grandpa, Dinkelspiel and others more or less familiar to the readers of the comic supplement. The company numbers 50 people, including some of the prettiest girls that have ever been brought to Boston with a musical organization. The engagement is for one week only, with the usual matinees each afternoon at which the best seats in the house are 25 cents. This big attraction will be followed by Lotie Williams Salter in the latest melodramatic success, "Only A Shop Girl."

Park Theatre—At the Park Theatre beginning Monday, October 6, Frank Harvey's popular melodrama, "Woman Against Woman," will be revived by Corse Payton and his permanent stock company. "Woman against Woman" has always been a favorite play with Boston theatre-goers, and as it has not been seen here for several seasons it is certain of a warm welcome back to Boston. The cast will comprise all the members of Mr. Payton's company, and an excellent performance in every way is assured. The scenery and costumes will be on an especially liberal and elaborate scale. The regular subscription patrons of the Park Theatre are rapidly growing in number, which is evidence of the continued favor of Mr. Payton's stock company season. The prices, run from 10 to 30 cents in the afternoon, and from 10 to 50 cents in the evening. "Woman against Woman" will be followed week after next by "Peaceful Valley," Sol Smith Russell's success of some seasons ago.

"A Grand Success."

Mechanics Fair, that opened in Boston on Monday the 22d inst., has proved itself to be all and more than was expected of it. Thousands of visitors have thronged the doors of the Mechanics Building since the opening of this the first fair in four years. The words of pleasure and commendation that have been expressed are due not only to the wonderful and beautiful exhibits that are being presented, but to the many forms of entertainment that are included without additional charge to all visitors.

Next week among special attractions will be the following: Phinney's United States Band of Chicago, based upon the famous Iowa State Band, 15 years' success, 5000 Concerts, 150,000 miles traveled, played a successful engagement of 26 weeks at the World's Fair, Chicago; Grand Reproduction of Niagara Falls; a scenic display along the Southern Railway; Woman's Department, under direction of Woman's E. & I. Union; Latest Invention in Machinery and Jim Key, the educated horse.

GOLF.

Doings of the Clubs.

News Gossip.

Mr. Percy Gilbert of the Newton Centre Club won the third invitation of the Salem Golf Club last Saturday, and the Blasted Hopes Cup at the same tournament was won by Mr. W. L. Church of the same club.

Mr. Gilbert also won the gross prize at the invitation tournament of the Woodland Golf Club which closed last Monday. Mr. J. B. Chase, Jr., of the Newton Centre Club won the best net prize at the same tournament.

Newton Choral Association.

The Newton Choral Association enters its third season with the prestige of signal success in the past two years. The Association has been most fortunate in again securing the services of Mr. Everett E. Truette as musical director and of Miss Laura Henry as accompanist. Plans have been made for giving two concerts the coming season, which will prove of great interest to the lovers of good music.

The first to be of an entirely miscellaneous nature consisting of choruses, part songs and madrigals, the Association to be assisted by Mrs. Grace Bonner Williams, soprano.

At the second concert will be given Arminius, an oratorio by Max Bruch. The soloists will be Miss Adah Campbell Hussey, contralto, Mr. Clarence Shirley, tenor, and Mr. Stephen Townsend, baritone.

The first rehearsal will be held on Monday evening, Oct. 13th, at the Eliot chapel at 7.30 o'clock. Mr. Everett E. Truette, the musical director, will be at the Eliot chapel on Monday evening, Oct. 6th, at 7.30 o'clock, to try the voices of any new applicants for active membership.

Grand Opera House—Lovers of good honest fun interperated with everything that is bright and up to date, with lots of pretty girls, gorgeous costumes and one of the most capable companies that was ever organized to exploit pantomime farce, should not miss seeing "The Hanlon Brothers," renowned "A Trip to Switzerland," which will be presented by Byrne Bros. at the Grand Opera House next week. Three immense and complicated scenes are used in the exploitation of this wonderful pot-pourri of comedy, pantomime and opera. A lot of bright and up to date specialties are introduced which will prove particularly interesting to ladies and children attending the matinees which are on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday as usual.

Political Notes.

The Republican senatorial convention met in Temple hall, Newtonville, Monday afternoon at three o'clock and was called to order by William O. Cutler of Natick, chairman of the district committee.

Mr. Cutler was elected temporary chairman and Alderman A. P. Carter of Newtonville temporary secretary.

A committee on credentials consisting of Messrs. Bancroft of Natick, Shattuck of Watertown and Childs of Newton was appointed and reported 45 delegates, present out of a total of 47.

The temporary organization was made permanent; Judge Mulligan of Natick then nominated Senator Henry R. Skinner of Watertown. Dr. Collins of Framingham seconded the nomination, after speaking in good word for Chas. J. McPherson of that town.

Senator Skinner was then nominated unanimously and Messrs. Webster of Newton Centre, Collins of Framingham and Mulligan of Natick were appointed a committee to escort the nominee to the hall.

Pending the arrival of the Senator, Mr. William M. Flanders of Newton was re-elected a member of the state central committee, on motion of Judge J. C. Kennedy.

On motion of Mr. E. B. Bishop of Newton Centre the district committee was empowered to fill vacancies which might occur.

A district committee consisting of the chairman of the town committees, the chairman of the city committee of Newton, the chairman of the ward committee of Newton and the member of the state committee, were elected on motion of Mr. J. F. Ryder of Auburndale.

Senator Skinner was then presented and spoke in part as follows:

"I regard it as an honor to represent a district of 60,000 people of Massachusetts, and a great honor to be your unanimous choice for another year." Mr. Skinner then related his experiences in the campaign of last year, referring to Newton as the finest city in the state, calling Natick and Framingham thoroughly representative towns of the industries of Massachusetts and remarking on the quiet beauty of the farming communities of Ashland, Holliston and Sherborn.

He looked for success of the Republican party this fall but believed it would require hard work, as the party was being charged with the responsibility of the present condition of affairs.

He recalled the year of 1893 when the Democrats were in full power and said if coal was high now, then, half the manufacturing plants of the country were idle. If meat is dear now, then, the workman did not have anything to buy it with at any price.

He looked to the Republican party to solve the great problems of the future as it had solved those of the past.

At the close of the convention, the delegates were invited to a collation as the guests of Senator Skinner.

Mr. William H. Mague, Democratic candidate for legislature from this district has withdrawn and it is said that Democratic nomination papers are to be filed for the office by Dr. S. L. Eaton of Newton Highlands and Mr. Francis M. Dutch of West Newton.

The third district republican council convention was held in Wesleyan Hall, Boston, on Tuesday afternoon at 1 p. m. John A. Campbell, chairman of the district committee was elected chairman and Joseph H. Cullis of Belmont was chosen secretary. Mr. E. T. Colburn of Newton Centre was appointed chairman of the committee on credentials, Mr. John A. Potter served on the committee on ballots and Mr. Colburn was a member of the committee to nominate a district committee for 1903.

Mr. Crosby of Arlington was placed in nomination by Rev. A. E. Winship of Somerville. Mr. Hoag was nominated by Senator Howland of Chelsea, and Mr. May of Natick was proposed by Congressman Tirrell of that town. On the first ballot Crosby had 50 votes, May had 40, and Hoag 84, and there was no choice. On the second ballot Hoag received 89 votes, Crosby 51 and May had 34. The nomination of Mr. Hoag was made unanimous and Mr. S. W. Jones served on a committee to escort the nominee to the hall. Mr. Hoag was received with great enthusiasm and made a short speech of thanks.

The former district committee upon which Mr. E. T. Colburn of Newton Centre and Mr. S. W. Jones of Newton Highlands were members was re-elected.

It was rumored that the delegates from Newton were divided as follows: 8 for Hoag, 6 for Crosby and 5 for May.

It is courting danger to stand under icy eaves. Not a few have learned this to their cost. Every winter injury and even death are reported as the result of this carelessness. But there is a far more popular way of courting danger. Every man or woman who neglects a cough is inviting sickness, and many a fatal sickness has its beginning in a slight cough.

The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure the cough. Even when the cough is obstinate and there is hemorrhage with emaciation and weakness, "Golden Medical Discovery" always helps and almost always cures.

"I was troubled with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and left me with a miserable cough," writes Mr. Joseph D. Burns of 118 Huettig Street, Ithaca, New York. "I used two bottles of your Golden Medical Discovery, after which my cough disappeared entirely. I cannot recommend your medicine too highly."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for discharges of the stomach, blood and lungs. Substitution means a little more profit to the dealer but a loss to you.

Funeral of E. W. Gay.

The funeral of the late Edwin W.
Gay, who died last week Wednesday, took place on Tuesday afternoon.
The delay being occasioned to allow an only brother, Mr. Melvin R. Gay, to reach here from Redlands, Cal.
Private services for the family were held at his late residence on Waverley avenue, followed at 2.30 by the public exercises at the Methodist church.The chancel was filled with beautiful flowers sent by friends and organizations and a large and thoroughly representative audience were present, with delegations from the Stationers' Association, the Past Masters of Dalhousie Lodge, the Grand Army and the Mass. Board of Trade.As the casket, preceded by Rev.
George R. Grose, pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. C. E. Holmes, a former pastor, and Rev. Dr. Davis of Eliot church, and followed by the honorary pall bearers, was carried slowly up the aisle, the clergymen repeated the familiar words of the burial service, beginning with "I am the Resurrection and the Life."Warm words of eulogy were spoken by Rev. Mr. Grose and Rev. Mr.
Holmes, and prayer was offered by Dr. Davis. "Lead, Kindly Light,"
"Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "Passing on of the Shadow" were beautifully sung by the Dalhousie Quartet, their rendering of the last being particularly affecting.The pallbearers were Mr. Alonzo S.
Weed, representing the Methodist church, Mr. C. S. Ober, Commander of Chas. Ward Post, G. A. R., Mr.
Mitchell Wing, Worshipful Master of Dalhousie Lodge of Masons, President Samuel Ward of the Stationers Association, President Chas. E.
Adams of the Mass. State Board of Trade, Mr. James W. French of the Newton Co-operative Bank and the Newton Associates, Mr. Henry J.
Learned and Mr. Willard G. Brackett.Interment was at Newton cemetery.

Bacon-Brown.

Miss Florence G. Brown, daughter of Mrs. Ella F. Brown of Newton Centre, and Charles Marsden Bacon, son of Charles E. Bacon, were married Wednesday afternoon at the Newton Centre Methodist church, by the Rev. L. H. Dorchester, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Luther Freeman of Portland, Me.The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Rachel Brown, as maid of honor. The best man was Howard T. Ballard of Springfield and the ushers were Harry A. George of Newton Centre, Vernon H. Loynes of Springfield and Walter H. Merritt of Marlboro. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride, 63 Institution avenue. After a tour Mr. and Mrs. Bacon will reside in Middletown, Conn.

Fish-Earle.

Miss Daisy G. Earle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Earle and the Rev. Milton E. Fish of Vineyard Haven were married Thursday afternoon at the Baptist church, Watertown, by the pastor, the Rev. James Grant. The maid of honor was Miss Eva M. Earle, sister of the bride, the bridesmaids, Miss May E. Pinkham, Miss Lena Lassman of Watertown, Miss Gertrude Fish of West Somerville, sister of the groom, Miss Lydia Small of Attleboro, Miss Ida
M. Page of Fairmont, V. Va., Miss Alice Hutchinson of Lexington, the best man, Raymond B. Earle of Newton. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor.

Wadleigh-Hewson.

A fashionable wedding took place
Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sampson Hewson, 29 Pratt street, Malden, when their daughter, Miss Ella Blanche Hewson, was married to William Lincoln Wadleigh of Newtonville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. O. Hiscox.
The bridesmaid was Miss Laura Belle Hewson, sister of the bride, and William M. L. McAdams of Newton Highlands was the best man.
The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white, with a monstrous de soie with medallions of panne velvet and real lace. She carried bride roses. The bride's maid wore pink chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The house was very prettily decorated with palms and cut flowers. Only the immediate families of the contracting parties were present. The display of presents was most elaborate, consisting of cut glass, silver and bric a brac.
The double ring service was used.
After the wedding lunch was served and amidst the well wishes of their friends, the bride and groom left for Washington and from there they go to Bellingham to remain during the hunting season.

RENOMINATED.

affiliations, have given me their earnest and cordial support. If at any time my official conduct has failed to meet with their approval they have been charitable enough to withhold their criticism, and so far as I have been able to learn, have been good enough to credit me with an honest desire to serve the district to the best of my ability. I accept the nomination you have tendered me today, and if I am elected, it will be my purpose to give all the people of the district the best service of which I am capab-"I assume that the convention does not expect from me at this time any extended discussion of the political issues of the day. No doubt the people of our district will have ample opportunity to learn my views upon public questions now under consideration before the election takes place.
I imagine, however, that I do not entertain views concerning trusts, revision of the tariff and reciprocity with Canada differing essentially from those held by the great majority of Republicans in this district. I am not ambitious to entertain opinions in which no one agrees. I should certainly lose confidence in my own judgment if I found I was not largely in accord with the sentiment of the great mass of intelligent Republicans composing my constituency."I feel that every member of the Massachusetts delegation in congress well understands the wants of the old Commonwealth, and would gladly do all in his power to promote her prosperity and welfare. But we cannot always have things our own way.
There are but 27 members from all New England in the national house out of a membership of 357. If we all vote in favor of the same proposition in which Massachusetts is interested, there are still 330 members to be heard from, and quite often they fail to show that personal and political interest in Massachusetts that we would be pleased to have them."As to myself, I would be pleased to see the people of Massachusetts have the tariff so revised as to give to our manufacturers free hides, free coal, free wool and free iron, and at the same time maintain its present protective duties upon its manufactured goods, but just the moment we attempt to reach out for these blessings the cattle raiser and the wool grower of the west, and the coal and iron producer of Pennsylvania say to us, if you insist upon raw material coming into this country free of duty, in competition with like materials produced by us, then we insist upon the removal of the duties, or some part of them, now levied on certain goods manufactured in New England which we buy of your manufacturers and merchants, and the farther we get into the question the more we are impressed with the saying of that distinguished statesman who said that the tariff was a local issue.""I voted for the removal of the duty on hides in the last session of congress, and I do not believe that I shall ever vote against any measure calculated to benefit Massachusetts and New England, but there is one thing that must be lost sight of,
and that is, we are but one state in the union of 45, and that 44 of this number are more interested in themselves than they are in us and we cannot always accomplish what we would like. But after all, the membership of the national house is composed of able, honest, broad-minded, patriotic men who desire to legislate for the welfare of the entire people irrespective of state boundaries."There is one thing I feel confident I can assure you of, and that is when a revision of the tariff does come it will be made along the lines of protection to American industries and labor, if the Republican party is in power; that the reciprocal agreements or treaties we may enter into to the other countries will be to extend our markets and at the same time not to lessen our production. I believe that the Republican party can be relied upon to make such revisions as changes in the tariff conditions demand, and to do it in such a way as not to interfere seriously with our great industrial interests.
I have no question but that the people demand that this revision, if made at all, be made by the Republican party, and that it be made in such manner as to continue protection to American labor and manufactures."I appreciate how serious the problems are which confront us. They are serious because they are interwoven into the commercial and social life of our people; they are serious because the evil we would eradicate requires legislation of a character far more extreme than we have been accustomed to. Whether or not the great industrial combinations or trusts, as they are called, which are now being formed in all parts of the commercial world, are likely to prove in the end a blessing to mankind is an open question."Organized capital and organized labor, each assuming a hostile attitude to the other, is not a healthful condition, for production or trade.
Every movement for the greater aggregation of capital and the more perfect organization of labor increases the chances of controversies between capital and labor, and renders them far more disastrous in their results to the great consuming public."A question of sentiment rather than of wages stops the operation of the great coal fields in Pennsylvania, and brings distress and may bring indescribable suffering to millions of our people who are in no way responsible for the controversy. But how we shall regulate and control the trusts is not a question to be considered by our people only. Every great commercial people have that question under consideration at the present time."Australia already thinks she has solved the problem. The world is now passing through a commercial or economic revolution. The wealth of the globe is being marshaled by master minds on both sides the Atlantic into battalions of tremendous power. The Amer can people demand that they be protected not only againstpolitical, but also against commercial oppression."For one, I shall be sorely disappointed if we fail to pass at the coming session of congress, such legislation as will fairly protect the people against evils arising from combinations or trusts, which possess a practical monopoly in the production of produce a essential to the welfare and happiness of our people."In accepting your nomination do so with the full consciousness that if elected I have no private interests to serve, and the highest reward that I can fairly expect from my service will be the consciousness that I have done my full duty to my constituency."Frederick Johnson, Seward W.
Jones and W. F. Garcelon were the Newton members of the district committee elected and Mr. Jones was subsequently elected chairman.Following the convention the delegates were invited to a collation at Young's Hotel, as the guests of Col.
D. W. Farquhar.

Louis Frick, pastor of the Flint Street Methodist church of Somerville, were married at the Newton-ville Methodist church, Wednesday evening, by Prof. Rishell, father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Dr.
W. MacDowell and the Rev. W. J.
Thompson, pastor of the church.The bride was gowned in ivory satin crepe de chine over tulle, with deep yoke of Mechlin lace. She wore a filmy veil of French Malines. The maid of honor was Miss Helen Rishell, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Carrie F.
Frick of Denver, sister of the groom,
Miss A. L. Harman and Miss Edith Harman of New Rochelle, consists of the bride, and Miss Elsie E. Scott of

THE STRANGER OF TOWER HILL

[Original.]

In the reign of Bloody Mary there lived near Tower hill, in London, an armor maker named Cronin. His home was kept for him by his only daughter, Cleely, who was of an extremely gentle disposition and without so tender hearted that she would go out of her way to avoid treading on a worm. She was beloved by her father's assistant, John Gaunt, a plain, honest young fellow, who was respected by all who knew him. Cleely was favorably disposed to John Gaunt, but did not encourage his suit. Indeed she did not know her mind and was fearful of wounding him.

One morning she was going to the Thames to get a bucket of water, and while passing over Tower hill she met a man sauntering along pensively, as though he bore some weight upon his mind. Cleely was captivated by the stranger's appearance and especially by a certain somberness about him. At the moment they passed each other the Tower clock struck 11. Cleely remembered the hour, and the next day she found herself impelled to take her bucket shortly before 11 to go again to the Thames for water, though she would not acknowledge to herself that she did so in the hope of meeting the stranger. She did meet him, and this time he looked at her with his melancholy eyes and said:

"If you are going to the river for water, I would gladly carry your bucket."

"It is very light," said Cleely, blushing. "It will be heavier when it is full."

The stranger spoke with so soft a voice and so respectfully that Cleely consented, and he walked with her to the river. She purposely told him that her father was Cronin, the armor maker, where she lived and all about herself, hoping that this would cause him to be equally frank with her, but he said nothing of himself, and all Cleely could get from him was that he was employed at the Tower. Nevertheless Cleely went home with her heart in a flutter.

Then came the revolt against the legitimate sovereign, headed by the Duke of Northumberland and aided by his son, Lord Guilford Dudley, to place the latter's wife, Lady Jane Grey, on the throne. One day Cleely saw armed men hurrying past her house to the Tower, from which suddenly burst forth the smoke of cannon. The advancing host stormed the fortress, swam the moat and, placing ladders against the walls, attempted to scale them—all in vain. The assault was a failure. The men who advocated the pretensions of Lady Jane Grey to the throne were driven off, and her cause was lost.

Soon after Cleely was notified that an attendant was wanted for a distinguished prisoner at the Tower, a woman in distress, who needed some one to wait upon her and soothe her. She followed the messenger, who led her to a room where the prisoner was confined, the Lady Jane Grey.

She whose head had been risked to win a crown was soon to lose that head upon the block. It became the work of the tender hearted Cleely to comfort, so far as she could, the noble lady who, though scarcely out of her teens, was called upon to play so tragic a part. Cleely read to her, prayed with her, often could not help weeping with her—in short, proved the companion that was needed to keep the condemned lady from despair during the trying period. So occupied was the armor maker's daughter that she never once thought of John Gaunt, though there was something in the gloom hanging over her dear mistress and herself that was constantly bringing up the melancholy stranger she had met on Tower hill.

One day she was informed that John wished to see her, and when she went to him he offered to supply a saw with which she and her mistress might remove two of the bars at the window of the room they occupied, leaving sufficient space for Lady Jane Grey to pass through. John promised to be in the court at the appointed hour with man's attire, assist the noble lady from the window and after she had donned the clothes show her the way out of the Tower grounds.

Cleely hastened to propose the plan to the prisoner. The offer was refused. Lady Jane Grey relied upon such of her adherents as had not been arrested to do all they could for her and did not wish to embarrass them by an attempt which would likely be a failure. But the Duke of Northumberland was in prison, and there was no one else to aid the condemned. The day of execution came at last, and Cleely, with streaming eyes, dressed her mistress for the last time. The image of John Gaunt, who had proved so kind, so thoughtful, offering to risk his life to please her, came up at times before Cleely, alternating with that of her stranger lover, John Gaunt, typical of hope, the stranger typical of despair.

When all was ready, the mournful procession proceeded from the prison to Tower hill, where was gathered an immense throng. Cleely supported her mistress, aiding her to mount the steps of the scaffold. There stood a muffled figure, leaning on an ax. Cleely looked from her mistress to the sea of upturned faces, and there, among them, was the sympathetic face of John Gaunt. When her eyes were turned again to her mistress, she was kneeling before the block. The muffled figure threw off his cloak, and there stood the stranger of Tower hill!

Cleely fainted and was handed down into the arms of John Gaunt. When she came to herself, she threw her arms about his neck and wept.

ALICE HYDE BARBOUR.

THE BUTT OF THE COMPANY

[Original.]

There is nothing that will engender such contempt among men for a companion as effeminacy. And yet, while we all know what effeminacy is as distinguished from what is feminine, we cannot describe it. It is often a question whether we are right in attributing it in any given case.

In 1870 I was serving with the United States cavalry. One June day it was announced that a newly made second lieutenant from West Point had been assigned to our company and would soon report for duty with a squad of recruits. He came along in time, but instead of bringing recruits brought one gentle looking young fellow, who appeared to be far better fitted for a poet than a soldier. Meriwether was his name, and he hadn't been at the fort a day before the men began to call him Mary. Then followed a series of practical jokes of which he was the butt. In some unexplainable way he got salt in his coffee instead of sugar. Then there was cactus in his bunk. Coming off guard and turning in for a good snooze, he was sure to be awakened by mistake for the midnight relief. He was the most unsuspecting little chap I ever saw, and as the boys always expressed wonder how such mistakes could happen, besides great sympathy for him, it never entered his head that they were at the bottom of his discomforts. Indeed one day he came to me as first sergeant of the company and asked me if he couldn't take extra tours of guard duty for some of the ringleaders, they having expressed an extraordinary amount of sorrow that he had stumbled over a pile of condemned muskets on a dark night. Since they had purposely put them in his way this was a trifle too much for even my thick skin. I told him not to bother me with ridiculous questions and warned the ringleaders that I would see the first man punished who should again impose upon him. The first man was Tom Conover, who had been the instigator of the most contemptible pranks against the recruit, and he was given a walking tour with a billet of wood on his shoulder for a whole afternoon for his pains. This stopped the imposition, and Meriwether fell into the contempt of not being noticed. This lasted till we were fighting the Modocs in the lava beds in 1871.

Little Meriwether didn't like fighting at all, that was plain, for the color would rush from his cheeks whenever a bullet whistled too close to his delicate ear. But I noticed that he would grit his teeth and seemed to be resolutely fighting himself to keep his slender body up to its work. One afternoon we were having an especially hot fight, keeping up a steady fire on the Modocs and receiving as good as we sent from behind a natural breastwork of lava, when Meriwether came crawling toward me on all fours with an expression of hopeless despair in his face.

"What is it?" I asked anxiously, fearing something had gone wrong.

"Conover—he's hit."

"Well?" I could see nothing remarkable in Conover being hit when one-third the men were in the same fix.

"He wants water."

"Get him some from a canteen."

"There's not a drop to be found anywhere."

"Well, then, he must go dry, for the only water near is down there in that crevice, and no one can go there without getting shot."

"He's suffering dreadfully."

"Go back to your place, you little fool!" I said sharply, remembering what he had suffered at Conover's hands.

He crawled back, and I dismissed the matter from my mind.

Presently I saw a sight that filled me with astonishment. Meriwether was running, canteen in hand, for the crevice containing water. Bullets sang about him like buzzing flies. Whether or not he was hit, he kept on and in a few seconds sank out of sight in the crevice.

I had no right to do so, for there were two commissioned officers with the company; but, singing out to those beside me to follow, I jumped up and made a dash for a rise in the lava just beyond the crevice. It was no use. The fire was too hot, and the men would not leave their position. I was shot in the leg and sank into a hollow place, where I was comparatively safe. I was thinking of little Meriwether and wondering how he would get back with the water for the man who had injured him when I heard a shout and, looking toward our fellows, saw him plunge head foremost in among them.

Night was well on before I dared leave my position and go back to the command. The first thing I saw was Meriwether lying on his back, white as a sheet and motionless. One of his former tormentors was bending over him, and several others were leaning on the muzzles of their muskets, looking down on him anxiously. Meriwether turned his eyes to me, and I presumed he was about to ask me that dreaded question "Shall I live?" when he said:

"That was a very kind thing of you to come after me. How about Conover? Was there all the water he wanted? I couldn't get much, for there wasn't much to get."

I tried to say something gentle to him, but it wasn't in me.

"Oh, stop that," I said, turning away. "You owe Conover nothing."

Later, when the captain asked me for the names of those who were to be mentioned for conspicuous bravery, I told him there was but one and his name was Meriwether. But the poor fellow did not live to read the order.

PHILIP T. BAKER.

FOOD AND THE SEXES.

The Male Human Needs to Eat More Than the Female.

According to a writer in the Lancet, the male human needs more food than the female not only on account of his larger stature, but also because he is the more katabolic of the two. The man tends to expend energy and the woman to store it up in the form of fat; he burns the faster. This sexual difference shows itself in the very blood. The man has a larger percentage of chromocytes than the woman, showing that he needs a proportionately larger quantity of oxygen in order to maintain his more active combustion, a fact which one may associate with his comparative freedom from chlorosis. Moreover, weight for weight, his pulmonary capacity is greater than that of the woman, whose smaller respiratory need is further shown by the facility with which she can without discomfort diminish her breathing power by means of the corset.

"The great contrast between the metabolic activity of the two sexes," continues the writer, "was forcibly brought home to me by a military display given by a troop of dandy amazons, with whom were also a few male warriors. The women, in spite of their daily exertions, were all rounded and plump, some very much so, no single muscle showing through the skin, and it was noticed that their movements, though full of grace, lacked energy and 'go.' The men, on the other hand, were spare, their muscles standing out plainly under the shiny skin, and they, in further contrast with the women, displayed a truly amazing agility, bounding about and whirling round in a most astounding fashion. The women, in short, were essentially anabolic, and the men were katabolic. I may here draw attention to the fact that men are apt to be larger meat eaters than women, just as they are, possibly in consequence of this very fact, more prone to drink alcohol and to smoke tobacco."

SLEEPING HEROES.

Mighty Men of the Past That Are Expected to Return.

Is there any race that has not its sleeping hero? A correspondent recently pointed out that the time for the fulfillment of the prophecy that the tenth of Krishna will restore to India her independence is near at hand, and every nation has some savior to whom the people look. West country rustics still believe that Arthur did not die, but sleeps in Avalon, and that in the hour of Britain's need he will awake, deliver the land and restore the golden age. In Germany it is a popular belief that Charles V. will some day wake from his enchanted sleep to reign over Germany, Spain, Portugal, Denmark, Belgium and Holland. Thousands of French peasants hold that Napoleon is only sleeping and that at some future time he will reappear and rule. And Mr. Newbolt has enshrined the Devon legend that Drake is only listening for the drum.

The Irish peasantry steadfastly refuse to believe that Mr. Parnell is really dead. They assert that his death was a ruse, that he was an interested spectator of his own funeral and that when the time comes he will emerge from retirement to give Ireland her independence. Every true Moslem believes that when antichrist appears Mohammed Mahdi will awake and conquer him. A Moorish legend declares that Bobadil el Chico sleeps spellbound near the Alhambra and that one day he will awake to re-establish the Moors as rulers of Granada. The Servians look to King Lager, slain by the Turks in 1380, as their final hope, and should Switzerland be again threatened by tyrants Swiss folklore declares that the three members of the Tell family who are sleeping at Rutli, near the Vierwald-Staten-See, will rise from their enchanted slumber and maintain the freedom of the land.—London Chronicle.

Hopi Courtship.

When a Hopi maiden decides which of the eligible young men of the tribe she wishes to marry, she goes and sits in his house and grinds corn until he is sufficiently impressed by her industry to marry her.

After the ceremony, which is an elaborate one, the couple go to live in the wife's house. If she tires of her husband, she can obtain a divorce by merely throwing his saddle out of the house. After marriage the house, fields and all their property except the herds belong to the wife.

The Hopis are indulgent parents. The right of the children to do as they please is never questioned.

How a Woman Gets a Seat.

"I will tell you how to work it," said a woman, whose figure showed she would be tired by standing, to a companion in a Broadway car. "When there is no vacant seat, watch for two men who are in conversation and stand right in front of them."

"Each one will want his friend to think he is very polite, so both of them will jump right up and offer their seats. That's the way I do, and it never fails."—New York Herald.

An Effective Way.

"They say," said the young dramatist, "that I shall have to cut my play down, but I really don't know where to begin."

"Why not start at both ends," his candid friend asked, "and work toward the middle?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Opposite Meanings.

"Cleave" is the best instance of an English word with two opposite meanings. "Nervous," "let" and "propugn" are other instances.

Tender, aching feet

A teaspoonful of Sulpho-Naphthol in a foot tub of hot water will be found to be the most effective, soothing agent ever used for tired, swollen, aching or sore aching feet. It removes all inflammation and pain, and is a great blessing to those who are so afflicted.

Literary Notes

Barrie's delightful serial, full of humor and pathos, "The Little White Bird," dominates the interest in Scribners for October. Artistically this number is made notable by a cover in color from a design by Mills Thompson; a spirited drawing by Yohn used as a frontispiece and printed with a tint; and a series of four Western types by Frederic Remington in his most vigorous manner, depicting the Cow Boy, the Scout, the Cossack Post and the Half Breed. The original colors are beautifully reproduced. McCarter, James Preston and George Wright are other artists here represented.

Walter A. Wyckoff, the author of "The Workers," continues his observations of London Wage-earners. This paper is devoted principally to the remarkable success of the efforts in London, both by the Government and by private enterprise, for ameliorating the terrible evils of overcrowding in a great city. Henry van Dyke has never written a more subtle story than "Spy Rock." It is a study of egotism, and the setting of it is the pinnacle of a great hill, not far from West Point. There is another sea story by James B. Connolly. This one describes a great race in which a Gloucester skipper beat the Valkyrie. The dramatic story, "Vive l'Empereur," by Mrs. Andrews, concluded with a scene that would make the success of any play.

Frank Foxcroft opens the October Atlantic with "A Study of Local Option," a discussion of the management of liquor selling, which is based upon the results of the Massachusetts law but which appeals to a universal audience, especially since the recent Vermont election, which was fought on this issue, and the result of which has aroused the attention of the whole country. Other papers on political and social affairs are Hon. H. D. Pierce's instructive article on Russia; Edward Atkinson's thoughtful discussion of Commercialism; Miss Scudder's well considered and stimulating essay on Democracy and the Church; and H. J. Hendrick's analysis of "Limitations to the Production of Sky scrapers." Prof. Ira N. Hollis's "Intercollegiate Athletics" takes a place by itself, as the timely utterance (just as the University football season opens) of a universally accepted authority upon the most and much vexed question of intercollegiate athletic rules and differences.

Several happy literary paper, embellish the number. Henry D. Sedgwick, Jr., discusses the character and writings of Montaigne and his influence on subsequent ages; Harriet Waters Preston treats of George Meredith as a Knightly Pen; Edith B. Brown writes of the Moral Hesitations of the Novelist, and in addition the number contains Mr. Greenleaf's paper on Woodberry's Hawthorne and Mr. Boynton's reviews of Books New and Old.

Miss Emily V. Mason's Memories of a Hospital Matron, and the Baroness Von Hutten's brilliant serial are concluded. S. Carleton, author of "The Lane Priest," and Emerson G. Taylor furnish attractive short fiction. Adachi Kinousuke some charming Japanese sketches, and Frances Duncan a brilliant paper on Gardens and Garden Craft. Poems by M. Nicholson, J. Russell Taylor, E. A. Ireland, and H. Boynton, and an unusually attractive Contributors' Club complete a brilliant Autumn number.

The October Magazine Number of The Outlook in its hundred pages of reading matter contains in actual amount and in illustration as much as any of the regular monthly magazines; while it is to be remembered that The Outlook publishes under one subscription rate fifty-two numbers a year, twelve of which are illustrated magazine numbers.

The current issue contains a pleasant discursive talk about the coronation in England, by Augustine Birrell, who has no superior among living English essayists; a vivid account of the recent manoeuvres of our army and navy under the title "With the Attacking Fleet," by James Harnes, the author of "Yankee Ships and Yankee Sailors," "Midshipman Farquhar," etc.; several full page portraits of such men as Archbishop Farley and the late Professor Virchow; an illustrated article by Ray Stannard Baker called "Seen in Turkey," an entertaining and charmingly illustrated article called "Round About in Virginia," by H. H. Moore; a personal article on John Morley, by Justin McCarthy; another chapter in Edward Everett Hale's "Memories of a Hundred Years," a paper on Frank, by Daniel G. Mason, with a striking portrait—one of a series of articles on "American Musicians" which is attracting much attention; a very fully illustrated article entitled "America's Welcome to the Immigrant," by Ernest Hamilton Abbott; and several stories, sketches and poems, besides the usual full editorial narrative and interpretation of the events of the week, talks about recent books, etc., etc.

Miss Farmer's Own School.

With the opening of Miss Farmer's School of Cookery at 30 Huntington avenue, Boston, there will be established in this city one more institution bound to contribute in a thousand and one ways to the pleasure and healthfulness of living. There is no need to introduce Miss Farmer to the public, for if ever a woman was widely and favorably known through her words and her deeds, she is. For nine years she was principal of the Boston Cooking School during which time by her lectures and her exceedingly interesting demonstrations she reached and helped countless housekeepers in Boston and New England.

In this school of her very own Miss Farmer has secured first light, sunny and commodious rooms, and the fitting and furnishing of them to which she has given so much attention reveal such a blending of the ideal with the practical that they will make speaking object lessons in themselves for all who have eyes to see.

In arranging the class lessons in cookery, Miss Farmer has divided them into three courses of ten lessons each; the first lesson of the first course giving among other things a timely hint on using gas ranges, the last lesson of the third course dealing with such elaborate things as one would want for a dinner party, which shows how instruction is sensibly given on an ascending scale. Additional courses include one on chafing-dish cookery, which will undoubtedly be encircled, one in sick-room cookery that will help those who take it to do as much or more than a physician can do in building up invalids, and the one for waitresses which will not only be of service to maids but of much use to young housekeepers who need a bit of information on serving as well, since it is very inclusive.

Then there will be the demonstration lectures on Wednesday, one in the morning at ten o'clock and one at 7.45 in the evening. One of these lectures is to have for its subject "A Dinner for Six," and a table will be set to give it point; another will be on "A Luncheon for Six," illustrated by a set table. Other lectures will have just as interesting topics, and all that Miss Farmer undertakes in this attractive school of hers may well make home delightful and life worth living.

The Origin of Many Names.

The popular terminations of pet names in earlier times were in, on, et, kin, cock and others. Emma was shortened to Em, and for love's sake it became Emmott or Emmet. Matilda was first Till, then Tillot. Bartholomew was Bart, then Little Bart or Bartlett. The popularity of these pet names is seen in the great number of them which eventually became family names.

The Tillotsons, the Emmetts and the Bartletts are numerous in England and America, although few dream that their names were originally pet and not surnames. Before the use of family names it was often necessary to use diminutive forms from the fact that the same name was not infrequently given to two or three children of the same family. The original of the surname Robinson is the pet name of Robin or Little Robert.

As Germans of today add chen to children's names as a term of endearment, making Anna Anchen, Elizabeth Lischen, so our English ancestry used the equivalent kin. Watkin was Little Walter, Simkin Little Simeon, Perkin Little Peter. Terminations in kin and cock were in use among the lower orders—that is, among the Anglo-Saxons—while the diminutives in on and et were more aristocratic and used by families of Norman blood.

Ran Away From Doctor.

The family hope and pride, five years of age, was out of sorts. He didn't eat well, and he had a slight cold. Mamma thought the doctor should be sent for, and papa concurred. The doctor looked at the little chap's tongue, felt his pulse and left some little pills. The next day he came again. The boy's cold hung on, and so did the doctor. At the end of the sixth visit, however, the father thought the patient well enough, so he told the doctor off with the understanding that he need not come again. Nevertheless, the next day saw the doctor arrive, and the day following. Not wishing to offend him, the family thereupon banded up the boy and went away for a visit. The doctor could not charge for a visit to a locked up house, and that was an easy way to escape his attentions and his bill.—New York Press.

Hope Springs Eternal.

The patience of fishermen who really love the sport is the theme of many stories. One is told by a man who, traveling on foot through part of England, came upon a solitary fisherman who looked as if time and the world might pass away without disturbing his content.

"Have you fished long in this stream?" asked the traveler. "Eighteen year," was the calm response. "Get many bites?" was the next question. The fisherman scarcely turned his gaze from the rod in his hands. "Five year ago in this very spot I had a fine bite," he answered hopefully.

He Was Only the Master.

"George," exclaimed Mrs. Ferguson, with flashing eyes, "am I the mistress of this house or am I not?" "You certainly are," replied Mr. Ferguson, with alacrity. "What's the matter now?"

"I've discharged that impudent hired girl, and she refuses to leave. I want you to go to the kitchen and bundle her out, neck and crop!" "Settle it between yourselves, Laura," said Mr. Ferguson weakly. "I won't have anything to do with it. I'm only the master of the house."—Chicago Tribune.

An Apt Suggestion.

The Rev. Samuel Longfellow was a poet, as well as his more eminent brother. He was the compiler of a hymnbook for churches, in which work he was assisted by a fellow clergyman of the same Christian name. On applying to a third member of the profession to give the book a title the latter suggested that it be called the Sam book.

Symptoms Dangerous.

Mrs. Baldwin—"That husband of mine is a most careless man. I expect he'll lose his head one of these days. Mrs. Bun—I see he's lost the next thing to it—his hair.—Stray Stories.

It is a pity the baldheaded man can't transplant the unnecessary beard on his chin to the smooth spot on his pate.—St. Louis Star.

—Miss Florence W. Hills of Vernon street was maid of honor at the wedding of Miss Grace B. Harrington to Mr. Geo. Albert Moore in St. Mark's church, Brookline, Wednesday evening. Miss Hills wore a gown of white tulle with deep accordion plaited ruffles of white net, while an exquisite design of large roses was painted on the silk in delicate pastel shades. These covered the front of the skirt and a portion of the waist, and were the work of Mr. Winthrop H. Allen of Newton. A swath of white liberty silk decorated with the same design completed the gown. She carried a large bouquet of violets.

ENTHUSIASTIC

Reception and Dinner to Republican Candidates.

Eloquent Speeches by Bates, Guild and Powers.

Enthusiasm and eloquence were the key notes of the reception and dinner given at the Newton Club last evening to the republican candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and congressman.

The affair was planned as an offset to the dinner given to Col. Gaston the previous week, and to enable the Hon. John L. Bates and Gen'l Guild to come in contact with the working members of the party in Newton. In both these particulars the meeting was a great success.

Hon. Edward L. Pickard presided, and with Mayor Weeks assisted at the reception given to Mr. Bates and General Guild prior to the dinner. Messrs. E. O. Childs, F. L. Nagle, G. P. Bullard, Frederick Johnson, S. W. Jones, C. E. Kelsey and Alderman A. R. Weed were the ushers.

The dinner was served in the large banquet hall, and the tables were beautifully decorated with roses and ferns.

The arrival of Mr. Powers during the dinner gave the first chance for the crowd to show its enthusiasm and was a forerunner of what was to come later in the evening.

At the close of the dinner, Hon. E. L. Pickard made a brief speech and introduced Mayor Weeks to welcome the guests.

Captain Weeks paid a glowing tribute to the personnel and work of the so-called machine in Newton, and referred in facetious terms to the members of the Democratic party who were not present at the Gaston dinner of the previous week. Mayor Weeks emphasized the work of registering new voters and getting them out to vote, and also suggested that Republican newspapers should be placed as far as possible in the hands of those democrats who know but one side.

Mr. Bates was received with three cheers and a tiger and made an eloquent speech, saying in part:

"Political parties exist in a republic not to promote the candidacy of men but to promote measures and to maintain policies for the public good." He then reviewed the record of the republican party during the last 40 years in Massachusetts and claimed that that party, if responsible for the few evils should be credited with all of the good that had followed its legislation. He referred to the humanitarian work done by the state, to the Consumptives home in Rutland, to the lead of the state in education, to the fine record in labor legislation, to its splendid judiciary, to the efficiency of the militia, to its high financial credit, and to the great public improvements of parks, sewers and water. He stated interesting facts regarding the improvements of the Back Bay and South Boston Flats, and closed with a stirring appeal to continue in power the party, which had done such good work in the past.

General Guild, always a warm favorite in Newton, was given three cheers when he rose to speak, and in his opening remarks paid a fine tribute to President Roosevelt which was received with applause.

Mr. Guild said in part:

We are very fortunate this year in the gentlemen nominated by the Democratic Party. It is a healthy condition of society when the party of opposition, if it meet seek to overthrow respectively in State and Nation the policy of Winthrop Murray Crane and the policy of Theodore Roosevelt, at least does so with candidates so honored and honorable as Mr. Gaston and Mr. Joyner. We must regard them as antagonists; we certainly cannot regard them as enemies.

The personality of the candidates, however, should not blind us to the fact that those of us in the laborer's who desire the public policy of Governor Crane continued can only secure it by voting for a candidate for Governor who has pledged himself, with much modesty and rare judgment, to follow so good an example.

One by one we have wiped out the various stamp taxes and war taxes. There isn't a nation in the world where the operations of business are as free of taxation as they are in the United States today.

We have already also begun to abolish needless duties. The duty on tea was abolished last April. Tea becomes free on January 1, 1903. To our poorer citizen tea is a necessity of life. Yet if you elect Democrats and take, as they promise to take, the duty from wines because wines are made by the California wine growers "trust," and from wool cloth because that is a product of the woolen "trust," and cotton yarns because they are produced by the cotton yarn "trust," and from foreign delicacies because they are produced by the meat "trust," and from cigars and tobacco because they are produced by the tobacco "trust," and from whiskey because it is produced by the whiskey "trust," that tax on tea must be put back and every poor woman taxed ten cents every time she buys a pound.

For mind you, the Democratic platform does not say that they propose to remove certain duties on certain products of certain "trusts," but all

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Mayor Weeks Buys Coal for the City and Suggests Reorganizing the Assessing Dept.

Small Pox Ward to be Removed—Additional Land for the Library
Edward B. Bowen Elected Alderman.

President Weed was in the chair at the regular meeting of the board of aldermen last Monday evening, and Aldermen Baker, Brown, Barber, Chesley, Day, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Lothrop, Mellen, Norris, Pond, Saltontall, Trowbridge and Webster were also present.

Alderman Trowbridge stated that a hearing had been ordered for this evening upon the petition of the Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway Co. for track connections at Lake street with the Boston Elevated Railway, but as the legal advertisement of 14 days notice had not been given, he moved that the hearing be assigned for Oct. 20, at 7.45 p. m. as the City Clerk had made arrangements with the Newton Circuit to get out a special edition for the advertisement. The motion was adopted.

Theodore M. Clark and Oscar W. Walker were drawn as Jurors for the Supreme court by Alderman Pond who was designated for that purpose by the President.

The following communication was read from the Mayor, and referred to the committee on Finance after the President had called attention to the clause relative to publicity.

To the Board of Aldermen:

Gentlemen:—To enable the City to pay for the cost of about 1600 tons of bituminous and buckwheat coal, which has been contracted for and which is to be delivered the coming week, I recommend that the following transfers be made:

From Miscellaneous Expenses
to Fuel for Schools,	$1500
From Street Watering to Fuel for Schools,	1000
From Cheese Cake Brook to Fuel for Schools,	800
From Curbing to Fuel for Schools,	500
From Boulevard Construction to Fuel for Schools,	700

This coal is to be apportioned to all the City Departments in proportion to their necessities, but there is sufficient appropriation in all except that for schools to pay for the fuel required for the balance of this calendar year.

In addition to the above purchase which will be sufficient to supply all departments until the middle of December, I have purchased 1500 tons of bituminous coal to be delivered at the option of the Mayor at any freight yard in Newton, at $5.50 per ton, the delivery to commence as soon as possible and to continue at the rate of at least 100 tons per day until it is all delivered.

This additional purchase will provide for all the wants of the City until the later part of February. To pay for this later purchase it will be necessary to make an additional appropriation of $9000. This amount will pay for the coal and an estimated cost of 50 cents per ton for handling. I recommend that this appropriation be authorized and charged to the appropriation for supply of coal for the school department for the year 1903. An order for this purpose is submitted herewith.

In addition to the above provisions I have obtained an option from the Chilton Coal Company of Westport, Penn., of which company the last mentioned purchase was made, to deliver within the next six months 8,500 tons of bituminous coal at $5.50 per ton delivered in Newton. I did not anticipate that the City would require any considerable amount of this coal, in fact it will not require any of it, if the coal strike is settled within a reasonable time, and anthracite coal can be obtained and is used in places where it is most desirable, but the emergency is of such a character that I believe the City should put itself in position to provide for the wants of those citizens who have been or may be unable to obtain supplies elsewhere.

I regret to find that our state courts have decided that a city or town cannot legally appropriate money for fuel to be resold. In this emergency, private individuals have volunteered to assume the option which has been obtained, and if it becomes necessary to exercise it, to provide money to pay for the coal, with the understanding that it shall be sold to those citizens who will be particularly embarrassed by the unusual cost of coal, or to those who have been unable to obtain necessary immediate supplies, at a price sufficient and only sufficient to reimburse them for the cost of the coal plus the cost of handling it.

8500 tons will be sufficient to supply the wants of from 1000 to 1500 families during the winter and by using care in distributing it I feel sure that it will enable us to relieve any possible distress.

While this latter transaction in its present form has nothing whatever to do with the city, it seemed to me best to state to the board and have the public understand that steps were being taken not only to provide for the needs of the city, but to as far as possible prevent the present condition of the coal trade bringing distress upon our people.

These transactions are of such vital importance that I trust the Board will see fit to act on them at its meeting Oct. 6th.

Respectfully submitted,

John W. Weeks, Mayor.

The following communication was referred to the committee on Rules, etc., after Alderman Mellen had suggested that the Mayor, assessors and the public be invited to attend the meeting of the committee:

To the Board of Aldermen:

Gentlemen:—Having accepted Chap. 376 of the Acts of 1902, it becomes the duty of the Board to perfect by ordinance, an organization which will properly perform the duties pertaining to the Assessors Department of the City. In this connection I beg to suggest the following for consideration:

1st. That it is desirable to have a Chairman of the Board who shall devote his whole time to his duties and who will be the executive officer of the Board, conduct the affairs of the office, look up corporation taxes, provide lists of stockholders of foreign corporations, and in general terms have charge of the work of the office and assist the other assessors and assistant assessors in their work.

2nd. That there should be three additional principal assessors whose duty it shall be to assess the values of real estate in all parts of the City, and to do this work as a body rather than as individuals. In this way, and only in this way can there be obtained uniformity in the assessment of taxes of real estate, which I consider of vital importance.

3rd. That there shall be seven assistant assessors, one from each ward, whose duties shall be similar to the duties performed by the assistant assessors as the Board is now organized.

4th. That the chairman, the three additional principal assessors and the seven assistant assessors shall sit as a dooming board to consider personal taxation.

5th. That the pay of the members of the Board shall be as follows: Chairman, $2400 per year, assessors each $1200 per year, assistant assessors each $500 per year.

I beg to submit herewith a communication signed by all the members of the present board with the exception of Mr. Parks and Mr. Ryder. Mr. Parks was absent at the time the communication was submitted, but would have signed if he had been present.

While the views expressed in this communication are entirely at variance with what is in my judgment best, I trust that they will be given the consideration which should be given to the views of these signers who have performed long and faithful service in the assessors' department of the city.

Respectfully submitted,
John W. Weeks, Mayor.

Hon. John W. Weeks, Mayor:

Dear Sir:—

The provisions of Chap. 376, Acts of 1902 having been formally accepted by the Board of Aldermen, Pending further action thereon, we the undersigned Assessors and Assistant Assessors, beg leave to respectfully submit for your consideration the following as the basis of a plan for the reorganization of the Assessing Department.

We would suggest a Board of nine Assessors, one appointed from each ward and two from the city at large, one of the latter to be Chairman of the Board as constituted, and to be on duty at the office each business day.

Also that the Board hold meetings at stated intervals, at which a regular order of business be instituted, with a full record of the same.

These suggestions are based on years of experience in the work of this important department and are the result of much thought and careful study of existing conditions, as well as the future needs and possibilities accruing in the growth of our city.

Signed by Samuel M. Jackson, Chas. F. Rogers, Assessors, Joseph Byers, Wm. H. Rand, Bernard Early, George May, Albert H. Roffe and Edward W. Cobb, Asst. Assessors.

ELECTION.

For ward alderman from Ward 6 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John M. Kimball, Alderman Norris nominated Mr. Edward B. Bowen, and presented petitions signed by some 300 citizens in his favor. Alderman Saltontall seconded the nomination in a brief speech and Mr. Bowen was unanimously elected, 15 ballots being cast.

A communication from Commissioner Elder submitting figures in the matter of removal and repairs of the small pox ward at the Newton hospital was referred to the Committee on Finance. Similar action was taken on the application of Hugh Hammill for Soldiers' Relief.

Claims of James Simpson for land damages on Walnut street, and of Miss N. G. Stowe on account of injuries received on Summer street were referred to the Committee on Claims.

Petition of John Ward et al for a school house at Chestnut Hill was referred to the Committee on Public Works.

Petitions of T. W. Kenny for a Common Victualers' license at Upper Falls and of R. J. Morrissey and Reuben Forknall for Auctioneers' licenses were granted without reference.

Petitions of E. L. Gulliver for a pool table at Upper Falls, of Karl Shug for a street musician license, of A. V. Carlson for a bowling alley license at West Newton and of the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. for attachments on Mt. Vernon and Walnut streets were referred to the committee on Public Franchises, hearings being ordered on the latter for Oct. 15 at 8 p. m.

Communications from the Middlesex County Commissioners relative to foot bridge at Chestnut Hill, and from the Secretary of the Commonwealth relative to the incorporation of F. H. Hovey et al at the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club were filed.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES.—Favorable to granting the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. pole locations on Willard street, Commonwealth avenue, Summer street, Central street, attachments on Hancock avenue, Grove Hill avenue and North street; favorable to granting N. & W. Gas Light Co. a pole location on Crescent street, were received, and reports recommending no action necessary on petitions of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Montclair and Moffatt roads, recommending leave to withdraw on petition of Gas Co. for pole locations on Prince street; recommending granting an intelligence office license to Mrs. James Chandler and recommending leave to withdraw on petitions of W. P. Sweeney and Geo. E. Lovell for Common Victualers' licenses and of John Kenny for a wagon license, were accepted.

PUBLIC WORKS.—Favorable to water mains in California street and Murray road, recommending $2500 for additional land at Newton Library, recommending sewer construction in Washington street and Park avenue, recommending taking land in Chilton place for sewer, and relative to temporary drainage of Beacon street were received and reports recommending leave to withdraw on matter of sewer in Edinboro terrace, on petitions for laying out of Wachusett, Monadnock and Barnes roads were accepted.

The report of the Committee on Public Franchises recommending leave to withdraw on petition of Esther Brickett for a Common Victualers' license was then taken up. Alderman Webster said that the special committee on the matter of a waiting room in Nonantum square had learned that arrangements were now being made by the railway companies for a waiting room with complete toilet facilities. He saw no reason why the report on the Brickett petition should not be accepted. Alderman Hubbard said the new quarters which were being held up temporarily by a misunderstanding between landlord and tenant, were now the people desired. The report was then accepted.

Alderman Mellen saw no reason for taking up the matter of street railways at Oak Hill at that time as the aldermen from Ward 5 had not been able as yet to fully investigate the situation.

Orders for the state election on Nov. 4, granting the Telephone company pole locations on Willard street, Commonwealth avenue, Summer street, Central street, attachments on Hancock avenue, Grove Hill avenue and North street; granting the Gas Co. pole location on Crescent street; authorizing Mayor to execute agreements for temporary drain on Beacon street, and assigning Oct. 20 for hearing on taking land for sewer in Chilton place were adopted.

An order laying out a footway over the railroad at Chestnut Hill was adopted, and a resolve approving the incorporation of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club received similar action. Other orders were referred to the Committee on Finance and a recess taken to allow that committee to meet.

Upon reassembling, a favorable report was received from that committee as to sewer construction in Washington street; sewer in Park avenue, water mains in California street and Murray road; appropriating $2500 for additional land for the Free Library; appropriating $480.48 as sewer damages for H. H. Hunt, transferring certain balances of $4500 to "Fuel account for Schools"; appropriating $9000 for coal supply 1903; appropriating $3435 for removal and repairs small pox ward, Newton hospital; crediting Newton hospital contagious disease account with $1018.46 receipts and granting $700 therefrom, granting $300 for water maintenance, crediting sewer house connection account with assessments received, and authorizing Treasurer to apportion sewer assessments between the sinking fund and construction accounts. And orders as above were severally adopted.

Alderman Day then said that there was a very general feeling that the board should show its commendation of the wise action of the Mayor in the present coal situation and the following resolutions offered by him were adopted.

RESOLVED. That this Board expresses its appreciation of the wise and far sighted action of His Honor the Mayor in taking prompt measures to meet the demands of the Municipal departments for fuel, and especially in behalf of the city to record its gratitude to him and others privately associated with him, in their generous offer to exercise the option mentioned by the Mayor in his communication of even date, and thereby prevent possible distress during the coming winter.

President Weed announced the appointment of Alderman Bowen as a member of the committee on Public Franchises and Licenses and at 10.05 p. m. the board adjourned.

A New Hospital for Animals.

Dr. Charles P. Lyman is the former Dean of the late Veterinary School of Harvard University, with which he was identified for nineteen years.

The hospital building, a new one, is in the best possible location, at 332 Newbury street, Boston. The fittings are entirely new and up to the modern standard. The arrangement and drainage of the horse stalls is of the best. Each dog and each cat will have a separate apartment, so arranged that it can be thoroughly cleaned every day, absolutely disinfected before any new occupant is put into it, and will harbor or spread no vermin.

Messrs. Lyman & Lyman also beg to announce that they are fully equipped to attend all calls for "out practice." Richard P. Lyman has been in active practice for eight years, having received the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from Harvard University in 1894.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested in animals to call and inspect the new hospital. Telephones, 2200 and 2201 Back Bay.

NEWTON HOSPITAL.

The quarterly meeting of the Trustees of the Newton Hospital was held at the usual time and place on Tuesday, Sept. 30, 1902, President J. R. Leeson presiding. There were present Messdames Cobb, Gould, Haskell, Morse, Paine; Doctors Hunt, May, Porter; Messrs. Leeson, Bray, Day, Haskell, Shinn, Travell, Tyler, Bullens, Hardy. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The Treasurer's report showed receipts from care and treatment of patients for 3 months, $6,633.19. Income from endowment funds and free beds, 1,396.63. Expenses for same time Current, $10,200.00. Repairs and furnishings, 378.47.

Executive committee reported, increased telephone service in the Hospital, the possible use of oil for fuel investigated, the installing of electric fans in various departments for the additional comfort of the patients, the cost of same donated by one of the Trustees.

Dr. Frederick S. Kiehl of Newton Highlands was unanimously elected a member of the Board of Trustees and also a member of the Executive Committee, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Scates. The following memorial was also passed by a rising vote as an expression of our appreciation of the valued services rendered by Dr. Scates and the delightful companionship enjoyed by the who have been associated with him in the work of the Hospital.

On the fourteenth day of August, 1902, Dr. Edward P. Scates was called from the scene of his earthly activities to the rest prepared for those who have been found faithful here. Others have spoken of his merits as a wise and benevolent physician, a Christian gentleman, a patriotic citizen, a loving husband and father. It remains for us to record what he has been to this institution, and to his associates in this work.

Dr. Scates was among the earliest to take an interest in the founding of the Newton Hospital, and to it he brought an unflinching enthusiasm and a faith which never faltered. As a member of the Hospital Staff, of the Board of Trustees, and one of the Medical Directors, his best efforts were given constantly to the work. For several years he performed, most cheerfully and efficiently, the exacting labors of Secretary of the Executive Committee. Those who knew him best were impressed with his skill as a physician, and the unselfish spirit in which he accepted every opportunity for service. Always prompt in forming his opinions, and fearless in expressing them, he yet gave a courteous consideration to the wishes of others. Advancing years had not dimmed the brightness of a keen intelligence, nor narrowed the range of his sympathies; and he was still swift to respond to every call of duty, when he was suddenly translated to a higher sphere. We reverently add his name to the lengthening roll of those no longer with us, whose lives and characters have been built into the structure of this institution.

Y. M. C. A.

At the last meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. the following were elected to membership in the Association: Boys' department, James W. Brownville, Walter M. Adams, Oliver Barron, Frank L. Lewis, Edward D. Tuttle, George Hitchcock, Wm. P. Leavitt, Senior department, Winthrop Hawley, W. E. Travis, Dr. W. A. Lord, Robert K. Nonantum Fourth

The firemen's muster was the feature of the Brockton fair last Friday. Thousands gathered on the grounds surrounding the platform and paper. Nonantum won fourth prize of $100, but burst its air chamber when it reached 221 feet 6 1/2 inches, and this probably cost it a better place.

There was $1000 in prizes, divided among the first six tubs. A parade preceded the muster in which every tub and over 1100 men participated.

Letter to Hon S L Powers

Newton, Mass.
Dear Sir: Congressman Belden, of Syracuse, painted his Thousand Islands cottage in '92 with Devco; and painted it again in '99 with the same, of course. Takes 80 gallons.

"What! does it last only seven years?"

Depends on what you paint for. No one can tell how long a job of paint is going to last in any particular case. The paint may last ten years and the color live.

A summer cottage is painted for color, of course; it is also painted to keep out water, to keep it from rotting.

Seven years is a good long time for paint to look fresh—depends on the color though; some colors last longer than others. Three is too long for some of the prettiest colors. Nothing pays better in building a house, than a good job of paint; and nothing pays better, in keeping it up, than repainting as soon as the paint shows signs of impairment. But this is to keep it sound. For the looks, you may paint it whenever the freshness is off. It's a matter of color; not of paint.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

PARK THEATRE, Oct. 13—"Peaceful Valley."

MUSIC HALL, Oct. 13—"Only a Shop Girl."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, Oct. 13—"The King of Detectives."

TREMONT THEATRE, Oct. 13—Grand Opera.

Park Theatre—The coming week at the Park Theatre, beginning Monday, October 13, will be devoted to a revival of "Peaceful Valley." This is the play, it will be remembered, in which Sol Smith Russell made so great a success several seasons ago. The part of Hosea Howe, a simple minded but Shrewd country lad, will be played by Mr. Payton, and his admirers can easily anticipate an impersonation which will be full of humor, comicality and ingenuity. The other characters will be in the capable hands of Mr. Payton's excellent supporting company, and the scenery and costumes will be of the best. It should be remembered that afternoon performances are given every day at the Park Theatre, and that the prices for seats range only from ten to thirty cents in the afternoon, and from ten to fifty cents in the evening. Week after next Hoyt's popular, "My Kentucky Home," will be revived at the Park Theatre.

Grand Opera House—The story of James Pearce, detective, and Mildred Woodruff, a beautiful young heiress, which forms the background of the big melodrama, "The King of Detectives," coming to the Boston Grand Opera House next week, is said to be one of the most thrilling ever presented on the stage. The production which Messrs. Sullivan, Harris and Woods have given their exceedingly interesting melodrama, is lavish in the extreme, and without doubt is the most costly ever made for popular price theatres. There will be matinees as usual, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Stone-Bowditch.

Miss Selma Bowditch, daughter of Prof. Henry P. Bowditch of Harvard University and Dr. J. S. Stone of Marlboro street, Boston, were married Saturday afternoon at the Bowditch residence on Pond street, Jamaica Plain, at 3.30. It was a quiet affair, only the immediate relatives being present. Rev. Charles F. Dole, pastor of the First Congregational (Unitarian) church of Jamaica Plain, performed the ceremony.

Newton Domestic Burned.

Newton police had their attention called Friday to a severe burning accident which occurred Thursday evening in the house of Mrs. Ellen C. Wilson, 19 Chestnut terrace, Newton Centre. The victim is Gertrude Gallagher a domestic, sixty years old. Mrs. Wilson was absent Thursday night, and the accident is believed to have occurred that evening. The Gallagher woman was found on the floor in an unconscious condition. Close beside her was an overturned kerosene lamp. The woman was taken to the Newton hospital. To the hospital authorities she said that she was engaged in filling a lighted lamp on the kitchen table when it exploded. The burning oil spread over her clothing, and she was unable to extinguish the flames before she lost consciousness.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mr. William L. Lowell, who died of apoplexy at his residence, 234 Park St., Newton, Mass., on the morning of August 29, 1902, was born in Wiscasset, Maine, December 4, 1833. His parents were Joseph and Sybil (Houdlette) Lowell. He first attended the public school of his native place and afterwards studied at the academy in Calais, Maine. Early in life he devoted himself to commercial pursuits and became an expert accountant. Mr. Lowell began his business career with his uncle, to whom he was very much attached and whom he always remembered with gratitude. In 1859 he came to Halifax and became a member of the banking firm of Huse & Lowell, and later, head of the firm of W. L. Lowell & Co. For a quarter of a century his was a well known and honored name in this city.

Faithful and painstaking as he was in business, Mr. Lowell also identified himself with all civic and social interests. Here he formed the most intimate and precious friendships of his life, but he sacrificed all these associates and all his hopes of greater influence for the well being of his wife and child, to whom the climate was a cause of continual ill health. In 1884 he went to Newton, Mass., which became his home. There he was not so actively engaged in business as he had been in Halifax, and perhaps for that reason he was more a part of the social life of the place than otherwise he could have been.

Mr. Lowell was a man who had the respect and love of all who knew him. He was kindly in his conversation, and never obtruded his opinions upon others. He always said the gracious word and did the gracious deed. He was appreciative of all that was true and beautiful. In all the relations of life Mr. Lowell was true. As a man of business he was faithful and honorable. Towards those about him he was courteous, gracious and kindly. He was helpful to his friends, a devoted husband and a loving father. His home and the dear ones in it were never out of his mind. Of him can be said, "And this he bore without abuse."

The grand old name of gentleman, as he leaves to deplore his loss and to cherish his memory, his wife, Mrs. Fannie A. (Holbrook) Lowell, to whom he was married on the 18th of September, 1872, and two sons, Dr. Holbrook Lowell, who is connected with the Eye and Ear Infirmary of Boston and Mr. Louis Appleton Lowell, who owing to overstudy in preparation for college, has for several years been an invalid.—Halifax N. S. Chronicle.

Boston Music Hall—Reilly and Woods and their big company of farce comedy comedians and vaudeville artists close their engagement at the Boston Music Hall on Saturday evening of this week. The attraction announced for presentation next week is the sensational comedy drama of Metropolitan life, entitled "Only a Shop Girl." The story is an interesting one and woven around the life of a waif in New York and the many moments of happiness which she brings into the lives of others through her sunny disposition and generous nature. The action moves quickly and there is hardly a minute in the story's telling where the interest lags. In Josie, the waif, Lottie Williams, the star of the piece, has a part peculiarly suited to her abilities and she plays with spirit and spontaneity. Miss Williams is ably supported by a strong company of artists and the scenic equipment is one of the most pretentious ever attempted.

R. R. Accident.

H. L. Griswold of Waltham, aged 45, a painter employed by John R. Robertson at the Riverside bathhouse in this city, was struck and instantly killed by an outward bound express train on the Boston and Albany tracks shortly after 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The accident happened near the Woodland road bridge between Auburndale and Riverside. Griswold had received his pay from Robertson a few moments before he was killed, and had started to walk down the railroad track to Auburndale, where he was in the habit of taking the electric for his home in Waltham.

It is thought that he became confused at the approach of two outward bound trains and stepped from one track directly in front of the express. The remains were picked up by the train crew and taken to the Riverside station, where they were identified by Robertson.

The Ladies Charity Club

of Newton will give a "Harvest Party" with a New England supper, in Dennison hall, Newtonville, next Friday evening, Oct. 17th. A real New England supper will be served by the young ladies during the evening and there will be dancing from nine till twelve. The object of the party is to raise money for the Consumptives' Home in Boston, which has now several inmates from Newton, and for the sick poor of Newton, and the club members hope for many patrons.

Post Office Notes

Postmaster Morgan has received assurances from the post office department that the Newton Lower Falls and Waban will be connected with Newton Centre within two months and that free delivery will be established. The present postmasters will be clerks in charge.

The mid-night collection service from street letter boxes began October 1st and letters will be dispatched on the 6.12 a. m. train in time for the early Boston delivery. The business letter boxes in Newtonville, on Washington street and in Newton will be collected at night in time for the 8 p. m. mail.

Soule-Train.

Miss Adeline Train, sister of Graham Train of Duxbury, and Horace Homer Soule, Jr., of Brookline, formerly of Newton, were married Wednesday afternoon at St. John's P. E. church, Duxbury, by the Rev. Thatcher R. Kimball of Boston, a former rector in Duxbury. The bride was attired in crepe de chine. The flower maids were the Misses Elizabeth Train and Margaret Winslow, her nieces. The wedding march was played by the church organist, Harry Ingalls, and was from Lohengrin.

The best man was Mr. Charles A. Stone of Newton, and Master Graham Train, a nephew of the bride, was the page of honor. The ushers were Messrs. Winthrop C. Winslow of Boston, Marcus Morton and Louis H. Bailey of Newton, Seth Sprague of New York and Arthur R. Train and Franklin M. Train, brothers of the bride.

From 3.30 to 5 there was a reception at the Train home on Washington street Mrs. C. G. Weld, Mrs. W. C. Winslow and Miss Elizabeth Train, sisters of the bride, assisting in receiving. Mr. and Mrs. Soule will reside in Brookline.

Burns-Kerrivan.

Miss Catherine Alice Kerrivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Kerrivan, was united in marriage to Mr. James T. Burns, a popular Newton letter carrier at St. Mary's church, Upper Falls, on Wednesday morning. The ceremony took place at 9 o'clock in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the couple. Nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Thomas J. Danahy, by whom the ceremony was performed, and there was singing by St. Mary's choir, the soloists being Miss Lena Lahey, Miss Alice Sullivan and Messrs. John Lahey and M. V. Daley. The best man was Mr. Wm. H. Thomas of Newton.

The bride was gown in white laced with lace ornaments and carried by her sister, Miss Mary Kerrivan, who wore green laced with velvet. The ushers were Messrs. Lawrence Aiken of Newton and W. H. Kerrivan of Newton Upper Falls.

A wedding reception was held in the evening from 8 until 11 at the home of the bride's parents on Boylston street. Mr. and Mrs. Burns will be at home after Nov. 1 at their home street, Newton.

Police Paragraphs.

Horace Mitchell, a carpenter, fell from the staging of a new house on Prince street, Wednesday evening and received severe injuries to the head and shoulders. He was removed to the Newton hospital.

Mrs. E. F. Barnes of Bellevue street, Newton, while driving on River street, West Newton, last Tuesday was run into by a team of the Swift Beef Co. and driven by Joseph Hoard of Waltham. The carriage was badly demolished but no one injured.

Guidau Serbino of Cook street, Nonantum, attempted suicide, last Sunday, by drinking carbolic acid. He was attended by Dr. McCoy.

On Monday evening, Henry Berry of Columbus avenue, Boston, was taken ill with heart trouble on an electric car. He was taken to Sears' drug store at the Lower Falls, and later removed to the Newton hospital.

Clubs and Lodges.

I Advise Suffering Women Strongly, to Take Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This advice comes from a woman who had suffered all the miseries women can suffer from disease, and had been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This great medicine for women establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Read Mrs. Kempton's letter and, if you are sick, follow her advice.

"Although it has been quite a time since I wrote you," says Mrs. Fred Kempton, of Cambridge, Hillsdale Co., Mich., "Box 57," "still your name is a blessing in our house, and I think it my duty to let you know that I am still enjoying good health, thanks to you and your Favorite Prescription." When I think how I was five years ago, and then see how I am now, I say, God bless Dr. Pierce's works, and may he live long to help poor suffering women. I have never had any return of my weakness and am well and hearty. Can do all my own work without any pain. You saved me from the grave when all others failed. I advise suffering women strongly, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as I know it will cure in all cases, if indeed there is a cure."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an excellent laxative, suited to the use of delicate women.

Free Trip to New York.

All the great fortunes of America have been founded upon Real Estate Investments. A Borough Park lot at from $400 to $1250 (last year's prices $150 to $300) will be worth double and treble what it is now within a few years.

Borough Park is twenty-six minutes from the business centre of New York city by elevated railroad. New York city is growing at the rate of 400,000 per annum. Brooklyn Borough, in which Borough Park lies, is growing at the rate of 130,000 per annum, and is the only section in which New York can now grow.

Terms, $10.00 per lot down, and $6.00 and $8.00 monthly.

IMPORTANT MATTERS.

In many respects the meeting of the board of aldermen last Monday evening, was one of the most important sessions held by that august body.In the variety and scope of the action taken or outlined for future action, its work vitally affected the interests of the city.In the public eye, the interest centered in the communication of the Mayor relative to the coal situation, and Newton is indeed fortunate that in a crisis like the present, it has an executive who looks out for the interests of the individual citizen as well as for needs of the municipality. The resolutions adopted by the board expressing its appreciation of the Mayor's action will be echoed by all.
The appropriation of $3435 for the removal of the small box ward to a more suitable location and for placing it in suitable condition to serve the needs of the victims of this dread disease, solves a vexatious problem in a most satisfactory manner, and at a relatively small expense.The appropriation of $2500 for purchasing additional land at the Newton Library will cause some criticism. While it undoubtedly provides for the ultimate enlargement of the building, that contingency is so remote and the value of this lot is so small for any other purpose, it would seem as if the purchase could have been delayed for some years and the interest on the money as well as the income from taxation saved to the city. What the library needs far more than land is a modern compact system of steel or iron book cases which will not only protect their contents from fire, but will provide more shelving in the same amount of floor space.The meeting was also remarkable for the election of an alderman to fill a vacancy caused by death.In the choice of Mr. Bowen, the board honors one of the young men of Newton, and one whom we believe will in turn bring honor to the city.Two propositions as to the reorganization of the assessing department were received. The Mayor taking his former stand in favor of a small board and the assessors themselves, repeating their well known views as to a large number. We thoroughly believe that the one thing greatly needed in this city, is uniformity in the assessment of real estate and that result can best be brought about by a small board of principal assessors. While the matter of personal assessments is of vital importance to the city, the same ground can be as well covered by an assistant assessor as by a principal and it is a serious and unjust reflection on the work of the assistant assessors to say that they will not work as heartily in one position as in the other.We regret that the Mayor does not recommend higher salaries for the principal assessors as we believe that the positions are the most important in the service of the city and that the principal assessors should devote all their time to their duties.
We recommend that the Mayor's messages printed in another column be given careful consideration by all our readers and especially by every tax payer.The political race is now in full view and the candidates for the various election offices have all been named.The republicans as usual have the advantage, and will win practically everything at a canter.The utmost interest is being taken in the vote for Bates in this city, as it has a distinct bearing on the senatorial nomination of next year, when a Newton man is expected to be named.The number of delegates to the various republican conventions are determined by the vote for governor at the preceding election, and a large vote for Gaston and a light vote for Bates will so reduce the number of delegates from Newton in 1903 as to lose the control of the senatorial convention now held by the combined votes of Newton and Watertown.The senatorship is really a matter of more vital interest to Newton than the governorship, as the favorable vote of a senator on matters adverse to Newton's interest may add large sums to the already heavy burden of state tax which we are obliged to pay.This situation occurred in 1901 when a senator, who antagonized us on many matters was refused a re-nomination through a combination of Newton and Watertown. The other end of the district has not forgotten that political coup, and with the loss of control of the senatorial convention, will be sure to retaliate in 1903.The utmost importance attaches therefore to the polling of every republican vote for governor at the coming election.The offer of the Boston Elevated Railway to furnish 10,000 tons of coal to the relief committee of Boston at cost price, and to its announced determination to care for the fuel supply of its employees, are instances that prove that all corporations are not soulless.Let us hope that the good example of the Elevated Company will not be lost.It is good news indeed that Nonantum square is to have a first class street railway waiting room. It will be better news when the matter is an accomplished fact and best of all when the Newton companies and the Boston Elevated join tracks and inaugurate through car service to Boston.Newton republicans are laughing at the report that Mr. W. J. Follett is forming a republican Gaston Club in this city. Mr. Follett's politics are not republican as a rule.Mrs. Brackett is again refused a license as a Common Victualer. She can bear true testimony to the insincerity of aldermanic promises.

At the Churches.

Rally Sunday was observed at the Central church, Newtonville, last Sunday.The annual meeting of the Newton Ministers Union was held Tuesday afternoon in the parish house of Grace Church, Newton. Rev. George W. Shinn was unanimously elected president. The other officers chosen were Rev. George R. Grose of Newton, Sec. Treas.; Rev. Henry E. Onard,
Rev. F. B. Matthews, Rev. C. G.
Twombly, Rev. A. L. Hudson and Rev. E. M. Noyes Executive Committee. Dr. Shinn delivered the annual address on "Some of the Undercurrents of Influence Toward Christian Unity." Rev. A. D. Twombly read a memorial paper on the late Rev. G. R. W. Scott and Mr. D. C. Heath spoke on "The Sunday School as It is and as it Shall Be."The fifty-eighth Semi-Annual Meeting of the Suffolk West Conference was held Wednesday at Eliot Church.
At the afternoon session the devotional service was conducted by Rev.
Frank P. Estabrook the general theme being "The Church at Work." Addresses were given by Rev. Joshua Coit on "Home Missions," Mrs. C.
M. Lamson and Mrs. E. M. Overhauled on "Woman's Work." Mr. John S. Kilbon on "The Denver Convention and the Sunday School Curriculum" and Rev. J. D. Nutting of Salt Lake on the "Mormon Movement," and Rev. E. M. Noyes on "The Teaching Function of the Ministry." At the evening session Rev. William Knight on "New Testament Ideas of the Church at Work."At the Central Cong. Church, Newtonville next Sunday evening the Vesper services will be resumed. The program will be Organ prelude, Marche Funere and

At the Newton Methodist church
the pastor, Rev. George R. Grose, will preach in the morning and evening, next Sunday.

Among Women.

A subject of great interest to the club women of Newton is the coming meeting of the State Federation which will be held in the Newtonville Congregational church on Walnut street on Friday, October the thirty-first, at 10.30. The subject of the day is "Women and Children in the Industries." Mr. Horace G. Wadlin, chief of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics of Labor will speak in the morning session and Miss Sadie American of New York in the afternoon. Mrs. Dennison, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Lydia P. Williams, ex President of the Minnesota Federation will be present and speak. The Massachusetts Federation will be entertained by the Newton City Federation. Club members are reminded to get Federation tickets of their secretaries. Luncheon tickets at fifty cents each and a stamp for return postage can be obtained of Mrs. William Hollings, Washington Park, Newtonville.The first meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for the season, will be held on Tuesday, Oct.
14, in the Abundant Congregational chapel at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is desired as reports of the situation and county conventions will be given.

duties on all products controlled by any trust.
Either these gentlemen, who ask to run the country, mean what they say, or else they are not even competent to say what they mean.To say that Mr. Powers received a warm welcome would not give but a half idea of the enthusiasm which broke loose when he rose to speak.He referred to the opening of the Democratic campaign in the Newton Club house a few days since, when the young leader of the party of Jefferson met the representatives of the plain common people to consider the best means of destroying the trusts, revising the tariff, furnishing work for the unemployed, opening the closed factories, and lighting up fires under the furnaces that had grown cold since the close of the Democratic administration in 1897.
He referred to Colonel Gaston as the young intrepid leader whose mission was to overthrow the imaginary robber barons of the Republican party. He paid a high compliment to Lieut. Gov. Bates as a man who was more in sympathy and touch with the great mass of common people than any other man who had been in the public service of the state for many years past; to General Guild as the typical American, imbued with the highest ideals of true citizenship.He said: My opponent is credited with having used the following language:"Mr. Stimson takes issue with the statement of Congressman Powers, this Republican opponent, that Massachusetts is but one state out of 45, and that the interests of the 45 have to be considered.""That is absolutely the wrong conception of the duties of a delegate from Massachusetts," said Mr. Stimson. "It is absolutely the duty of a Massachusetts congressman to work for the interests of Massachusetts."If our political opponents in this district desire to make the question of loyalty and zeal to more than of Massachusetts an issue in the coming campaign, then I welcome it.
If the claim is to be made that I have hesitated to serve Massachusetts out of regard for the interests of the other states, I desire to meet it. I do not claim exceptional service on my part on behalf of my district or state, but I believe that I have a proper right to meet this charge by proving my loyalty and zeal in behalf of the constituency which I have represented.He referred to the concluding sentence of an editorial which said "It is the state that stands up stiff in its boots that wins," and clearly showed the political chaos which would follow such a course.He said that legislation on the tariff would be at an absolute standstill and congress would be paralyzed by sectionalism. He told of the passage of the river and harbor irrigation and bankruptcy bills and said:The Representatives who enter Congress and with a defiant uncon-promising air serves notice upon the House that his vision is limited by the boundaries of his district had better remain at home and draw his salary and turn it over to charity.
Such a man can be of no service to his district or his state, but on the contrary will be a positive injury to his delegation. I believe in free hides, free coal, free iron and free wool for Massachusetts, but when revision does come, it must be a general one and must not be taken up by piece-meal.Massachusetts will win far more for herself through diplomacy than she possibly can with the cudgel. In my judgment she had to more than ever before in the last 40 years a position which is likely to bring to her favorable and needful legislation.The boundaries of states are becoming more and more indistinct; sectionalism is fading away. The new Republic stands with her face to the morning. Massachusetts, replete with a glorious history, tenders her strength, her fame and her loyalty to add to the unity and the power of this great Anglo-Saxon nation. She remains a bright star in the glorious constellation which will grow brighter unto the perfect day so long as each star is content that its light shall burn to give lustre and brilliance to the entire constellation.

NECESSITY OF SLUMBER.

Death by Sleeplessness a Chinese Punishment.

"A person absolutely without sleep for nine days will die," says a writer in Ainslee's. "Sufferers from insomnia sometimes maintain that they have gone for weeks without sleeping, but it has been proved that they do sleep without being aware of it. At a certain point sleep is inevitable, no matter what the bodily condition, the alternative being death. Prisoners have slept on the rack of the inquisition. And the Chinese found that only the greatest ingenuity and vigilance could carry out a sentence of death by sleeplessness. This mode of capital punishment was long in vogue in China and is said to be so today, while as a form of torture deprivation of sleep is considered one of the most efficacious weapons in the Chinese judicial arsenal. In some cases the prisoner is kept in a cage too small to stand up or lie down in and constantly prodded with a sharp rod. Death by starvation, also a Chinese punitive method, is a slower process and therefore, one would think, more calculated to appeal to the oriental mind if it were not that death by sleeplessness is thought so much more painful. In the latter case the brain is the first affected of all the organs of the body, while in case of starvation the brain longest retains its normal weight and character.

"A corresponding mode of taming wild elephants is said to be depriving the animals of sleep when first caught. In a few days they become comparatively spiritless and harmless. The brain of the elephant is held to be more highly developed than that of any other wild animal, but of course as compared with a human brain can be easily fatigued by new impressions and so made very dependent on sleep. The wild elephant in his native jungle, however, is said to sleep very little—a further point for the theory of the universal ratio of sleep to intelligence. A man taken out of his habitat and placed in conditions which he never could have imagined—if transported to Mars, say—would doubtless need an extraordinary amount of sleep at first. There is the almost parallel case of a German boy, Casper Hauser, who up to the age of eighteen was kept in one room where he had no intercourse with human beings or sight of any natural object, not even the sky. At eighteen he was brought to Nuremberg and abandoned in the street. For the first few months of his life among men he slept almost constantly and so soundly that it was very hard to wake him."

The Sense of Feeling.

Some of our most important organs—for instance, the heart, the brain and the lungs—are, strange to say, quite insensible to touch, thus showing that not only are nerves necessary for the sensation, but also the special end organs. The curious fact was noticed with the greatest astonishment by Harvey, who, while treating a patient for an abscess that caused a large cavity in his side, found that when he put his fingers into the cavity he could actually take hold of the heart without the patient being in the least aware of what he was doing. This so interested Harvey that he brought King Charles I. to the man's bedside that "he might himself behold and touch so extraordinary a thing."

In certain operations a piece of skin is removed from the forehead to the nose, and it is stated that the patient, oddly enough, feels as if the new nasal part were still in his forehead and may have a headache in his nose.—Chambers' Journal.

In the Same Situation.

A funny story is told about a physician at Monroe City. A resident of the town set out shade trees for the doctor. A short time later the physician was called to attend the mother-in-law of the man who had set out the trees. The old lady died, and the physician presented his bill. After paying it, the citizen thought of the trees and made out and presented a bill for them. "But the trees died," protested the doctor. "So did my mother-in-law," retorted the other man. The doctor paid the bill.—Kansas City Journal.

Settling the "Tip" Question.
The awkward question of the tip was solved by a big New Englander from the state of Maine who was dining in a London restaurant the other evening. Having paid his bill, he was informed by the waiter that what he had paid did "not include the waiter."

"Wait," said the stranger, "I ate no waiter, did I?"

And as he looked quite ready to do so on any further provocation the subject was dropped.—London Chronicle.

The Dog That Sings and His Master.
"Billingsley has taught his dog to sing."

"Does he sing well?"

"He sings as well as Billingsley could teach him."

"I never heard Billingsley. Is he a good singer?"

"Well, the dog has been shot at seven times."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE GIRLS OF KASHMIR.

Why They Are Not as Beautiful as They Once Were.

The girls of Kashmir in former times were sold and carried away to the Punjab, in India. They commanded a large price, and parents in moderate circumstances for centuries past have been in the habit of parting with their daughters to place themselves in easier circumstances, and the daughters have generally been quite willing to escape from a life of penury and labor to one of opulence and ease.

A laboring man in this part of India cannot earn over $2 or $3 a month, while many receive for their daughters as high as $1,000. There are some cases where $5,000 was paid, but the usual price has been from $100 to $500.

The practice became so common as well as so damaging that a severe law was enacted prohibiting any one from removing any woman from the country, but it is said that the business goes on now as it has done for hundreds of years, and to that practice may be charged the fact that the women of Kashmir are not as beautiful as they once were.

The process of taking all the beautiful girls away, leaving only the ordinary and ugly ones to continue the race, has lowered the standard of beauty. Most of the women and girls perform field labor as much as the men, and their dress is of the coarsest and plainest materials, consisting of a garment like a nightgown made of white cotton. There is no effort to have it fit.

The condition of women in Kashmir is a very sad one, but one from which there does not seem to be any present escape. It is a constant struggle to live, without the least hope of any accumulation or of ever seeing better days.

The men only receive about 5 cents a day and the women generally about 3 cents, and that will provide only the coarsest food.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Useful Purposes of Rosin.

There are many useful purposes to which rosin can be applied outside of those of general practice. As a non-conductor of heat it is used in the protection of water pipes, particularly in crossing bridges, where the pipe is laid in the middle of a long box and the whole filled with melted rosin. Rosin is also used in supporting basement doors in machine shops, which may be laid over some dry material, as spent molding sand, which is carefully leveled off, and the planking laid upon temporary supports separating it about two inches above the sand.

Numerous holes about two inches in diameter being bored through these planks, melted rosin is forced through them by means of funnels until the whole space is solidly filled, and then the upper flooring is laid upon these planks. In case the floor is subjected to shocks sufficient to break the rosin it rapidly joins together again in much the same manner as the regulation of ice.

The Dragon Slayer.

At an English school a pompous youngster whose father, it was well known, had been a successful omnibus driver was one day fingering ostentatiously a large seal which he is in the habit of wearing, representing St. George and the dragon, and, having drawn the attention of a school companion to it, remarked carelessly:

"Ah, one of my ancestors is supposed to have killed the dragon, don't you know?"

"Good gracious!" inquired the other, somewhat anxiously. "Did he run over it?"—London Answers.

CATCH PHRASES.

Their Utility in Advancing the Interests of Business Men.

There are many instances of where a suitable catch line well drilled into people has been of great value in building business. The best catch line is one that fits your business best, and the discoverer of such a line is apt to be due more to inspiration than to effort. Pick the distinctive feature of your stock or business methods and endeavor to express it in a breath.

If you can coin a phrase that expresses your central business idea or emphasizes some feature that marks your store alone, you can make good use of it. It puts into condensed form an idea that will get hold of people and influence them if persistently presented to them. One fact about your business well lodged in the heads of people is as good as a score that do not penetrate.

You can make people believe about what you like if you go about it properly. If a man comes to you today and tells you there will be a panic inside of six months, you will pay no attention to him. If another comes tomorrow with the same story, he will get no attention, but you will idly wonder what is getting into folks. The third man you will argue the matter with. The fourth will get more of a hearing, and you will begin to see signs of disaster yourself. By the time the tenth man has made the statement you will be ready to tell folks the same story yourself.

Probably you yourself could not be influenced in such a manner, but the common run of people are built that way and will believe what they are told often enough. That is why an expressive catch phrase does good. It comes to stand for you and your methods and of necessity is remembered when goods in your line are wanted.

As ordinarily used such a phrase is of little value, because it is not properly hammered into people. Such a line should go on letter heads, billheads, stationery, envelopes, should go into every ad. or circular, should be seen about the store and should appear on labels. Put it on a sticker to attach to goods and packages. Let people see it everywhere. If it means what it says, people are going to respond to it.—American Druggist.

An Optimistic Cripple.

A one legged newboy had been hopping about on his crutch selling afternoon "extras," and when there was a lull in the business, owing to a falling off in the crowds, he sat down for a brief rest.

"How did you lose your leg?" I asked.

"Cable car," he said, with the street urchin's characteristic economy of words.

"Too bad!" I remarked.

"Oh, but it might 'a' been worse, sir," the boy replied. "The company paid the doctor and gave mother $800. That paid all our debts and left us $500 in bank, and it's all there 'cept $40 we had to take out when mother was sick, and I sell more papers than most of the boys, just 'cause I've a crutch. There's one of my customers now."—New York Times.

Her One Success.

In the civil war time a western woman who had lost her husband in the field and who hoped to win a livelihood for herself and her little ones by writing sent to Harper's Magazine a story which had no special distinction and was returned. In the desperate mood that followed this rejection she sat down with pen and ink and told "why I wrote it" and her story under that title was accepted and published, winning a sympathetic response from all its readers. But this production, the echo of a vital moment, was her one story in the magazine. Oliver Wendell Holmes said that anybody could write one interesting novel if he could truly tell the story of his own life.—Harper's Magazine.

Obeyed Orders.

"What was the cause of that awful racket and disturbance in your office just before you came?" asked one of the tenants on the third floor.

"You know that young cowboy that came yesterday to begin the study of law with me?" said the other.

"Yes."

"Well, I thought he might as well begin at the bottom, and I told him that when he came down this morning the first thing for him to do would be to clean out the office. He found half a dozen fellows there waiting for me, but he did it, all right."—Chicago Tribune.

A Clear Cat Warning.

"Young ladies," said an absent-minded teacher of Latin to his class in Virgil, "I understand that you count upon my calling on you in alphabetical order and prepare your lessons accordingly. I am surprised and disappointed at such conduct. Hereafter I warn you I shall begin at the other end of the alphabet!"

Corrected.

Visitor—Go to the proprietor and tell him to make my bill out properly and write omelette with two 't's' and not one.

Waiter (a few minutes later)—It's all right now, sir—omelet, 1 shilling; two teas, 2 shillings.—London Tit-Bits.

Tests of Friendship.

When a woman gives notice that she has moved to the top floor and there is no elevator, she begins to find who her true friends are, and when she makes it known that she is banding out and has no meals served at home she gets still nearer the root of the matter.

The foot of a horse is one of the most ingenious and unexampled pieces of mechanism in the whole range of animal structure.

Literary Notes

The history of the industrial changes which have of late been occurring with such rapidity is to be found in its most interesting form in the careers of the "Captains of Industry" now before the public in connection with the larger interests of production, transportation and finance. A knowledge of these men, their derivation, their leading characteristics, weaknesses and abilities, throws much light upon the news of the day in which their names constantly recur. In making the effort to present a fairly complete series of studies of these men, The Cosmopolitan Magazine has furnished the public with one of the most interesting serials ever published. In the October number H. C. Frick, Cyrus K. Curtis, David H. Moffat, Woodrow Wilson, and H. H. Vreeland furnish interesting studies.

Allen-Lindsay.

At the First Unitarian church, West Newton, last Tuesday evening, Miss Emily M. Lindsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Lindsay of West Newton, and Charles Willis Allen of Glenview, Jefferson County, Ky., the son of Maj. Charles J. F. Allen, were married by Dr. John W. Lindsay, D. D., assisted by the Rev. J. C. Jaynes, the pastor of the church.

The bride was gowned in East India satin, with real lace sleeves and bertha. Her tulle veil was edged with point applique. She was attended by Miss Margaret Oliver of Baltimore and Miss Ramona Hubbard of Middletown, Ct., and the following bridesmaids: Miss Anna West of Somerville, Miss Grace Felton of West Newton, Miss Marie Phelps of Boston and Miss Carrie Freeman of West Newton. They wore costumes of white silk muslin, small tucks and lace.

The best man was Arthur D. Allen of Louisville, Ky., brother of the groom, and the ushers were Messrs. Lennox Lindsay of West Newton, brother of the bride; Lefon Allen of Louisville, Herbert Scoville of New York, James Caryl of Washington, D. C.; Dudley Blossom of Cleveland and George Smith of New York. A short reception at the home of the bride on Halcarras road, followed the ceremony.

COAL AT COST.

Mayor Weeks Inaugurates Plan of Distribution.

Soft Coal at $6.00 a Ton Will Be Sold on Monday.

Next Monday morning, Mayor Weeks and the gentlemen associated with him in the effort to relieve the distress occasioned by the shortage in the coal supply will open an office at Room 7, City Hall, West Newton, where applications will be received for the delivery of coal.

Applicants will be required to fill out a blank form stating their name, residence, whether an owner or tenant, their employment and by whom employed, the amount of coal on hand and the amount of coal required.

All applications receiving the approval of the mayor will be entitled to one ton of soft (bituminous) coal, which will then be delivered at their residences. The coal will cost $6 per ton, which must be deposited when application is made.

The main object of Mayor Weeks in entering upon this excellent work is to aid those residents of Newton who cannot afford to purchase coal at prevailing prices and all applications will be considered with that end in view.

The delivery of one ton of coal at a time will not prevent further deliveries when the original order is exhausted.

Autumnale W. C. T. U.

The meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union on Tuesday was of unusual interest. From the report of the New Bedford state convention we find that more than $14, 000 have been expended during the past year. There are 5722 members, which is a gain of 1235 in two years.
Seventy unions, our own among the number, have made a gain of 25 per cent. Middlesex County made a good showing on the honor roll as several of our 48 unions have made this gain.

At the county convention held in Natick a speaker said that four of the five children of the proprietor of a licensed hotel in his town, were boarded away from their parents, who thought it a suitable place for their baby only. The speaker's children were obliged to pass the hotel door four times daily. A licensed town in our county receives $12,000 for license and spends $40,000 yearly in caring for those who need attention because of the existence of the saloon. Lady Henry Somerset, who came to this country to attend the National W. C. T. U. Convention in session in Portland, will give a public address in Tremont Temple, Sunday, Oct. 26, at 3 o'clock. This is the only occasion on which she may be heard in.

FAITHFULNESS

The Chief Characteristic of Mr. Edwin W. Gay.

Words of Rev. George R. Grose at Funeral Services.

I stand here today not to pronounce an eulogy, although there is much in the life of Edwin W. Gay worthy of praise. I come with a glad and grateful tribute to the memory of one whom to know was to honor and to love, one in whom within an acquaintance of three brief years, I came to confide as in a father. But instead of speaking words of eulogy I have chosen a task which I deem would be far more pleasing to him whom we honor, and more in keeping with the spirit of this hour, and that is to point out the dominant principle, "the ruling passion" of this life, which will enable us to interpret its real meaning. And this, may be, will afford us some insight into the inwardness of all noble living. While there is a confusing mixture of the good and the bad, of the noble and the ignoble,—a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde—in every one of us, there is also some principle of action which gives a certain unity and character to our life.

The dominant element in the character of Mr. Gay which gave tone and color to his whole life was his faithfulness. I have never known a man to whom these words of the Master more fittingly apply than to Edwin W. Gay. "Well done thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." He possessed many noble virtues which made his life among us beautiful and useful. But the thing for which he will be most remembered, and which gave to him unusual influence is his faithfulness.

This ruling spirit of his life showed itself first of all in his fidelity to his ideals. And this lies at the very bottom of every good life. I have never known a man who had a stronger sense of personal responsibility, and who accepted obligation more cheerfully. Duty came to be to him the daughter of the voice of God. His fidelity to the best within him gave to his convictions a certain firmness, and to his manner a gentle dignity and quiet winsomeness which were the charm of his personality. I always felt when in the presence of Edwin W. Gay that there is a man who has his own self respect. He was so transparently sincere that you would not think of asking him to make an explanation. But with his strong sense of duty there was nothing of that hardness or intolerance which often belong to men of intense convictions.

There was nothing of noise or bluster in his bearing. He was not aggressive or self assertive, and yet no man stood more firmly for his convictions and none could yield more gracefully to the opinions of the majority. I never heard him speak harshly of any one; though he often spoke with just severity of shirks in public and private life, those unwilling to assume responsibility.

Another conspicuous illustration of his faithfulness which I have named "the ruling passion" of his life was seen in his friendships. He seemed to possess the very soul of friendliness. A certain hearty geniality, a healthy good-naturedness, and a warmth of sympathy made him always a delightful companion. A man of whom children are naturally fond. A little child which he greeted less than a half hour before his death after he had passed, turned and said to her mamma, "Isn't it good to see Mr. Gay." A gentleman remarked to me since his death, "I have frequently walked several blocks to purchase from him a five cent article, such a satisfaction was it to meet his genial spirit. Now, this element which was instinctively recognized by the child and so much prized by us all was not merely affable manners; his patient painstaking was not an effort to please; it was the expression of his inner faithfulness to his friends.

His loyalty to his friends made him one of the most appreciative men of others. There was nothing of gush or effusiveness about him. He was too sincere for that; but he was always genuinely appreciative of the worth and work of his friends. He was too kind to wait until the burden had crushed their courage before speaking his word of appreciation and love. But his faithfulness in his friendships showed itself also in his deeds. Again and again have I passed him on the way to his business, carrying baskets of fruit to some whose life the gift would brighten. To a little boy he sends letters carefully printed with pen, that he may read them himself. A friend who has passed through great sorrow he visits every week for a long time, that he may brighten the gloom.

His great faithfulness showed itself also in all his business activities. He was a man of wide and varied interests, and in all he was eminently trustworthy and painstaking. He seemed incapable of distinguishing between great and small duties. To him it was all duty. I remember a man of affairs saying to him on one occasion when he was observed to be indifferent to the time which some small detail was costing, "Mr. Gay, life is too short to spend time on that." His only answer was to finish the work with the utmost precision. To him everything worthy was worth doing well. When his health began to fail upon being urged by a friend to lay aside some of his duties he answered, "I am not sure but it is better to carry them all up till the end." He did not seem to know how to decline any service that he was called upon to perform. He was not widely known beyond his own community, because he was fully occupied with its interests. Ever an ardent patriot who showed his devotion to his country by his devotion to all the duties of citizenship in his own city. He served the city of Newton as president of the Common Council for three years, was a member of the commission on the new charter of the city, he was an active member of various literary clubs and social orders. No more conspicuous illustration of his faithfulness is to be found than in his devotion to the church of Jesus Christ. He was an ardent lover of his own church, yet never a narrow sectarian. Every movement which looked toward fraternity and co-operation among the Christian churches found in him a strong supporter, and yet he believed that he could serve the cause of Christ in the community by devoting himself untiringly to his own church. He was always liberal and progressive in his religious views, but never loose. He believed with intense conviction. He was always fully informed concerning the work of the church at large. Every interest of the local church he served with enthusiasm. For 38 years a member of this church, 30 years he served the church as treasurer, the chairman of the building committee for the present house of worship, and president of the board of trustees at his death. His former pastors have testified that never was there a more faithful and helpful coworker. He was always present at the Sunday morning and evening services. His voice was often heard in the prayer meeting. He was always present at the official meetings. Every activity of the church appealed to him, and never to be refused his help. The associations of his brethren in the church were to him a great delight. He loved the very building in which he worshipped with a peculiar love. He could truly say with the psalmist, "I love the place where thine honor dwelleth."

His last day here on earth was a fine illustration of the spirit and character of the man's life. Starting at the usual time to his business, even so weak that he was observed to stagger as he climbed the steps; with important business interests upon him he stopped to attend to the claims of a worthy philanthropy, then a little further down the street he called to perform another duty, and from there to the bank, and from there to the larger duties and the fuller joy of the heavenly life.

Even the manner of his death was a fitting climax to his life. He died so faithfully the duty here, that no farewells were needed, no preparation for dying was to be made. With his heart full of love for all good men and with his hands full of work for all good things he fell. He worked in fidelity to the smallest duty up till the very last and then laid down the task here to take up the larger service there.

Now the secret of this life of extraordinary faithfulness in everything that was good was this,—his life was "in tune with the Infinite." Edwin W. Gay walked with God. In his inmost heart he was faithful to God and this spirit of higher consecration poured forth into all the various relations and activities of his life. I can bring no nobler tribute to his memory than to say what I can so truly say, "He was faithful in all that was good."

The value of such a man to the community, a man who is willing to do anything that is to be done and who does everything faithfully, not as unto men, but as unto God, is simply inestimable. He builds himself into the very life of society and business and the church. For it is not brilliant achievement, it is not daring and dash that are so widely and permanently useful, as simple faithfulness. We do well to honor the memory of our friend and brother who was faithful in every good thing, in the home, in his friendships, in the larger duties of citizenship and business life, in the church of Christ,—because in his heart he was true to God. "Well done thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Letter to Coffin & Taber.

Chestnut Hill, Mass.
Dear Sirs: There was a time when it paid a painter to paint lead and oil, and fight shy of anything else. That was when the market was full of poor paints, and zinc was unknown.

Now zinc has come in, lead and oil must give way—it is too short lived.

There are two ways to use zinc; you can mix it in with lead in a tub, or buy Devco lead and zinc, which is ground together by machinery. If you mix your own lead and zinc, you gain something; if you buy Devco you gain more, because machinery does better work than hand mixing. Experience is worth something. We've had 146 years of it.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting and dinner of the St. John's Club, of Newtonville, took place last Friday evening at the Newton Club, and twenty-two members and guests sat down to the beautifully decorated table.

Vice President W. Howard Brown occupied the chair at the business meeting, which followed and these officers were elected: President, Mr. Marcus Morton; Vice-Pres., Mr. W. Howard Brown; Sec'y and Treas., Mr. Robert Blampied; Directors, Messrs. E. P. Hatch, Derby Brown and D. Byran Hawley.

Plans were discussed for the continued work of the club on the lines of Christian Fellowship in a social manner and remarks were made by Messrs. E. P. Hatch, E. C. Adams, F. G. Benner, R. F. Gammons 2d, and Rev. R. T. Loring.

A Day With The Shakers.

A stranger, newly arrived in New Lebanon, N. Y., will be at once attracted to a large group of buildings, about a mile distant on a beautiful hillside overlooking a valley widely known for its loveliness. The buildings are so many and so large, as to make a village by themselves. On inquiry we are told that it is a Shaker community, founded about one hundred and fifty years ago; and is the mother of some eighteen other communities scattered through the different states. Having a desire to visit the settlement, my host telephoned to the Shaker office a visiting appointment for the next day. We found at the office, a bright matronly woman, who keeps a correct and systematic account of all the secular affairs of the community; and for information in regard to teaching and belief she directed us to another building, where we should find the preacher and expounder of doctrine. Before leaving her, however, we received a hearty invitation to return to the guest house, of which the office was a part, for dinner at 12 o'clock.

We found the doctrinal expounder in charge of the laboratory, where the Shaker medicines are compounded, and so, combining in himself the double usefulness of administering to both body and spirit. He gave us a very cordial reception, and a thorough statement of the origin and belief of the Brotherhood. The history of the order in brief, is this: As intense as early Quakerism was in England, there were those in its membership that craved a still higher standard of religious life, such as Jane Wordlaw of South Lancashire, who went forth to testify to the truth as revealed to her. The burden of her testimony was that the end of all things was at hand and that Christ was about to reign, in a woman's form as predicted in the Psalms. Among her early converts was Ann Lee, a daughter of a poor blacksmith, and unable to read or write. She was married when yet a child to a young blacksmith by the name of Stanley and of whom she had four children, all of whom had died in infancy. To these early sorrows may be attributed many of her later views concerning conjugal life. In bearing her witness to the truth, she was placed in jail as a disturber of the public peace. While in prison she said that the Lord Jesus had revealed himself to her, and had become one with her in form and spirit. This vision raised her rank of mother, among her half dozen followers, in place of their fondness, the tailor's wife. Mother Ann now proclaimed herself the bride of Christ, and who had come again in her person. The feminine church and female Christ, receiving rough treatment from their townsmen, a second revelation was received by Mother Ann to flee England, for a home in the Promised Land of America. The little band of followers consisting of five men and two women, reached New York in safety, all having faith in Mother Ann, but her husband. On reaching New York, the celestial bride insisted on separating herself from her husband's side, as necessary to a holy life. She called on her followers to make eternal warfare against the flesh. Men called into grace, must live as the angels live, among whom there is neither marrying nor giving in marriage, and if already married, husbands and wives must hence forth live apart.

The little church soon moved up the Hudson river to Albany, which was then a small frontier town on the edge of a vast wilderness. Pushing out into this wilderness, they founded the settlement of Water Village, the original Shaker community of New York. For three years and a half these seven believers in Mother Ann's divine commission waited in their lonely huts for the coming in of the Saints to increase their number. At length this revival came, extending over the hills to New Lebanon, including among many others, Joseph Meacham and Lucy Wright, who were destined to exert a powerful influence on the order. The new sect soon fell on trying times, being persecuted and imprisoned, because they would not take up arms in the war for American Independence. After a missionary tour of the New England colonies Mother Ann returned to her community much weakened strength and the fall of 1784, she died, and the disciples round her, giving them a promise and a blessing, and after yielding up the visible keys of her kingdom to Joseph Meacham and Lucy Wright, Mother Ann was made invisible to the flesh through excess of light.

They believe that they are now living in the Resurrection order, that Mother Ann, though more earthly, realized that themselves is still dwelling among them and holding converse with them. In their familiarity with the world of spirits, they were the forerunners of the Spiritualists. Under spirit influence they write their hymns and obtain revelations relating to conduct, which put into writing, become rules of the community. Their social attitude is defined by the following propositions: The old law is abolished, the new dispensation begun. Inter-course between heaven and earth is restored. God is King and governor. The sin of Adam is atoned and man made free of all errors except his own. Every human being will be saved. The earth is heaven, now soiled and stained, but ready to be brightened, by love and labor into its primeval state.

Like the ancient Essenes they neither drink wine nor eat pork or use tobacco. They live upon the land, and have nothing to do with the society of towns and are characterized by sobriety, prudence and meekness. They take no oaths, avoid contention and repudiate war. They have a commercial life, sharing in the same labor, the women indoors and the men outside; the women alternating in their duties every few weeks, relieves the monotony of labor. Their industry is shown in the perfect order and cleanliness everywhere. What they do is thoroughly done. Shaker seeds, shrubs, plants, fruits and brooms as well as medicines and cloaks are always known to be honest. They follow different occupations, according to their bent, but all must work at something. They have good schools, to which they hope to attract outside scholars, desiring, no doubt to prejudice the young minds in favor of Shakerism.

The high cultivation of their ten thousand acres, shows their skill and industry. They have substantial buildings and apt machinery for all their industries. Their barns are the largest in the world. All their buildings are grouped about the Worship House, which will accommodate five hundred. Here they gather every Sunday, the men on one side and the women on the other, facing each other, and the singers standing between. The service consists of selections from the Bible, experiences may be given by any one, but the recognized preacher, is always expected to be ready to expound. During the singing the congregation forms into a procession, and moves around the room with a kind of dance or shuffle. The community is divided into two families, living in two large buildings, the rooms of the women being at one end of the house and those of men at the other. They pass down different stairs to the dining room, the men at one table and the women at the other, and all eating in silence, the meal being preceded and followed with a short silent prayer, all kneeling. Their healthy appearance, bespeaks good living, though consisting largely of products of the soil. The dinner spread for us, gentiles and worldlings, included everything good, meats and all, and was most perfectly cooked, being served us in a private room.

Of course the great problem of Shakerism is self-preservation. Though attractive in many features, its celibacy is not alluring to American life. Being a childless Brotherhood, its numbers must steadily decrease. The New Lebanon community once numbered five hundred and forty and mostly women. Labor has to be hired from the Gentile world, which is both a religious and financial loss. When we asked our preacher what the outlook was, he said it was rather dark, but the promise of a coming Shaker revival, that would replenish their ranks, gave them courage and hope.

One certainly cannot visit this community without being pleased with many of its characteristics and yet being taught the difficulties of a religious life, built upon a partial interpretation of the Bible and the sacrifice of the strong and healthful instincts of nature.

How to Burn Soft Coal.

To the Editor of the Graphic:—

Inasmuch as many of us may have to rely upon soft coal for kitchen and furnace use this winter, it is well to know how to burn it.

Some here seem to have very poor success with it, but people in the soft coal region have no trouble whatever in making it burn in their cooking ranges, grates, stoves and furnaces and in keeping it going all night.

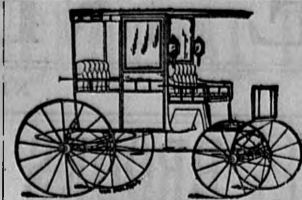

Their plan is this: Pick out the lumps. Crack the big bits into pieces the size of an egg or even smaller. Then build your fire in the usual way—some pieces of paper and enough wood kindlings. Put on top of these your little lumps of the soft coal. They will soon ignite and then shovel on a layer of the fine stuff, not too much at a time. Some of it will drop through the grate, but when the fire is going you can scrape this up and put it on again.

After awhile another light layer and you will have a bed of hot coals, very hot. You have the foundation now for the firing for the day. Before putting on a new layer you must punch a few holes down from the top through the bed of coals with your poker. Do not rake it underneath, but you get rid of the ashes by this downward poking and at the same time make holes for the air to draw up. It needs considerable draught in your pipes at first, but you can regulate that after the fire is going.

"The fact is," says one, "it needs just a trifle of gumption and patience, but any one who has these need not despair." He can cook his dinner and heat his house in a very satisfactory manner with soft coal all winter, while the anthracite operators and operatives fight out their cruel battle."

Another authority on the use of soft coal says that he mixes a small quantity of coke with his coal while following the above general direction for starting the fire. No change in the grates is needed. An ordinary stove or furnace can burn even the fine stuff if it is done judiciously. It is important to add that the sellers of soft coal are ready to instruct purchasers how to use it.

Of course it is not as clean as anthracite. It is smoky, dusty and needs more care, but in an emergency like this when we have to use it, we would do well to know how.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

MUSIC HALL, Oct. 20.—"A Kentucky Feud."
PARK THEATRE, Oct. 20.—"My Kentucky Home."

Boston Music Hall—There seems to be no cessation in the business which the Boston Music Hall is enjoying and at nearly every performance the theatre is crowded to the very doors. The patrons of the theatre are finding out that they can see the very best kind of attractions at this theatre at prices lower than anywhere else in town and the subscription list is steadily increasing. Lottie Williams and her excellent company in "Only a Shop Girl" has been the attraction which has served to draw large audiences this week. Melodramatic conventionalities are fully observed in "A Kentucky Feud," a new and thrilling domestic play by Wm. T. Keogh and James R. Gurey which comes to Music Hall next week. In this instance the story is so cleverly told that interest in its recital is quickly aroused and is firmly maintained during the developments of the progressive action until the fall of the final curtain.

Dinner of Clafin Guard.

The 32nd anniversary dinner of Company C, 5th Regiment, M. V. M., was held in Armory hall last Friday evening. The decorations were very effective, being composed of flags festooned from the center of the ceiling and along the walls. On the stage behind a screen of tall palms and ferns Owens' Orchestra played popular airs during the evening. An informal reception was held from 8 to 8.30, when the supper was served by Caterer Hyslop. About 150 sitting down to the well filled tables and including representatives of the city government, Clafin Guard Veteran Association, Grand Army and League of Spanish War Veterans.

Captain Ernest R. Springer was the master of the post prandial exercises and the toasts were responded to as follows: "The United States," Congressman Samuel L. Powers; "The State," Col. James G. White, I. R. P.; "The City," Mayor John W. Weeks; "The 5th Regiment," Col. William H. Oakes; "The Grand Army," Commander C. S. Ober; "The Clafin Guard Veteran Association," Col. Robert B. Edes; "The League of Spanish War Veterans," Commander Henry J. McCammon. Among the prominent guests present were: Congressman Powers, Mayor Weeks, Judge J. C. Kennedy, Col. James G. White, Col. William H. Oakes, Commander C. S. Ober of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., Col. Robert B. Edes; Lieut. Col. George H. Benyon, Commander H. J. McCammon of Thomas Burnett Camp, I. S. W. V. Capt. A. C. Warren, Captain Walter L. Sanborn, Lieut. Col. Murray D. Clement, Hon. H. E. Bothfeld, President A. R. Weed of the board of aldermen, E. O. Childs, A. C. Walworth, and many others prominent in military and civil life.

Street Railway Matters.

Much annoyance and inconvenience was caused last week by the placing of the frog at the junction of Boylston and Woodward streets, Newton Highlands, where the Boston and Worcester track crosses that of the New-England street railway men claim that the work could have been completed inside of 24 hours, and the unnecessary delay with the consequent trouble of causing passengers to walk several hundred feet over piles of dirt, rails and the usual obstructions in a street under construction must be laid at the door of the Boston & Worcester officials.

The Newton companies have 29 new box cars now under way and which are expected almost any day. The running of odd cars on the various lines for the last few days is caused by the necessity of placing cars in the paint shop.

The Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company has filed a petition with the Railroad Commissioners for a "missing link" location in South-boro.

The Lincoln Entertainment.

The "Evening with Abraham Lincoln" to be given at Association hall on Monday evening, Nov. 10, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., promises to be one of the big events of our entertainment season.

Mr. Benjamin Chapin, who gives this wonderful impersonation, is probably the greatest student and authority on Abraham Lincoln in this country. Mr. Chapin has visited every locality that has been made famous by Lincoln and can give off-hand the particulars of the many dramatic events in the life of the great president, or instantly deliver almost any of Lincoln's speeches or stories and in addition is able to detail the circumstances under which they were originally given.

One of Mr. Chapin's warmest admirers is Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, who has had Mr. Chapin give his unique Lincoln portrayal several times at Plymouth church. Dr. Hillis writes of Mr. Chapin's Lincoln after a recent performance: "In the interest of patriotism, of civic virtue and the incitement to the highest ideals of character, I wish that all the youth of our country could hear Mr. Chapin's revelation of one of our five greatest Americans—Abraham Lincoln."

New England Conservatory Free Scholarship in Opera

The New England Conservatory of Music announces four free scholarships in the Opera school, which will be offered for competition on October 31. The judges will be Messrs. George W. Chadwick, Oreste Bimonti and George Henschel. Applications may be sent to Mr. Chadwick at the Conservatory before Oct. 27, and must be by letter only. These scholarships are open to all competitors and the competition will be strictly private.

Park Theatre—The attraction at the Park Theatre for the week beginning next Monday, will be "My Kentucky Home," a play of Southern life and character by J. K. Tillotson. Its plot deals with the incidents of love and war, and its characters are some on the side and some on the other of the great struggle between the North and the South. The matinee performances given daily at the Park Theatre are rapidly becoming more popular and it should be remembered that the best orchestra seat in the afternoon may be bought for thirty cents. At the close of the performance next Tuesday afternoon, the weekly reception and tea will be held, all the ladies and children in the audience being cordially invited to attend and to meet Una Abell Brinker, the leading lady of Mr. Payton's stock company. Week after next, the popular drama, "Jim the Penman," will be the attraction.

A Wonderful Class Re-union.

On September 26th, 1902, occurred a class gathering which would be notable in the history of any institution. At Lasell Seminary the class of 1856 numbered ten. Of these only one has died. A second, Mrs. Elizabeth Gardner Bonquereau lives in Paris. Of the eight remaining seven had a reunion at the house of Mrs. Dr. Alvah Hovey at Newton Centre on that day. Mrs. Hovey invited the class to meet at her house. (It was being at the time the home of Mrs. Carpenter of Woburn.) and laid up all the beautiful flowers and decorations of her Golden Wedding held two evenings before. Miss Amy Halliday of Brooklyn, N. Y., expected to be present for the meeting but was at the last moment too ill to come. Mrs. Bonquereau sent her photograph with that of her distinguished husband, a new one for the occasion. That seems to us a rare record for a class in any school; only one death and seven out of ten to meet after forty-six years.

The following is a list of those present: Mrs. Harriet E. Carpenter, Japan; Mrs. Virginia Champion Foster, New York; Mrs. Mary Shaw Rogers, St. Louis; Miss Mary P. Jones, Newton; Miss Martha Stone, Newton Centre; Mrs. Mary Murdoch Billings, Newton; Mrs. Fannie Gray Merrick, Walpole.

What class in any school ever was so favored?

Morse-Dewey.

A largely attended church wedding in Newton last Saturday afternoon, was that of Miss Marjorie Dewey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dewey, and William Gibbons Morse, son of James Herbert Morse of Germantown, Pa. The ceremony took place in Grace Episcopal church at 4.30 and was performed by the Rev. Dr. George W. Shinn the rector.

The maid of honor was Miss Rose Morse of New York, and the bridesmaids Miss Susan L. Jackson, Miss Lucy Turner and Miss Jane E. Seaver of Cambridge, Miss Frances E. Park of Boston, Miss Elsie Powell of New York and Miss Elizabeth Adams of Belmont.

The best man was James Herbert Morse, Jr., of New York, and the ushers Messrs. Wilson M. Foggell, Jr., of New York, John Ware and Francis C. Ware of East Milton, Percy Dewey of Newton, Edmund W. Putnam of New York, Gordon Allen of West Newton and Melville G. Curtis of Philadelphia. As the happy couple left the church the chimes were played.

A reception at the home of the bride on Park street followed the church ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Morse will be at home after November 1st on Earham terrace, Germantown, Penn.

Another Club.

The Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club with a capital of $5000, the promoters of which are among the leading residents of the south side of the city, has been recently incorporated.

It is proposed to start with 50 charter members, who have already been secured but so great is the interest in the club that it is probable that it will be found necessary to extend the limit at an early date. At the head of the organization is Fred H. Hovey the tennis ex-champion, through whose efforts chiefly the club has been formed, with Allan Hubbard, D. M. and Charles L. Smith as vice president, secretary and treasurer respectively. These men, together with Messrs. E. B. Bowen and S. M. Merrill, constitute the board of directors.

The home of the new club will be on Chestnut terrace, Newton Centre, where a handsome two-story clubhouse is now under construction, to be completed by the middle of November. The building will be some 60 by 40 feet and equipped with every convenience for the use of the members and their guests. On the lower floor will be two regulation tennis courts, 18 by 30 feet, together with a large lounge room. The second floor will be devoted to the locker rooms, shower baths and toilet arrangements. Overlooking the courts will be a large gallery.

While squash tennis is to form the chief attraction for the members, there are ample facilities for the promotion of other sports. A large tract of land adjoins the clubhouse and if sufficient interest is shown by the club members it is proposed to lay out outdoor tennis courts, a practice putting green, and possibly introduce bowling on the green as a feature. There will also be a social side to the organization. The club has been formed along the lines of the Neighborhood club of West Newton, which has been taken as a model by several organizations. As yet the squash tennis club is in its infancy and will be developed as rapidly as its membership increases.

At the Churches.

Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson will preach on the topic "The Humanitarianism of Jesus," at Channing church next Sunday morning.

A meeting of the Woman's Association connected with the Immanuel Baptist church was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jerome Sondericker on Oakleigh road.

The junior league of the Newton Methodist church held a rally in the ladies' parlors last Tuesday afternoon.

The annual reception to the pastor, Rev. William H. Davis, will be held in the chapel of Eliot church next Thursday evening.

Rev. James C. Perkins gave an interesting stereopticon address describing Christian work in India at the Abundant Congregational church last Sunday evening.

The business men's class at Eliot church last Sunday considered the topic "The Ethics of Trusts." Hon. Samuel L. Powers made the peening address.

The annual collection for Home Missions will be taken next Sunday at the Congregational church, West Newton.

A meeting of the Woman's Association was held Tuesday afternoon at Eliot church, Newton. Miss Sherman, secretary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society spoke on "Our Immigrants."

A union meeting of the Woman's Board of Home Missions Auxiliary and the Young Women's Missionary Society was held at the Congregational church, Abundant, last Monday afternoon. Dr. Julia Bissell gave an interesting account of the medical work being done among the women of India.

The offering at Eliot church next Sunday will be for the American Board of Foreign Missions.

Rev. William J. Thompson, pastor of the Newtonville Methodist church and Mrs. Thompson will be at home to the members of the parish at the parsonage on Newtonville avenue next Monday evening from 8 to 10.

In the parish house of Grace church last Saturday evening some twenty gentlemen gathered to confer on the plan regarding the formation of a local branch of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

At the Immanuel Baptist church, Newton, next Sunday evening, Rev. Frank B. Matthews will continue his sermons on "Young People in the Life of Today." The special topic will be "Thinking and Trusting."

At the annual meeting of the ladies' Benevolent Society held the last of the week at the Immanuel Baptist church, Newton, the following officers were elected: Pres., Mrs. J. T. Lodge; vice pres., Mrs. E. P. Tuttle; sec., Mrs. C. R. Newcomb; treas., Mrs. G. F. Hickmott; directors, Mrs. C. H. French, chairman; Mrs. George H. Hastings, Mrs. C. B. Galland.

The music at the First Baptist church, Newton Centre, the coming Sunday will be in charge of the organist and director, Mr. Moritz Hauptmann Emery. The choir consists of Miss E. Frances Cooke, soprano; Miss Marguerite Harding, contralto; Ernest R. Leeman, tenor; Franklin J. Wood, bass.

At the Church of the Messiah the coming season the choir master will be Mr. W. W. Upham of Waltham. Mr. Titcomb of Amesbury will be the organist. Mr. Miller of the Episcopal school of Cambridge will be superintendent of the Sunday school.

The annual meeting of the Helpers was held Friday afternoon in the chapel of Eliot church. There was a mite box opening and an interesting address on India was given by Rev. J. C. Perkins.

Rev. Edward S. Tead, the new secretary of the Education Society was present at the missionary meeting at the Eliot church last Friday evening and spoke on "Our Colleges and Academies."

The annual reception of the Association is to be held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 22. The Association is honored in being able to announce that our Mayor, Hon. J. W. Weeks, is to be present on that occasion.

The Sunday Men's meetings are to be resumed on the last Sunday of the month of October, Oct. 26th. Rev. J. E. Perry of Allston is to be the speaker.

Tickets are now out for the "Take Care" Lecture course. Any young men who wish to attend the same may have a season ticket free of charge by applying at the Association office.

The Boy's meeting will open Sunday, Oct. 26, at 3 o'clock.

We would all like to have seen Abraham Lincoln but as many of us did not have the privilege of seeing him it will be a pleasure to see Mr. Benjamin Chapin in his unique impersonation of our War President. Remember the date, Monday evening, Nov. 10.

FOOT BALL.

DARTMOUTH VS. WILLIAMS.

When Dartmouth and Williams meet tomorrow at the Cedar street grounds, Newton Centre, at 3 p. m., each team will be full of determination to win. Williams, because she claims, with good reason, that she should have won last year, and Dartmouth because she wants to see the green and white again come off victorious.

A large body of undergraduates of each college will follow their teams, and the large alumni of both colleges around Boston will also be well represented.

As Harvard plays at West Point tomorrow, it will give all the enthusiasts of hard and clean college football a chance to witness what will without doubt be the best game of the season around Boston. The management have made ample preparations and will be ready to handle a larger crowd more easily than they did last year. A special train will leave the South Station at 2.05, arriving at Newton Centre at 2.25.

THE MAN IN ARMOR

Was no match for the microbe. Giants he might slay but this microscopic organism defied him, and in many a campaign more men were destroyed by camp diseases than by the enemy's sword.

The one way to arm against microbe disease is to keep the blood pure. Impure blood both breeds and feeds disease.

The signs of impure blood are easy to read. Pimples, boils, and eruptions generally proclaim the blood to be impure. Scrofulous sores and swellings, salt-rheum, eczema, etc., are other signs of a corrupt condition of the blood.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and cures diseases caused by the blood's impurity. It cures scrofulous sores, boils, pimples, eczema and other defiling and disfiguring diseases.

"It gives me great pleasure to express my faith in the virtue of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. Ezekiel Florio of Graytown, Ottawa Co., Ohio. "I suffered everything for two years with humor on my face, which baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. Was at once advised to go to the hospital, was doctored there for three months without success. Came home discouraged. Then began to doctor with a 'chemist.' He also failed to help me. Then I began Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with no faith whatever in it. Did it only to please my wife, but I am happy to tell you that after taking five bottles I am entirely cured."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Free Trip to New York.

All the great fortunes of America have been founded upon Real Estate Investments. A Borough Park lot at from $240 to $1250 (last years prices $150 to $350) will be worth double and treble what it is now within a few years.

Borough Park is twenty-six minutes from the business centre of New York city by elevated railroad. New York city is growing at the rate of 400,000 per annum. Brooklyn Borough, in which Borough Park lies, is growing at the rate of 130,000 per annum, and is the only section in which New York can now grow.

Terms, $10.00 per lot down, and $6.00 and $8.00 monthly.

No Taxes the First Year. No Interest the First Year. Life Insurance. Non-Forfeiture.

WRITE TO A. C. BENT & CO., 720 Exchange Bldg., Boston, Mass., for tickets to New York and return to investigate the proposition.

At the Church of the Messiah the coming season the choir master will be Mr. W. W. Upham of Waltham. Mr. Titcomb of Amesbury will be the organist. Mr. Miller of the Episcopal school of Cambridge will be superintendent of the Sunday school.

There is no use disguising the fact that in the republican city of Newton there is a strong leaning towards the election of Col. Gaston as governor.

In the glamor of the personal worth and standing of the democratic nominee the many short coming, to say the least, of the party which he leads are lost sight of, and many republicans are liable to cast a vote for Gaston without giving due heed to its effect on the future.

As we stated last week one of the results of a decreased republican vote for governor this year will be the loss
of control of the senatorial convention of 1903, and the probable election of a senator who will not consider the financial interests of this city in the legislature.

This is in itself a strong argument to induce every republican to vote for the party nominee for governor, and when that nominee pledges himself to follow the examples of Crane, Wolcott and other governors who have brought honor and renown to the good old Commonwealth of Massachusetts, it would seem as if substantial reasons could be given for the election of Hon. John L. Bates as governor.

Mayor Weeks with characteristic energy and good judgment has determined to exercise the option he has obtained for a coal supply for the citizens of Newton and our news columns announce the method to be adopted in its distribution.

The main features of the plan are the scrutiny of the written application in order that no unfair advantage is taken by unscrupulous citizens, and the advance payment of $6.00 per ton, which is as near the actual cost as it can be figured.

It should be remembered that this enterprise is of a private nature, and that its management is in the hands of Mayor Weeks as a citizen and not as the executive head of the city.

It is a cause of congratulation that the Mayor will undertake this arduous and possible thankless task, and we trust that each applicant will fully appreciate the situation.

One feature of the coming election has thus far escaped general notice.
While Congressman Powers has been nominated for a second term, it will be his first election in the new twelfth district.

The old eleventh district gave Mr.
Powers a majority of over 10,000 and the coming election will set the pace to be followed hereafter in the new district.

With the splendid work done by Mr.
Powers in the last Congress, with the influence he has obtained for Massachusetts and his district at Washington it is the duty of every republican and every citizen of Newton to give him a rousing vote on November 4th.

Annual Dinner.

The annual dinner of the Claflin Guard Veteran Association will be held at the United States Hotel, Boston, next Thursday.

Prominent speakers are expected. The election of officers will take place at 6 o'clock.

Post Office Notes

In accordance with the recommendation of Assistant Superintendent White of the Salary and Allowance division of the first assistant postmaster general's office, it has been decided to establish full carrier stations at Newton Lower Falls and Waban from December 31st. These offices will be connected with Newton Centre and the free delivery service will be extended. Postmaster Early will be the superintendent, and postmaster Conant the clerk in charge. It has been suggested that the official designation of the Newton Lower Falls post office, after the consolidation takes effect, be the Lower Falls station.

Among Women.

The Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, will meet at the Newton Club house, Newtonville, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 28th. Papers will be read by Mrs. F. O. Stanley and Mrs. John F. Heckman.

The regular meeting of the W. C.
T. U. will be held Tuesday evening,
Oct. 21, at the home of Martha H.
Jackson, Court street, Newtonville.

City Hall Notes.

Registration closed on Wednesday evening, and the voting lists for the first time contain over 6000 names.
Over 600 names have been added this fall and close observers stated that fully two-thirds will probably vote the democratic ticket. The figures follow:

Political Notes.

Mr. S. P. Annis of Natick is the socialistic candidate for senator in this district.

THE SNIPE.

Much Lead is Wasted on the Artful Dodger at Migration Time.

The snipe, properly Wilson's snipe, Gallinago delicata, but commonly known as English snipe and wrongfully called half a dozen other names, is a widely distributed species. It visits every state at some season. Its northward migration extends within the arctic circle, while it is known to go southward to northern South America and the West Indies. Comparatively few of the birds which move northward from February until May breed south of the international line. It is quite true there are breeding grounds at various points of the northern states, but the great breeding range extends from latitude 42 degrees north to some undetermined point much nearer the pole than most sportsmen will venture.

Some time in September the first southbound birds pass below the Canadian grounds, and soon most of the suitable marshy bits of east and west have their share of long billed prizes.
Then begins an astonishing attack which extends from ocean to ocean and generally sweeps southward from Canada to California. Probably tons of lead, half of which is wasted, are fired at the artful dodger.—Edwyn Sandys in Outlook.

That Awful Boy Jones.

Fifty or more years ago "that awful boy Jones" was the torment of Queen Victoria's life, and his short career in public contains a mystery which would try the mettle of Sherlock Holmes.

He was a barber's apprentice who in some unexplained way discovered a passage into Buckingham palace, with which he alone was acquainted. When he was first found trespassing, he was gently admonished and sent home.
Soon after he was encountered again in the palace. He would not tell how he obtained access. Again he was sent home, and again he reappeared.

Once he calmly admitted that he had been lodging in the palace for a fortnight. He had laid snug during the day, sleeping in the royal apartments, and at night had wandered from room to room, helping himself to the food left over from royal repasts. He had seen the queen repeatedly and indeed had never been far from her.

The matter was considered so serious that the boy was summoned before a special meeting of the privy council.
He refused to give any account of his secret. Soon after he disappeared, and it is supposed that he was removed under state protection.

Promising For the Tenors.

Three tenors while strolling in Paris began to talk of their engagements for the coming season.

"Where are you two fellows going?"
asked one.

"I'm going to Rio Janeiro," answered
one of his companions.

"So am I," answered the other one.

"That's very queer," said the first speaker, "for I'm going there too."

They then compared notes and, finding that the same theatrical manager had engaged each of them, they called on him and asked for an explanation.

"I don't see why any of you should be dissatisfied," he replied. "I've engaged each of you because I don't want to be left without a tenor in Rio Janeiro. It is very probable that before you are acclimated there yellow fever will carry off two of you, and wouldn't I be in a nice fix then if I hadn't a third tenor on hand?"

At the Churches.

The Woman's Guild held a meeting at the Congregational church, West Newton, last Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Cooper of the Little Wanderers Home will have charge of the services Sunday evening at the Auburndale Methodist church at 7.30.
Some of the Little Wanderers will sing.

At the meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society held at the Baptist church, Newton Centre, last Tuesday afternoon the topic considered was "Immigration." Addresses were made by Mrs. S. A. Shannon, Mrs. R. P. Loring and Mrs. Orissa
George.

The officers of the Ladies' Benevolent Society of Immanuel Baptist church met at the home of Mrs.
George Hastings on Park street last Monday to plan the work for the winter.

Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the West Newton Unitarian church and Mrs. Jaynes will be tendered a reception in the parlors this evening.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Social Circle was held Wednesday afternoon at the Newton Methodist church. It was decided to hold a colonial fair December 3rd and 4th.
These officers were elected: Pres., Mrs. Ada Davidson; Vice Pres., Mrs.
Harry J. Fox; Sec., Miss Clara Cushman; Treas., Mrs. William Bliss.
After supper a literary and musical program was provided.

A sociable was held at the Universalist church, Newtonville, Thursday evening of last week. The program consisted of flute solos by Mr. R. D.
Grant; readings by Miss Anna J.
Lamphier, and a sketch entitled "Eliza's Bona Fide Opera," given by Miss Marion Fisher, Miss Marion Bassett, Miss Blanche Tomlinson and Miss Grace Curtis.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society connected with the Newton Methodist church held last week these officers were elected: Pres., Mrs. Albert Barber; Vice Pres., Mrs. George R. Grose; Rec. Sec., Mrs. J. W. Barber; Cor.
Sec., Mrs. Harry J. Fox; Treas., Mrs.
William Alexander. The officers of the foreign society are: Pres., Mrs. D. F.
Barber; Vice Pres., Mrs. Hugh Campbell; Sec., Mrs. Abbie A. Hannaford; Treas., Mrs. E. S. Leonard.
The foreign society collected for the year $201 and the home $185.

Clubs and Lodges.

making plans to observe its 10th anniversary on Tuesday evening, November 11th.

Newton Lodge, I. O. O. F. of West Newton will meet in Odd Fellows' hall next Thursday evening.

The new officers of Nonantum Colony Pilgrim Fathers, were installed last Monday evening in Newton by D. S. G. David Nelson and suite of Cambridge. Two changes were made from the original list: J.
P. Harrington being the new Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Addie Peck collector, in place of W. L. Stiles deceased. A collation was served by Wilbur.

Robinson-Waite

A smart fall wedding took place
Wednesday evening at the home of Henry E. Waite at 274 Otis street, West Newton, when his daughter, Miss Eleanor Johnson Waite became the bride of Drew King Robinson of New York.

The Waite residence was handsomely decorated with southern smilax, palms, asparagus vine and chrysanthemums.
The ceremony, which was witnessed by about 150 guests was performed by the Rev. Ozora S. Davis, pastor of the Central Congregational church of Newtonville.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with point lace and the customary tulle veil. Pinned at the throat was a brilliant sunburst of diamonds, the gift of the groom. She carried a large bouquet of bride roses.
Miss Lillian E. Robinson of New York, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and was costumed in cream satin trimmed with lace and festoons of sweet peas. Fletcher A. Robinson of New York, brother of the groom was the best man. The ushers were Edward B. Waite of West Newton,
Warren Curtis, Jr., of New York,
Dr. John G. Broughton of New York and Walter Jones of New York.
A reception from 8.30 to 10 followed and the couple was assisted by Mr.
and Mrs. Andrew J. Robinson of New York and Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Waite of West Newton. Music during the evening was furnished by an orchestra stationed behind a floral screen.
Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will reside in New York.

The Unitarian Club.

The first meeting of the Unitarian Club of the Channing church for the season of 1902-03, held in the parl ors of that church last evening was a red letter night in its history.

About 80 gentlemen partook of the substantial supper which was served in the banquet hall at 6.30. President Oliver M. Fisher and the invited guests occupying the head table.
After the cigars had been enjoyed the club adjourned to the church parlors where a large number of ladies were present, for the remainder of the program.

President Fisher in opening, stated in brief that it was the purpose of the club the coming season to enlarge its sphere and to take into membership, gentlemen from other parts of the city, as well as from Newton, and later in the evening some 28
new members were admitted, many of whom were from West Newton.

Mayor John W. Weeks was the principal speaker and gave an interesting address on Civic Affairs. He explained the reason for the higher cost of city government in Newton, attributing it to the unique geography of the municipality, and went into details as to the local demands and jealousies of the different villages. The mayor related interesting facts regarding the assessors, and roundly scored the otherwise honest citizens for their course towards these officials. In closing Captain Weeks urged a greater interest in city affairs by every taxpayer, and declared that only the best men should be sent to City Hall.

Rev. J. C. Jaynes spoke in a happy vein in regard to the enlarged scope of the club work, and was followed by Alderman George Hutchinson, who spoke earnestly on the person-nell of the city government. Mr.
Hutchinson believed that aldermen should have that experience which comes with a certain maturity of years, who could grasp intelligently a variety of subjects like finance, franchises and public improvements,
and who could devote as much time
as necessary to do the work properly.

Mr. George H. Ellis, one of the strongest men in the denomination, spoke briefly, yet forcefully on the example set by West Newton in city matters, and called attention to the samples present in Mayor Weeks and Alderman Hutchinson.

Rev. A. L. Hudson brought the speaking to a close in a graceful and eloquent speech.
During the evening, the Mendelsohn quartet sang "Annie Laurie,"
"My Old Kentucky Home," "Mrs.
Winslow's Southern Syrup," "Who Built the Ark," "Sweet Kentucky Dance," and the "Invitation to the Dance." The music was finely rendered and was received with much applause.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of an execution of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by William O. Cutter and Ethel G. Cutter in her own right, of Brookline, to the Bank River Savings Bank of South Yarmouth, Mass., dated June 28, 1900, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 282, page 68, for breach of the condition of said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing said mortgage, will be sold at Public Auction on the premises on Monday, the tenth day of November, 1902, at 12

Mitchell, was arrested last Tuesday at the North station, Boston, on complaint of Miss Annie M. of Kinnon of Walnut terrace, who has instituted a breach of promise suit against Birch, with an addendum of $20,000, and who alleged that he was about to leave the state. The warrant was served by Deputy Sheriff A. C. Tilden, and it is alleged that at the time of his arrest he was about to step aboard a train for Augusta, Me., where the plaintiff alleges he intended to marry Miss Dorothy May Snow of that city at noon Wednesday. Birch was taken before Judge Wentworth in the municipal court the same day and was released, on the ground that he did not intend to take up his abode outside the state. He convinced the court that his intention was to go to Augusta to be married, and that he intends to return with his bride to take up his residence in Newtonville. He promised to be on hand when wanted to answer as defendant in the breach of promise suit.

Best in the World.

Saying that Dr. Harrison's peristaltic Lozenges are superior to any other remedy for Constipation and its effects, isn't as effective as giving the reasons why they are superior: First, they have a record of having been in use for over 70 years by the best people. Second, they have been recommended by the most prominent physicians, who have used them in their own practice; also highly recommended by first class druggists. Third, every box sold gains a customer who recommends them with confidence to his friends and neighbors; and, lastly, not a single box has ever been returned by a dissatisfied purchaser during the 71 years they have been on the Drug Market. Established 1830.

Mr. Henry Adams, for many years connected with John H. Pray & Sons Co. is now located with George J. Bicknell, & Co. 80-82 Summer street, Boston, where he will be pleased to meet his friends and former patrons.

Ninety Years of Age

Sunday, the 12th day of October, the anniversary of the ninetieth birthday of Mrs. E. A. Farquhar was the occasion of a large gathering of some forty children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren at the house of her oldest son, Samuel Farquhar, at 28 Sargent street. Mrs. Farquhar, the widow of John Farquhar, lived at Newton Centre and later on Church street, Newton Corner, for many years, and was also a long resident of Holliston. All her children, old residents of Newton, were gathered with their families around her, Mrs. H. T. Bartlett of New York, Samuel Farquhar of Newton, Col. David W. Farquhar of Newton, Joseph Farquhar of Brookline, Rollin Farquhar of Boston, Charles S. Farquhar of Boston, Mrs. Charles H. Furber of Milton, also two of her sisters of Boston. During all these years Mrs. Farquhar has enjoyed excellent health and retains her mental faculties remarkably well. She is a constant reader of the daily papers, and takes great interest in public affairs. She attended the Baptist church regularly, and passed the last summer at her old home in Oxford, Me.

Carpets for Fall

Our experience has been that the refurnishing of houses chiefly takes place in the Fall—doubtless in preparation for the various social functions which come with the colder season.

Hence we are now displaying specially attractive Oriental Carpets and Rugs (the result of our buyer's recent trip abroad), Wilton and Brussels Carpets (both foreign and domestic), Linoleums, and a wide variety of other floor coverings in all grades.

Our Upholstery Department exhibits its customary choice assortment of Draperies and Furniture Stuffs.

THE YANADIS OF INDIA.

Some of the Peculiar Customs of This Queer Tribe.

In the Nellore district of the Madras presidency live the Yanadis, a strange tribe, as may be seen from a report which has been issued by the authorities of the Madras government museum. They live in forests and that they are little removed from savagery is indicated by the absence of implements of iron or of any other material, the primitive nature of their religion, the primitive hunting and fishing methods followed by many of the tribe and the habit of eating the almost raw flesh of the game they kill after slightly heating or scorching it. They are fearless in catching cobras, which they draw out of their holes without any fear of their fangs, and it is supposed that they protect themselves against the effects of snake bites by swallowing the poison sacs of the snakes. Especially singular is the manner in which they produce fire by friction. For this purpose they prepare two sticks, one short, the other long. In the former a square cavity is made, and it is held firmly in the ground while the long stick is twirled rapidly to and fro in the hole. Instead of charcoal powder they use rags or even dried leaves, which they find little difficulty in lighting.

Brougham and Muffed Port.

Lord Brougham, who as a member of the house of commons was a most abstemious man, upon his promotion to the peerage acquired less commendable habits. During his long and impassioned appeal to the lords to refrain from rejecting the reform bill of 1832 "five tumblers of mulled port, with a dash of brandy, were brought to him at intervals." When he came to his last sentence ("I warn you, I implore you—yea, on my bended knee I supplicate you—reject not this bill") he knelt on the woollack, whence he slipped to the floor. It is recorded in the "Lives of the Lord Chancellors" that "he remained some time as if in prayer, but his friends, alarmed lest he should be suffering from the effects of mulled port, picked him up and placed him safely on the woollack."

Attar of Roses.

In trade the rose is very valuable, as the attars of India and Persia sell at a very high price, and there are large districts of rose gardens in which men and women are employed, the harvest months being March and April. In Turkey also rose farming is largely carried on, and a very fine attar is got from the rose grown in Kashmir. Even rosewater is a luxury which is by no means to be despised as to price, but the attar of roses is immensely costly, and it takes an enormous number of flowers to distill even a few drops.

The attar is said to have been first discovered by the favorite wife of Jehan Jeer, through whose garden ran a canal of rosewater, on the surface of which the begum found a few drops of the precious attar or oil floating.

It Was Up.

There was a newly wedded pair whose honeymoon trip took them across the Atlantic. The bride had been something of a yachtswoman and was not affected by the swell, but her mate was a bad sailor and took to the rail late on the first day out. She did what she could to comfort him, but he was difficult. She thought a touch of the romantic might get him out of his mood, so she tried this:

"The moon is up; isn't it, darling?"

"Yes," he said languidly—"that is, if I swallowed it."—Philadelphia Times.

Tutinary Trees.

Ancient people had their tutinary trees just as they had their tutelary gods—the former being the altars and shrines of the latter. Among the Scandinavians the ash was held to be the most sacred tree. Serpents, according to their belief, dared not approach it. Hence the women left their children with entire confidence under its shade while they went on with their harvesting.—Gentleman's Magazine.

A Gentle Hint.

Lenders—Do you ever think of that "ten spot" you borrowed of me? Borrowers—Don't worry. I still have it in mind.

Lenders—Don't you think it about time you relieved your mind?—Exchange.

Valedictory.

"The paper was here to stay," writes a Georgia editor, "but it accidentally made money enough to leave."—Atlanta Constitution.

There's no possibility of being witty without a little ill nature. The malice of a good thing is the barb that makes it stick.—Sheridan.

Millions in It.

"Great invention Wormer got out, eh?"

"Haven't heard of it. What is it?"

"A rough shod cake of soap; warranted not to slide when you step on it."—New York Press.

The fresh young man walked into the restaurant and noticed a sign:

"This Counter For Clams and Oysters."

"Where is the counter for lobsters?" asked the young man.

"Oh, you can sit most anywhere," said the waiter.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

By the time the average man gets old enough to have good sense he is too contrary to make good use of it.—Chicago News.

The uglier you are the more amiable you should be.—Atchison Globe.

ROOM FOR ALL GRADUATES

Nature Adjunct Matters and Always Preserves an Equilibrium.

Once a year the schools and colleges of the country harvest a crop of graduates, and once a year the wise men of the land write essays for publication on the surplus of men who are entering the law, medicine and other callings that are open to the newcomers. If the wise men are to be believed, it would seem that all the occupations were filled and that the young man had arrived too late.

Fortunately for the tenderfoot, the wise men have always been wrong. No philosopher has ever presented a logical argument that did not leave something to be said on the other side. Every year since the world set up for business a new crop of young men has arrived, and that new crop has eventually become the stay of the race. What has been going on eternally will continue. The young chaps will locate themselves. It is no argument that lawyers have their signs staring at you from every hallway on half the streets within several blocks of every courthouse in the country. The harvest that includes a new lot of lawyers also raises a lot of new litigants. Nature takes care to preserve an equilibrium. If the fadegings of the medical schools do not find bones to eat, some of them turn to sawing wood. The boy who has gone through college with the intention of becoming president of the United States finds a satisfactory job as master of ceremonies in a coal yard. A few justices and the new man adjusts himself to circumstances, and then he has become a part of the machine, which runs on as usual.

It is unnecessary to become alarmed about the surplus man. If he is in law, medicine, theology, horse trading, peddling milk or anything else, he finds it out, and he arranges the matter in some way without any upheaval in society. The surplus man is surplus only until he gets his first job. After that he is one of the establishment.—Pittsburg Times.

SCIENCE SIFTINGS.

The sun's flames spring at times to a distance of 350,000 miles from its surface.

In dry air sound travels 1,442 feet per second, in water 4,900 feet and in iron 17,500 feet.

The amplitude of vibration of the diaphragm of the telephone receiver in reproducing speech is about the one-twenty-millionth of an inch.

Fresh air contains about three parts of carbonic acid in 10,000, respired air about 441 parts, and about five parts will cause the air of a room to become "close."

Photophone glass is a pressed glass resembling cut glass, having vertical prisms on the inside for diffusing the light and horizontal prisms on the outside for directing the light.

The following are found to be the densities of the planets, water being 1: Mercury, 3; Venus, 5.14; earth, 5.50; moon, 3.34; Mars, 4; Jupiter, 1.35; Saturn, 0.68; Uranus, 1.09; Neptune, 2.20.

The star Arcturus, the hottest of celestial bodies, gives us as much heat as a standard candle six miles away. This fact was ascertained by the radiometer, an instrument which will show the amount of heat given off from a man's face at 2,000 feet distance.

He Was "In the Soup."

"Mon ami," said the Marquis de Croisic the other day, "the hotel keeper's life is an unhappy one. If he does not look to the least little detail, the whole thing goes—what do you call it? Ah, yes, on the blink."

"Here is example of what I say. When I had the Logerott, there was once a dinner there at which Chauncey Depew was a guest. I told the chef to put in the menu some dish in honor of him, and I forgot to look at the menu before I went to the printer."

"What do you think that imbecile of a chef had done? There?"

And the marquis produced an old menu card on which among the "soups" appeared the following:

"Purée de moutons à la Depew."

Gently Sarcastic.

The following church notice was recently exhibited: "The service on Sunday morning is at 11 a. m. The supposition that it is ten minutes later is a mistake. Young men are not excluded from the week night service. The seats in the front portion of the church have been carefully examined. They are quite sound and may be trusted not to give way. It is quite legitimate to join in the singing. The object of the choir is to encourage, not discourage, the congregation."—London Answers.

Giving Her Light to Die.

A small farmer in Aberdeenshire, having a wife that had been long ill and confined to bed, was so ungenerally a disposition that he grudgingly the poor woman so much as a light. She in a pet one thing exclaimed, "Oh, I am in a pet one thing that a poor body 'll nae get light to see to die." The husband rises up and lights a candle and, placing it at the bed foot, says to his wife, "There, die hoo!"—Scottish American.

A Deep Look.

"Yes," said the lawyer, "there are many things to be investigated in this case. The first thing to be looked into—"

"Is my pocketbook," assented the client, with perfect assurance.—Judge.

IGNORANT OF GEOGRAPHY.

How a German Put Powers to an American Girl.

"A thing about Americans which has surprised me more than anything else," said a German artist who has been visiting in New York city for six months just, "is that with all your patriotism you know so little about the geography of your own country, to say nothing of the rest of the world."

There were several Americans in the circle, and they looked rather surprised. None of the men spoke. They knew that they were weak in geography and that there was a challenge which would have to pass.

Not so a bright young woman of twenty, who rushed into the breach with her head in the air.

"We do know the geography of our country," she said decidedly. "Of course we do. Every child learns it in school."

"Might I ask you a question or two?" the foreigner said quietly. "The names of the capitals of some of your states, for instance?"

"Certainly. I'll be glad to answer." And she nodded confidently at the young American man who was already beginning to fear for her.

"What is the capital of Massachusetts?" "Boston!" was the prompt answer from the girl.

"And of North Carolina?" That seemed to puzzle her a little, and it was a full minute before she answered "Charlotte!"

The foreigner smiled, but made no effort to correct her. "What is the highest mountain in the United States?" he asked.

"It's not fair to ask about mountains," she protested. "You said I didn't know the capitals."

"The capital of Illinois is?"

"Chil—Springfield, I mean."

"Of Montana?"

"For the life of her she could not think of a town in Montana. 'It's been an age since I studied geography,' she explained.

"Your answers were better than the average," said the man. "You got one right out of four. As I said, American geography surprises me."—New York Tribune.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

It is safer to prune too little than too much.

Moist earth and a cloudy day for transplanting.

Gooseberries and currants are two easily grown fruits, and there is seldom an oversupply.

The quality and size of fruit on old bushes is much improved by thinning of the fruit or severe pruning.

The cause of moss appearing on the stems of apple and other fruit trees is wet, cold, undrained land or an excessively humid climate.

In saving garden seed gather when ripe. Do not allow it to shell off. The first matured is the best, and the first matured will shell first.

A good mulch around fruit trees helps to keep down weeds, keeps the soil loose, moist and porous at all times, with little labor of cultivation.

The time of setting out of fruit trees is of far less importance than to see that the right varieties are selected, the soil prepared and transplanting well done.

Candles.

"I thought candles went with stage-coaches, but a good many people must use them yet," said a shopper who pointed to a collection of candlesticks, all of the utility sort, arrayed in a house furnishing department. There were big and little, ornamental and plain, practical and impractical ones. Some had broad trays, and others had none at all, and some had devices for lifting the candle, while others were made with deep necks. There still remain people who cling to the traditions of their ancestors and will have none of the modern lighting inventions for their sleeping rooms. Certain women prefer a light in their bedrooms until they are asleep, and for this purpose a candle is just the thing, for it will put itself out at the time proportioned to its length.—New York Tribune.

Saw No Reason For Swearing.

General Grant was asked why he never swore. He replied: "Well, when a boy I had an aversion to swearing. It seemed useless, an unnecessary habit, and besides I saw that swearing usually aroused a man's anger. I early had a desire to have complete command of myself. I noticed when a man got angry his opponent always got the better of him. On that account also I determined to refrain from swearing. Then the swearing men of my acquaintance when a boy were not the best men I knew. I never saw any reasons for swearing. All were against it."

Home Life in England and America.

The decay of the home life is to be attributed partially to the influence on society of the invasion of Americans.

In the United States home life is almost unknown. The meaning of the word "home," as understood to Britons, is a mystery to Yankees. To a certain extent we have always envied you your home life, and I certainly agree with some of your correspondents that it would be disastrous for your country to lose the elevating and refining influences of the home.—Anglo-American in London Mail.

To Improve the Horse.

If some owners of horses would spend more for feed and less for whips, they would have more spirited animals.—Atchison Globe.

Edward I. was 6 feet 2 inches high, and it is said that the tips of his mid die fingers extended below his knees.

Don't Procrastinate.

There is, after all, only a little time left to attend the great Mechanics Fair now being held in Boston. Don't by any possible error let anything prevent every one going.

Never before has such a wonderful Mechanics Fair been held. At no time in the history of this well-known organization has there been brought together, at one time, such a marvelous display of what the handiwork of a man can bring forth.

Beside the instructing and interesting exhibits in the manufacturing lines, there may be seen this year at Mechanics Building, every day, many attractive and novel features. There is continually going on the most unique of entertainments. Every day there are lectures being given by prominent women under the auspices of the Woman's Department. There are wonderful and beautiful scenic reproductions to be seen, and if the Fair was a genuine circus the different entertainments that are presented continually, as well as the continual performances of vaudeville, to say nothing of the concerts by the best bands that can be procured, make it the best show on earth. Remember twenty-five cents admits one to everything.

Special excursion rates are being made by railroads all over the country. Ask your local station agent what doing from here.

Above all don't delay and don't miss visiting this exhibition this year.

Unstinted Praise

It would be interesting to anyone to stand at the Sulpho-Naphthol booth at the Mechanic's Fair and hear the expressions of appreciation of the value of Sulpho-Naphthol from the many men and women who are constantly passing. "I cannot get along without it." "I think it is the best disinfectant I ever used." "It cleans better than any soap or powder." "It is the nicest thing to use for a cut, burn, sore, sprain or inflammation." This and much more may be overheard any day. It is an indication of great merit and shows how highly Sulpho-Naphthol is esteemed by housekeepers.

Death of Pliny Nickerson.

Pliny Nickerson, aged 86, an old and respected resident of this city, for the last 12 years, died early Tuesday morning at his home 173 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, from heart disease.

He was born in South Harwich in 1816 and his father was Capt. Amasa Nickerson, a well known sea captain in the early days of the New England shipping industry.

When a young man, Pliny Nickerson came to Boston and entered the shipping business in partnership with the late Thomas Nickerson of Newton Centre. For many years the firm carried on one of the most extensive trades in New England.

During his long residence in Boston he was widely known in business circles and prominent in public affairs. In the early 60s he represented his district in the state legislature. He was one of the five men who founded the Boston Y. M. C. A.

He was the oldest vice president of the Boston penny savings bank, and was director or trustee of several similar institutions.

He was a prominent member of the Tremont street Methodist church, Boston.

Up to within a few years he was a trustee of Boston University, to which institution he gave freely of his wealth. He was a trustee for many years of the home for Little Wanderers.

A wife and seven children survive him, four sons and three daughters.

Police Paragraphs.

Police headquarters were notified Saturday afternoon that the 15 car loads of coal at the West Newton freight yard were being raided by men, women and children armed with pails, baby carriages and potato sacks. About three tons of coal were removed before the police arrived and explained that the coal was intended for the school houses and the city buildings. The cars were guarded that night.

One of the largest shifts in the police department of this city for a number of years took place on Wednesday: The men are shifted as follows: Patrolman W. C. Allen to Lower Falls, Chas. Tainter to Auburndale, Fred E. Elwell to Auburndale, Horace Bailey to Newtonville, Maurice F. Kiley to Auburndale, John H. Shaughnessy to Newton Centre, Wm. H. Condrin to Nonantum, Thos. L. Dolan to West Newton, Chas. R. Young to Nonantum, Henry L. Bates to West Newton, Rufus H. Moulton to Newton Centre, Richard T. Taffe to Newton Highlands, Wm. P. Soule to Newton, John W. Quilty to Lower Falls, R. H. Dalton to West Newton, J. H. Seaver to Newtonville.

An attempt was made to burglarize the house of Dr. F. M. O'Donnell, Newtonville, last Tuesday morning. The family were awakened however, and the men escaped without any plunder.

The arrest of Erasmus E. Beach, a deserter from the U. S. navy last week brought to light a romance between the young man and Miss Anna Belle Stevenson of California street, Nonantum. Miss Stevenson has sheltered her lover from arrest for some weeks, but when her father was arrested on the charge of shielding a deserter she gave way and helped the officers to her lover. He was arrested and taken to the navy yard.

—Mrs. Jane Ward of Lincoln street, reported to the police that her house was entered some time Wednesday evening and a valuable clock taken from the sideboard in the dining room.

—The Ladies' Aid Society met with Mrs. A. H. Willis on Windsor road last Wednesday. The society has let its military whist outfit to the Thimble Club of Middleboro for a whist party there next month.

—The marriage of Miss Vivian May Norris to Mr. Laurence H. Parker of Newtonville took place Tuesday at noon in the Church of the Good Shepherd. Rev. William Hall Williams officiated. Owing to a recent death in the bride's family the wedding was very quiet only the immediate families being present. The couple will spend a short honeymoon at "Sunny Side," the beautiful summer home of the bride in Warren, Mass., and will then take up their abode in Middleboro.

DEMOCRATS

Rally at Temple Hall, Newtonville.

Speeches by Col. Gaston, F. J. Stimson and Others.

A Democratic rally in the interests of Col. William A. Gaston and other candidates on that party's ticket was held last evening in Temple Hall, Newtonville, and was attended by about 300 voters. The tariff, trusts, and reciprocity with Canada were the principal topics touched on by the speakers.

William H. Mague of the state central committee presided as chairman.

Charles S. Hamlin in his speech sharply criticised the position of Senator Lodge on the Alaskan boundary question and advocated free industrial relations.

Mr. F. J. Stimson, candidate for congress, said:

"To begin with, you gentlemen of Newton will ask me why I expect you to throw your votes away from your friend and neighbor, Mr. Powers. As a lawyer I cannot claim to be more able than he is; as an orator, more eloquent; as a politician, I am not so experienced."

"It is because in this contest I have a better client."

"I am anxious to do Congressman Powers all justice, and I go on with his defence. It amounts to just this. On the matter of free hides, free coal, free iron, free lumber, etc., Mr. Powers hopes that he may again vote for the interests of Massachusetts, but says his party never will. Then, gentlemen, vote for the party that will. Mr. Powers does hope that he may never vote against the interests of Massachusetts, but implies that his party will. Then, gentlemen, vote for the party that won't."

Col. William A. Gaston, when called to the platform, was received with cheers, at the close of which he made a short address, setting forth a number of reasons why one should vote for the democratic ticket.

James E. Shea, candidate for state senator gave his attention to the tariff and in speaking of its relation to labor, stated that a lower tariff meant a greater consumption of goods, and this means a demand for more labor. He also paid a glowing tribute to John Mitchell, declaring that his defence of the mine workers had endeared him to the heart of every man who has to work for a livelihood.

Edward Everett Brown of Boston, a colored speaker, severely arraigned the republican party for what he declared was its hypocritical policy, not only toward his race, but toward all the races in the country.

Others who spoke were Dr. Samuel L. Eaton of Newton Highlands and F. M. Dutch of West Newton, candidates for representatives.

Police Paragraphs.

Mr. Clifford Taylor of Grant avenue, Newton Centre, lost a bicycle last Saturday while at the foot ball game on Cedar street.

Officer B. F. Burke stopped a runaway horse opposite police headquarters last Monday.

Huntings Express team collided with the carriage of Mrs. Chester Guild in Nonantum square last Tuesday, the carriage wheel and axle being injured.

A bad runaway took place Wednesday night on Washington street, near Adams street, in which a horse and buggy owned by a Mr. Scott of Brighton were the chief participants. The buggy was demolished and the horse ran through Washington and Galen streets to Watertown.

J. H. Christie of Washington street, Newtonville, who injured his right leg in some manner was taken to the Newton hospital on Wednesday.

Blake-Drake.

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season took place at Cleveland, Ohio, last Wednesday evening, when Miss Clara Allen Drake became the wife of Edmund Mortimer Blake of Boston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Donald M. Grant at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Drake, 1200 Wilson avenue.

The best man was Herbert Haller of New York, a Harvard friend of the groom. At the wedding supper the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Drake, Mrs. Percy M. Blake, the groom's mother, of Newtonville, and his sister, Mrs. Andrew A. Highlands of Newtonville.

After a six weeks' wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Blake will be at home in Newtonville.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Track Connections Authorized with Boston Elevated Company at Lake Street.

New Schoolhouse Desired at the Upper Falls—Routine Business.

The regular meeting of the board of aldermen was held on Monday evening, President Weed in the chair. Aldermen Baker, Barber, Brown, Bowen, Carter, Day, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Lothrop, Mellen, Norris, Pond, Saltonstall, Trowbridge, Webster were present, it being the first appearance of Alderman Bowen.

At the hearing upon taking of land for sewer in Chilton place, Mr. C. R. Brown representing the Trustees of the Methodist church, the parsonage of which abuts on Chilton place, entered a vigorous remonstrance, saying it would only benefit one individual, who can connect his houses by a private sewer. Mr. Brown said the church had no rights in this private way, which was some two feet higher than their land.

Mr. J. D. Coward said he objected to the sewer and did not see why he should be assessed for the benefit of private individuals.

Mr. L. P. Everett was in favor of the sewer, saying that there were two houses and four families to be served and suggesting that the assessment on the parsonage was but $11.50. He believed the benefits of the sewer should be extended and said that every cesspool removed was a public convenience.

Mr. Coward then submitted a letter from J. A. McKenzie objecting to the sewer and the hearing was closed. At the hearing upon the petition of the Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway Company for track connections, etc., with the Boston Elevated at Lake street, Mr. C. A. Hight appeared for the company and stated the object of the petition was to give through service to Boston. He said that his company has a contract with the Elevated Co., has arranged for the service and has ordered a large number of new cars for this work. The Elevated Co. has already received the right from Boston to make the changes on that side of the line and his company only waits the action of Newton.

In reply to questions, Mr. Hight said that cars would be run on less than 15 minute time, but he was unable to say by which route. His company did not believe they should be called upon to pay for changes in the street but if the expense was no larger than that estimated by the City Engineer ($350) they would not object.

Alderman Trowbridge said that the changes required would be the widening of the reserved space, and slight changes in the loam border and sidewalk.

The hearing was then closed and the matter referred to the Committee on Public Franchises with permission to sit during the evening for immediate consideration.

The mayor submitted the petition of F. J. Hale et al for 12 rooms at the Upper Falls in place of the present Wade school and it was referred to the Committee on Public Works. Similar action was taken on petitions of H. G. Ruhe et al for a sewer in Prince street; of Geo. Haywood for sewer in Simms court, and on petition of Eliza Philbrick et al for crossing over car tracks at Boylston and Jackson streets.

Petition of G. L. Foristall et al for a street light on Morsefield avenue was referred to the street commissioner.

Petitions of Anna F. Ritchie for rebate on sewer assessment on Prospect street and from James Quirk for damages to Cornelius Quirk were referred to the committee on Claims.

Petitions of the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. for pole locations on Boylston and Chapel streets, and of the N. & W. Gas Light Co. for pole locations on Boylston, Alden streets and Berkeley road were referred to the Committee on Public Franchises and hearings ordered for Oct. 29 at 8 p. m.

The petition of Violet Davis for transfer of an intelligence office license from Adams street to Quirk court was referred to the same committee.

Petitions of Wiley S. Edmunds for an Auctioneer license, of N. A. J. Harding to move a building from Hammond street to Deerfield road, and of F. L. Rogers for transfer of a pool room license at Newton Centre were granted without reference.

On the petition of B. S. Hatch for license for a horse power gasoline engine on Webster street, a hearing was ordered for Nov. 3 at 8 p. m.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

These reports were received: FINANCE: Recommending grant of $63,053.13 for city expenses to Nov. 15; approving $150 for water main in Chaske avenue, and recommending transfer of $200 from Soldiers' Relief to Indigent Soldiers and Sailors.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES: Recommending granting N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. pole locations on Walnut street, Ward 2, and Brookline street, and attachments on Mt. Vernon street and Walnut street, Ward 5.

PUBLIC WORKS: Recommending $1.00 for water main in Chaske avenue and the laying out of Northgate park.

RULES, ETC.: Recommending change in ordinances relating to the Library, relative to City Hall employees, relative to expenditure of appropriations, and relative to speed of horses and vehicles.

These committee reports were accepted: PUBLIC FRANCHISES: Recommending leave to withdraw on petition of Kool Shug for license for a German band.

PUBLIC WORKS: Recommending leave to withdraw on petition for laying out of Hobart road.

A recess was then taken to allow the Committee on Public Franchises to meet and upon re-assembling, the report of the Public Franchise committee favorable to the petition of the Commonwealth avenue street railway company for track connections at Lake street was received.

In presenting the order granting this location, Alderman Trowbridge explained that Commonwealth avenue at this point had two roadways, one 24, the other 30 feet in width. The additional tracks will extend outside of the reserved space several feet, and the committee deem it best to widen the reserve space, sufficiently to include these tracks. This will reduce the width of the south roadway but by narrowing the loam border and the sidewalk, the net loss of roadway is but 3 feet. Alderman Trowbridge urged immediate action in order to give the through service to Boston for this section of the city as soon as possible. The plans were then examined by the board and the order after being slightly amended was unanimously adopted.

These orders were also adopted: Granting $63,053.13 for city expenses to Nov. 15, authorizing water main in Chaske avenue, transferring $200 from Soldiers' Relief to Indigent Soldiers and Sailors, assigning hearing Nov. 3 on laying out of Northgate park, and granting N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. pole locations on Brookline street, Walnut street, (Ward 2), and attachments on Mt. Vernon street and Walnut street (Ward 5).

Ordinances amending ordinance relating to the Library, amending ordinance relating to speed of horses and vehicles, relative to City Hall employees and amending ordinance relative to expenditure of appropriations were read twice, passed to be enrolled and referred to the Committee on Rules, etc.

Alderman Brown announced that the Committee on Rules, etc., would give a public hearing Monday, Oct. 27th at 7.45 p. m. at City Hall on the matter of reorganizing the assessing department and invited the members of the board and the public to be present. And the board at 9.30 o'clock adjourned.

Letter to E. P. Hatch West Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir: The late President of the Croton River Bank, at Brewsters, N. Y., built the finest house in all that region, in 1884, and painted it with lead and oil at a cost of $400—the house cost $31,000.

In 1887—three years—he repainted it with Devco at a cost of $350. In 1897 this paint was in good condition. Lead and oil, $400, three years. Devco $350, ten years.

Yours truly, F. W. Briggs & Co. P. S. J. M. Briggs & Son, Newton; W. E. Tomlinson, West Newton, and McWain & Son, Newton Centre, sell our paint.

Political Notes.

In the list of college men who intend to support Gaston for governor we note the names of R. S. Gorham of West Newton, W. H. Aspinwall, G. D. Burrage, T. W. Proctor and E. S. Webster of Chestnut Hill and Chas. A. Stone of Newton.

The Socialist Party will hold a rally next Monday evening, Oct. 27th, at eight o'clock, in Lincoln hall, Newton Highlands. The meeting will be addressed by Dr. Howard A. Gibbs and by Sumner P. Annis. The latter is the regular Socialist candidate for State Senator in the First Middlesex district.

Slayton-Clifford.

Miss Margaret A. Clifford, daughter of Charles B. Fillebrown of Newton, and John Charles Fremont Slayton of Melrose were married Monday evening at the home of the bride, 230 Bellevue street.

The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by Rev. C. H. Leonard, dean of Tufts College, assisted by Rev. C. Ellwood Nash, president of Lombard University, Galesburg, Ill.

The bride was gown in ivory duchesse satin trimmed with cluny lace. She was attended by Miss Louise M. Slayton of Melrose, who wore white satin. Miss Mary Louise Murray of Chicago, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and the ribbon girls were Miss Barbara Keith, Miss Adelaide Chase, Miss Eleanor Keith and Miss Dorothy Willis.

The bridesmaids, four in number, were gown in lavender crepe de chine and in yellow crepe de chine with chiffon trimmings. They were Miss Mary P. Metcalf, of West Newton, Miss Grace Nickerson of Boston, Miss Clara L. Baxter of Quincy and Miss Caroline F. Humphrey of Cambridge. The best man was James A. Neal of Boston.

Following the ceremony a largely attended reception was held. The parlors were adorned with white chrysanthemums and southern smilax. During the evening music was furnished by members of the Symphony orchestra.

From 7.30 until 10 Mr. and Mrs. Slayton received, assisted by Mrs. George M. Murray, Miss Louise M. Slayton, C. B. Fillebrown and Ralph Slayton. The ushers were George M. Murray of Chicago, Nathaniel B. Buxton of Woonsocket, Lucius C. Smith of Malden, Lewis D. Humphrey of Cambridge, Leonard H. Field Jr., of Boston and Frederic Plummer of Auburndale. Mr. and Mrs. Slayton will reside in Melrose, after a wedding trip abroad for two months.

VIRGINIA SWALLOWWORT.

Its Beautiful Blossoms Are Pitfalls For Bees and Bugs.

Honey bees and insects and bugs of less degree find pitfalls and often death in the beautiful blossoms of the milkweed, otherwise known as the Virginia swallowwort. If these flowers are examined any sunny day, one will be pretty sure to find them decorated with a miscellaneous assortment of struggling or dead insects with their legs fast in the silts of the peculiar blossoms. The pollen of this common plant, instead of being a powder, as in the case of most plants, consists of sticky, waxy masses hidden within the blossom. When a visiting insect thrusts a proboscis or leg into the opening of such a flower, some of these masses stick to it, and the natural course is for the insect to fly off to another flower and fertilize this with the adhering pollen. All insects, however, are not strong enough to extricate their legs from the sticky places, and then ensues the slow torture of hanging there until death or a helping hand releases them from misery. Besides being beautiful, it could be quite a useful plant if we cared to develop its virtues. Thus its milky juice contains caoutchouc. Brown sugar has been made from the flowers. The silky hairs of the seeds are serviceable in the manufacture of textile fabrics, as cotton is, and a fiber of good quality for ropemaking may be extracted from the stalk.

The London Silly Season.

"Always at the beginning of August," says Sydney Brooks, "the editor of each London daily casts about for a subject that will 'fetch' the great British public and fill the correspondence column, such as 'Is Marriage a Failure?' 'The Decay of Domesticity,' 'English Versus American Women?' 'Why Don't Young Men Marry?' 'Should Women Work?' or 'Are We Improvident?' A member of the paper's staff will write a letter to the editor opening the ball. Another member will reply to him. Instantly from Clapham and Brixton and throbbing provincial households there sets in a steady stream of letters—all genuine and argumentative and for the most part quite appallingly earnest. It is a most curious phenomenon, such, I suppose, as no other country can show. For thousands of men and women these annual discussions would seem to be their one chance of really opening their hearts and minds to the world, and a very strange spectacle they make when opened, the minds especially. No one who really wanted to study England could ignore these debates. They throw more than a little light on the English character and the average English intelligence."

Chinese Etiquette.

The polite Chinaman will always refer to himself in deprecatory terms. This trait of Chinese etiquette is aptly expressed in one of their own tales, in which a visitor is represented as calling in his best clothes and seated in the reception room awaiting the arrival of his host. A rat that had been prying in a jar of oil on a raft above, frightened at the intrusion of the caller, ran away and in so doing upset the oil jar, which fell on the visitor, saturating his elegant robes with oil. Just as the face of the guest was purple with rage the host entered, when the proper salutations were performed, after which the guest proceeded to explain the situation. "As I entered your honorable apartment and seated myself under your honorable beam I inadvertently terrified your honorable rat, which fled and upset your honorable oil jar upon my insignificant person, which is the reason of my contemptible appearance in your honorable presence."

Unjustly Punished.

A friend of mine returning to camp after a day's shooting, says a writer in Navy and Army, suddenly came in sight of a big she bear with two cubs following in single file proceeding along a ridge, the forms of the three being sharply silhouetted against the sky. It was a very long shot, but he determined to try it, so drew a bead on the old she bear and fired. The result was curious. The procession stopped, the she bear scratched herself hastily, then turned around and regarding the cub immediately behind with grave disapproval, boxed its ears soundly and then went trundling on along the ridge, evidently under the impression that her frolicsome offspring had been up to some unusually objectionable tricks.

Satirical.

"Did you know," said the young man who tried to pose as a bandy volume of information, "that there was a time when it was considered a crime for a man to kiss his wife on Sunday?" "Indeed!" rejoined Miss Cayenne. "And now there are a number of instances in which it would probably be looked on more as a penance."—Washington Star.

COACH AND FAMILY HORSES.

The finest lot of high class horses ever exhibited for sale in New England. They were all selected with great care, have been carefully broken, handled and driven regularly, so that they are fitted for use in the city and country. Beautifully matched coach and family pairs, cobs, single drivers and saddlers, all at reasonable prices. Why not buy of a thoroughly responsible firm who have been in business for more than 20 years, and who can show a better list of regular customers and references than any dealers in New England. Our policy is, where we sell a horse and it does not give perfect satisfaction, to take it back and give another equally as good, without any additional charge. We can give the very best references. Funeral of Pliny Nickerson

The funeral of Pliny Nickerson, formerly at the head of one of the largest ship owning firms in Boston, was held at 2.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the family residence, 173 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, and was largely attended. There were present delegates representing the various institutions with which deceased was connected including Boston University, Boston Y. M. C. A., Boston Wesleyan Association, home for Little Wanderers and Boston Penny Savings Bank.

The body rested in a handsome broadcloth casket which was nearly hidden from view by the numerous floral tributes.

The services were opened with Scripture reading by Rev. C. E. Davis of the Tremont street Methodist church, Boston, after which a male quartet led by Geo. J. Parker of Boston, rendered "Still, Still With Thee." The eulogy was pronounced by Rev. L. T. Townsend, and prayer was offered by Rev. Thos. W. Bishop of Newton Highlands Methodist church. The solo "Passing Out of the Shadow," was rendered by Geo. W. Want of Boston, the services closing with "Gathering Home," sung by the quartet.

At the close of the services the body was taken to South Harwich, Mr. Nickerson's birthplace, where it was interred Monday in the family lot.

The Value of a Struggle.

It is a curious fact in the history of nations that only those which have had to struggle the hardest for an existence have been highly successful. As a rule the same thing is true of men. One would think that it would be a great relief to have the bread and butter problem solved by one's ancestors so that one might devote all his energies and time to the development of the mental and spiritual faculties. But this is contrary to the verdict of history and the daily experience of the world. The strugglers, those born to a heritage of poverty and toil and not those reared in the lap of fortune, have, with a few exceptions, been the leaders of civilization, the giants of the race.—Success.

A Straight Tip.

Little Boy—I say, mamma says you are going to take sister away.

Engaged Young Man (soon to be married)—Yes, in a few weeks she's coming to my home, and my mamma and papa will be her mamma and papa.

Little Boy—I see. Then she'll be your sister same as she was mine. But, I say, don't you do anything she doesn't like, for, if you do, she'll bang you about awfully when your mamma and papa ain't looking.

The Millionaire.

Little Dot—I know something my teacher doesn't know.

Mamma—Indeed! What is that? "I know when the world is coming to an end and she doesn't. I asked her and she said she didn't know."

"Oh, well, who told you?"

"Uncle John. He said the world would come to an end when children stopped asking questions that nobody could answer."

Geraldine's Preference.

Mother—If you are a good girl, Geraldine, I will consent that you shall have another piece of cake.

Geraldine—I would prefer, maw, that you should make that indulgence dependent on the cake's being good.—Richmond Dispatch.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

PARK THEATRE, Oct. 27—"Faust."

MUSIC HALL, Oct. 27—"The Volunteer Organist."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, Oct. 27—"Winchester."

COLUMBIA THEATRE, Oct. 27—"The Defender."

BOSTON MUSEUM—"A Message From Mars."

Grand Opera House—The attraction at the Boston Grand Opera House next week is the new war play, by the new author, Edward McWade, and appropriately named "Winchester." It is a romance of Virginia in 1863. It is in five acts. The comedy is bright and has a natural sparkle that is refreshing, while the melodramatic dashes are frequent, and strong enough to please the most exacting lover of melodrama. The cast is very strong, culled from the very best. Special scenery will be included. Two thoroughbred horses, including the wonderful jumper "Maz-eppa" are used in the play. The management has spared no expense in making this a first class production.

Park Theatre—Preparations for the elaborate revival of "Faust" by Corae Payton's stock company at the Park Theatre have been in progress for some time, and it will begin a run of one week only next Monday, Oct. 27. The stage settings and effects will be in every way complete, the costumes will be strikingly appropriate, and the entire production will be notable for its beauty and effectiveness. Marguerite will be played by Una Abel Brinker, and the cast will require the services of Mr. Payton's entire company. It should be remembered that afternoon performances are given every day at the Park Theatre, thus offering ladies and children an opportunity to see Mr. Payton's productions without the inconvenience and discomfort sometimes attendant upon going to the theatre in the evening. The prices, moreover, range from ten to thirty cents in the afternoon, and from ten to fifty cents in the evening. The entertainments are first class in every respect, fully equal in many ways to those furnished by higher price theatres. The close of the performance next Tuesday afternoon, the weekly reception and tea will be held on the stage at the close of the performance. Week after next, "Josephine Empress of the French" will be the attraction.

opening night and it is a common sight for late comers to find the "House Sold Out" sign conspicuously displayed over the box office window. Next Monday afternoon comes "The Volunteer Organist," which visits Boston for the first time this season and which is certain to attract large audiences who delight in pleasing comedy and stirring episodes. The reports which precede the coming of this attraction speak of it in terms of the highest praise and the play has met with unequalled success wherever it has been seen. The play is elaborately staged, the company carrying everything used in the production. The principal scene shows the interior of a large church with its choir gallery and organ loft and in this act occurs one of the most startling features of the play. The company is a large one and is said to be first class in every respect. The engagement is for one week only, with the regular daily matinees at two o'clock and the evening performances at eight.

Columbia Theatre—The Columbia Theatre has opened its regular season with a musical extravaganza that is undoubtedly one of the most magnificent mounted pieces that has ever been played in Boston, both scenic and costume effects being on a lavish scale that few producers outside of Manager Chamberlyn would dare attempt. "The Defender" by Allen Lowe, the well known newspaper man, and Chas. Dence, of the Conservatory of Music, was originally produced at this house last spring, and withdrawn at the height of its success to fill previous bookings in New York and other large cities. That this gorgeous production, representing as it does an enormous expenditure of time, energy and money closely approaching the $40,000 mark, has fulfilled the expectations of the management is a matter of theatrical history. The company could not be bettered. Each individual member of the big cast is so excellently adapted to their respective roles that it would be hard to generalize. The

SCENE FROM "A MESSAGE FROM MARS"—BOSTON MUSEUM SHOWING MR. HAWTREY'S INSTANTANEOUS CHANGE FROM A GENTLEMAN TO A TRAMP

Boston Museum—There is now being offered at the Boston Museum one of the best, most interesting, most attractive and wholesome entertainments that have ever graced its historic stage. This is the comedy drama, "A Message from Mars," and it is introduced, under the auspices of Charles Frohman, by the distinguished London actor-manager, Charles Hawtreys and his own company. In Boston it has been received with equal enthusiasm by both the public and the press. Its story is that of the reformation of a selfish man, through the visit to him, in a dream, of a Messenger from Mars. The unearthly visitor takes the hero amid scenes of misery and suffering, and making through his magic power walls open, discloses his friends careless and indifferent to his own misfortunes. When even then not reformed, the Messenger changes him instantly into a beggar. This momentary transformation is one of the cleverest pieces of stage illusion ever seen. All the scenery is replete with novel and striking mechanical effects. Mr. Hawtreys is one of the most delightful and convincing actors that England has ever sent us. "A Message from Mars" cannot fail to exercise a good influence upon all who witness it, and one of its most potent qualities is that it enforces its lesson in so amusing and interesting a way, without any attempt to sermonize. It appeals to every heart and mind, and tears and laughter, in rapid alternation, accompany its progress.

Boston Music Hall—Business at the Boston Music Hall, under the management of Messrs. Stair and Wilbur, has been of "standing room only" proportions almost since the evening performance begins promptly at eight and the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees at two o'clock.

Bijou Opera House—An amateur musical event which is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest is "The Musical Garden Party" which will take place Oct. 27th, at the Bijou Opera House. The chorus includes 80 trained voices selected from the Handel and Haydn Society, the Dorchester Choral Society and the various church choirs about Boston. The company has been carefully rehearsed for the past three months, under the able direction of Herbert Forest Odell, well known in the production of amateur affairs. The Zambra Ladies' Mandolin Club and the Old Cambridge Male Quartet will also appear, and the regular orchestral music will be furnished by the well known Odell Orchestra. Among the musical numbers on the program will be "Fads of the Day" written by Mr. Odell, which will be sung by eight young ladies and eight young gentlemen in appropriate costumes. "The Semi-Demure Maidens" written by the stage manager, W. I. Dolbear, which will be sung by eight young ladies in magnificent costumes and the "Waltz Serenade," from the new three act comic opera "Atlantis" book by Wm. H. Gardner, music by H. F. Odell, will be sung by the chorus of 80 voices and an additional orchestra of 30 mandolins and guitars and the regular orchestra.

Mr. Henry Adams, for many years connected with John H. Pray & Sons Co. is now located with George J. Bicknell, & Co. 80-82 Summer street, Boston, where he will be pleased to meet his friends and former patrons.

Of the periodic pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from disease. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. T. Dolan, of Madrid, Perkins Co., N.Y., writes: "I was cured of painful periods by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and his Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla. I think Dr. Pierce's medicine the best in the world."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Annual Meeting.

The anniversary meetings of the Claffin Guard Veteran Association are always interesting occasions, and the 32d annual dinner at the United States Hotel last night was especially so.

At the business meeting held before the dinner, these officers were elected: President, Capt. Albert C. Warren; 1st Vice Pres., Capt. Walter E. Lombard; 2d Vice Pres., George S. Parker; Sec'y, Lt. Col. R. B. Edes; Treas., Edw. J. Leland.

The dinner was held at 7.30 o'clock and enlivened by the fine music rendered by Harris' orchestra.

President Richard Cunningham was toastmaster, and after the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" for President Roosevelt, and of "Hail to the Chief" for Gov. Crane, introduced ex-Mayor Bothfeld to speak for the City of Newton.

Mr. Bothfeld gave an interesting address on city affairs and was followed by Commander C. S. Oner of the Grand Army, Capt. Springer for the Claffin Guard, and Judge Kennedy for the veteran members.

The speaking closed with an interesting address on the army in the Philippines by Capt. Lindsey of the 43rd U. S. Vols.

Among those present were Pres. Richard Cunningham, Col. R. B. Edes, Capt. A. C. Warren, Hon. H. E. Bothfeld, Capt. G. C. Applin, G. S. Parker, Judge J. C. Kennedy, F. H. Colligan, W. B. Colligan, Bert Kilburn, Capt. Springer, J. I. Farwell, C. S. Oner, A. A. Balcom, F. A. Barrows, J. B. Dugan, R. Fork-nall, E. I. Leland, Lieut. F. P. Barnes, G. H. Marvin, A. C. Wiswall, Lieut. R. S. Cording, M. C. Lafie, C. H. Ireland, Capt. W. E. Lombard, Wm. Warren, Lieut. G. F. Guilford, Capt. A. C. Walworth and Capt. Lindsey.

Mr. Henry, T. Bailey, agent on the part of the State Board of Education for the promotion of Industrial Drawing, is to deliver an address before the Newton teachers on Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 3 p. m. in the hall of the Claffin school at Newtonville. The school board have given the superintendent the authority to omit the afternoon session of the schools on that day on this account.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Warren H. Day, pastor of the First Congregational church. The wedding trip was to San Diego, Lower California, and the Yucatan, Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were former well known residents of this place. Mr. Johnson was in the banking business previous to his removal to California, and is now following the same business in Los Angeles.

Death of Marcus Morton.

Mr. Marcus Morton, a well known citizen of West Newton, died late Tuesday evening at the Newton hospital, where he had recently undergone an operation for intestinal trouble. He was a native of Arlington and was for many years engaged in the piano manufacturing business in Boston. For the past few years he had devoted himself to the real estate and insurance business in West Newton. He was president of the West Newton Co-operative Bank.

In 1899 Mr. Morton was elected alderman from Ward 3 on the Democratic ticket, an unusual distinction in a city so strongly Republican as Newton. He was 69 years of age and is survived by a widow, one son and one daughter.

Services will be held from his late residence on Elm street this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mason-Bailey.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Bailey on Cabot street last Wednesday evening occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Sarah Frances Bailey and Mr. Clifford Sanborn Mason. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Edward F. Snell, pastor of the West Newton Baptist church. The bride who was unattended was given away by her father, and the best man was Mr. George A. Mason of Cambridge, brother of the groom.

Miss Evelyn Bailey, sister of the bride, played the wedding march. At the reception which followed Mr. and Mrs. Mason were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bailey, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Mason of Falmouth, parents of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Mason will reside at Springfield, where Mr. Mason holds a responsible position with the Knox Automobile Company.

NONANTUM.

An alarm from box 241 Tuesday afternoon was for a small blaze in the house of Mrs. Sarah Saybrook on Adams street. The cause was children playing with matches.

FOOT BALL.

DARTMOUTH WINS FROM WILLIAMS ON CEDAR STREET GROUND.

Over 6000 foot ball enthusiasts were attracted to the Cedar street grounds last Saturday afternoon for the annual game between Dartmouth and Williams.

The grand stands were crowded and the crowd completely surrounded the gridiron.

The Boston and Albany ran a special train to Newton Centre and the street railway company provided ample service.

The game was one sided, Dartmouth winning 18 to 0, but was interesting to watch. Before and during the game began the akira with canes, buttons, peanuts and cigars were very much in evidence. The two congressmen, "Sam" Powers and "Sam" McCall were the observed of all observers. The band brought by the Dartmouth team furnished up to date music, the rooters for the two colleges sang topical songs and the crowd as a whole enjoyed itself.

Two humorous events of the afternoon were the mounted policemen who "didn't know exactly what to do," and the bow legs of the referee.

A PERSIAN PARABLE.

The Side of the World the Persianist Had Not Seen.

There was a certain man who thought the world was growing worse. He was always harking back to "the good old times" and was sure that the human race was degenerating. Men, he said, were all trying to cheat one another, and the strong were crushing the weak. One day when he was airing his pessimistic views the calif said to him:

"I charge you hereafter to look carefully about you, and whenever you see any man do a worthy deed go to him and give him praise or write to him about it. Whenever you meet a man whom you regard as worthy to have lived in the 'good old days,' tell him of your esteem and of the pleasure you have had in finding one so exalted, and I desire that you write out an account of these good deeds for me that I may share your joy in knowing of it."

So the man was dismissed. But before many days he returned and prostrated himself before the calif. When ordered to explain his presence, he wailed:

"Have pity on thy servant, and release him from the necessity of complimenting men upon their worthy deeds, oh, my master. And, oh, son of Mohammed, I pray thee absolve thy servant from the duty of reporting to thee all the good that is going on in the world."

"And why, oh, slave, dost thou come to me with this prayer?" the calif asked.

"Since I have been looking for what is good," the man replied, "I have had no time to do aught but compliment men for their splendid works. So much that I am now hope to be able to tell thee half of it. My tasks lie neglected because I have no time."

"Go back to thy work," said the calif. "I perceive that thou hast learned."

The Ruin of Restaurants.

A young man who dines quite frequently in a French restaurant, whose reputation is based on the unvarying excellence of the dishes served, sent for the chef the other night to compliment him on a poulet en casserole. "I like you," said the cook, "because you never bring any women in this place. They ruin a cook and a restaurant. A gentleman who comes in alone for his dinner regards the dishes and pays his whole attention to the food he is eating. But when he is with a woman! Bah! He laughs, he talks, he regards only his companion, his attention is distracted, the cook and his work are forgotten. I do not try for them. The boys who are learning prepare their dinners. It is not popularity that ruins a restaurant, it is the women and music."—New York Post.

The Printer's Devil.

The familiar term "printer's devil," as applied to the boy of all work about a printing office, is said by the Fourth Estate to have originated with Aldus Manutius. He employed a small negro boy, a curiosity in those days in Europe, who became known as the "Little Black Devil." Printing was then a mystery, and a superstition spread that Aldus was invoking the black art and that the negro boy was the embodiment of Satan. To correct this opinion Aldus publicly exhibited the black boy and declared: "Be it known to Venice that I, Aldus Manutius, printer to the holy church and to the doge, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All those who think he is not flesh and blood may come and pinch him."

Willing to Compromise.

A story of the Colombian idea of taxation is told by a traveler who recently visited that South American country. "Some American friends of mine," said the traveler, "were visited by the city officials of Colon.

"Senor," said the leader of the delegation, "we have come to collect $12 in gold from you, your share of the cost of collecting the garbage for this year."

"But, my dear sir," said the American in surprise, "you have not collected the garbage once during the whole year."

"That's true," said the collector, scratching his head. "Well, let's make it $5, then."

Matthew Arnold's Rudeness.

"Do you take sugar and cream?" a hostess asked Matthew Arnold from behind the breakfast urn.

"Neither," he replied. "I only take cream when the coffee is nasty."

The feelings of the hostess may be imagined after this statement to have her guest taste the beverage and direct the waitress to bring him sugar and cream.

Quite Consistent.

Miss Malchance—I suppose you've heard of my engagement to Mr. Jenks?

Miss Ascott—Yes, and I confess I was surprised. You told me once that you wouldn't marry him for a million dollars.

Miss Malchance—I know, dear, but I discovered later that he had two millions.—Philadelphia Press.

Merely a Question of Judgment.

"What is it that leads a woman who has married unhappily and got a divorce to marry again?"

"Curiosity."

"Curiosity?"

"Certainly. She's curious to learn if her judgment of men has improved."—Chicago Post.

The Worried Housewife.

Husband—What have you been looking so blue about all day, my dear?

Wife—I'm afraid our hired girl won't approve of our new washerwoman.—Boston Post.

FRENCH THRIFT.

Examples Found in the Parks and Open Squares of Paris.

There is no better place to study French frugality than in the parks and open squares of Paris. Go to one of the secondhand fairs held on the outer boulevards. What in other countries would be cast aside as useless is here exposed for sale, having been carefully sorted over by ragpickers, whose sole support is the rubbish which you see—broken china, bits of glass, pieces of stone, old nails, old pots and pans, old shoes, old combs and brushes. Does a woman need a cup? Has she broken a saucer? For 2 cents she can replace them. Is her clock broken, her key lost? Behold a thousand from which to choose. The poor students may find their books, mothers their children's shoes, says Donohoe's Magazine.

Each house in Paris is provided by the city with a large box. Into this the servants throw all that is not needed by the family, whether of food or raiment. Every morning the chiffonniers or ragpickers are privileged to search through these boxes before the contents are carted by the city to distant fields, where the refuse is employed in fertilizing the soil. From the homes of the wealthy the poor receive many articles of real value. Fifty thousand ragpickers, say the statistics, realize $10,000 daily from their pickings.

English of Long Ago.

The king's English has changed as kings have come and gone, says the St. James Gazette. Here is a passage from the record of a crowning of long ago: "The Cardinal, as Archbishop of Canterbury, showing the king to the people at the High parties of the said pulpit, shall say in this wise, 'Sirs, I here present Henry (true) and right, and undoubted inheritor by the laws of God and man to the coronure and royal dignite of England, with all things thereunto annexed and apperteyning, electe, chosen and required by all three estates of the same land to take upon him the said coronure and royal dignite, whereupon ye shall understand that this date is prefixed and appointed by all the piers of this land for the consecration, envencon and coronacion of the said most excellent Prince Henry; will ye, sirs, at this tyme geve your willes and assentes to the same consecration, envencon and coronacion? Whereupon the people shall say, with a grete voice, 'Ye, Ye. So be hit. King Henry! King Henry!'"

Chinese Duplicity.

A south sea islander said of his race, "As soon as we open our mouths a lie is born." The Chinese acknowledge without shame the same of themselves. It may be true among western nations that "the affairs of life hinge upon confidence," but in the east, and especially in China, they hinge upon suspicion. There are few Chinese who attach any importance to keeping an engagement. Most of them are like the man who, being accused of having broken his promise, replied that it was of no consequence, as he could make another just as good. The Chinese say that one should never refuse a request in an abrupt manner; on the contrary, he should grant it in form, although with no intention to do so in substance. "Put him off till tomorrow and then until another tomorrow. Thus you comfort his heart," they say.

Soon Tired of His Books.

The 7,000 volumes of chronicles and travels from which Gibbon distilled the "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" were purchased by Beckford after the writer's death. "I bought it," said the author of "Vathek," "to have something to read when I passed through Lausanne." There were few rarities in the collection, but most of the authors were in the best obtainable editions and in perfect condition. The fastidious Gibbon was incapable of believing disrespectfully to his purchase and read himself nearly blind. He soon tired of his books, however, and presented the whole collection to a German physician named Schell. The recipient showed his appreciation of the treasure by promptly selling it.

It is not always because a cigar is badly made that the wrapper curls up and works off, says the Tobacco Worker. It is often because a right handed man is smoking a left handed cigar. A "left handed cigar" is one rolled by the maker's left hand, for all cigar makers must be ambidextrous. A piece of tobacco for the wrapper is cut on the bias and is rolled from left to right on the filler. The other piece for reasons of economy is then used and must be rolled the opposite way by the operator's other hand. Hence a smoker who holds a cigar in his right hand, sometimes twisting it about, rubs the wrapper the wrong way and loosens it.

A Youthful Estimate.

"Now," said the Sunday school teacher in her most winning tones, "which little boy can tell me about the still small voice that is within us?"

"Pleasein," said the freckled boy at the end of the seat, "my uncle has one."

"He has?"

"Yes'm; he's a ventriloquist!"—Baltimore American.

Definite Direction.

A waiter who had been an old machine watched as long as he could bear it while his master tried to draw the stuffing through the side of a bird.

"Further aft, sir," he ventured in an embarrassing whisper; "further aft!"

Success in the practical affairs of life depends upon temperament more than upon talent, for decision, courage, industry and perseverance are temperamental.

AMERICAN SOCIETY.

Its Basis, Whether We Deplore or Ignore It, Is Wealth.

"American society," says Alsace's, "has been definitely established upon a monetary basis. We may deplore the fact, or we may ignore it, but it is a fact, and it is very much the wisest thing to admit it with dispassionate frankness. For if we assume our social standards and conditions to be different from what they really are, how are we going to study them and understand them and get at their philosophy? From the point of view of a scientific observer, the classification of everybody and everything according to a financial principle of division, is a good thing, for it greatly simplifies the whole subject.

"Formerly there was no classification of any kind. American life was a chaos, socially, full of all sorts of anomalies and incongruities. Every section of the country had its own standard of distinction, and this standard was recognized and respected nowhere else. Thus in New England literary, scholastic or theological eminence was held to confer a certain cachet upon those who had obtained it. In the microcosm which Philadelphia used to be the center around which counted most of all. This was also true to some extent of the south, yet there, as in the west, political prominence carried with it social leadership. New York—always more or less impossible to formulate—was a place where there existed social wheels within wheels and social planes that never touched; though, on the whole, perhaps the combination of ancestry and money meant in those days what money alone means at the present time."

Sound Advice.

Young men, you are the architects of your own fortune. Rely on your own strength of body and soul. Take for your guiding star self reliance. Subscribe on your banner, "Luck is a fool; Pluck is a hero." Don't take too much advice; keep at your helm and steer your own ship, and remember that the great art of commanding is to take a fair share of the work. Think well of yourself, strike out, assume your own position. Haul potatoes in a cart over a rough road, and the small ones go to the bottom. Rise above the envious and jealous, fire above the mark you intend to hit. Energy, invincible determination, with a right motive, are the levers that move the world. Don't drink; don't smoke; don't swear; don't deceive; don't marry until you can support a wife; be in earnest; be self reliant; be generous; be civil; read the papers; advertise your business; make money and do good with it; love your God and fellow men; love truth and virtue; love your country and obey its laws.—Exchange.

Clubs, Cabs and Gout.

A physician talking to a reporter of a New York paper asserted recently that gout is rapidly increasing in that city as a disease prevalent among the wealthy classes, the increase being altogether out of proportion to the growth of population. He claims that this is largely attributable to the increase of clubs, fashionable restaurants and cafes and also to the general use of cabs, even when the distance from the club to the home is only a few blocks. If people would take more active exercise in the open air, they would run less risk from heavy meals. He says that rich foods are more responsible for gout than wine, although practically the two usually go together.

Editorial Indignation.

The lady (?) who yesterday called the attention of another to our patched breeches, whereat both laughed so heartily, is informed that a new pair will be purchased when her husband's bill is settled. It has been due nearly a year. Don't criticize a printer's dress too closely while you are wearing silk with money due us. Tell your husband to send us $40.75 and save the cost of a lawsuit. We need another pair of pants.—Des Moines Register and Leader.

The Artist's Achievement.

Towne—I guess we'll have to take back all the sneering things we said about D'auber.

Browne—Why?

Towne—He told me yesterday he had just completed a five thousand dollar painting for Mr. Hiel S. Tate.

Browne—Yes, it was a large sign, "This Corner Lot, 60 by 140, For Sale, $5,000."—Philadelphia Press.

The Widow's Wall.

"Well," said the lady who was endeavoring to give the widow consolation on the way home from the cemetery, "the worst is over now."

"I'm afraid not," answered the afflicted one. "The lawyer says there's a bad flaw in one of the insurance policies."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Anger.

It is said that anger is one of the most harmful emotions, in fact that very few are aware how frightfully dangerous it is to the average person. There is on record this saying of a great doctor: "He is a man very rich indeed in physical power who can afford to be angry."

A Judicial Gem.

"A husband is not guilty of desertion when his wife rents him room to a boarder and crowds him out of the house." This is no joke, but a piece of solemn judicial wisdom. It is found in 153 Penn. St. 450.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Francis E. Hamilton to Catherine Kinsaleth, dated July 26, 1900, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 1404, page 86, and assigned by said Kinsaleth to Henry Fuller by an assignment dated February 22, 1902, and recorded with said Deeds, book 1602, page 7, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at Public Auction, in Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, on the premises, on Channing Street (formerly Linden Street), on Wednesday, the fifth day of November, A. D. 1902, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage, with all improvements thereon, and described in said mortgage as follows:

All that parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Newton, bounded and described as follows, to-wit: Beginning at the Northwesterly corner of the premises on Linden Street at land conveyed by me to M. S. Hunter about eighty-eight feet; then turning and running southerly on a line with the present front line of said Hunter's land and in continuation thereof about sixty-four feet by other land of the grantor to land of Joseph N. Bacon; thence southerly by said Bacon's land about seventy-four feet to Linden Street; thence southerly by said Linden Street about seventy feet to the point of beginning. Being part of the premises conveyed to me in three parcels by three deeds, two from Joseph N. Bacon and one from Orleans A. Adams. Estimated to contain about one hundred and thirty square feet.

The premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and assessments, and to the effect of any outstanding tax deeds or titles, if any there be. $300 in cash will be required of purchaser at the time and place of sale. Other terms announced at the sale.

LICENTIA J. FULLER, Executrix of the will of said Henry Fuller, assigns of said Mortgage, 30 Court Street, Boston, Newton, October 8, 1902.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Charles D. Caboon to The Newton Co-operative Bank, dated January 4, 1902, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in book 2061, page 35, will be sold at Public Auction, on the premises, on Wednesday, the fifth day of November, 1902, at four o'clock in the afternoon, for a breach of the conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

A certain parcel of land situated in Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being lot 10 on a plan by E. S. Smith, dated July 16, 1900, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds and bounded as follows, viz: Northeast by Newtonville Avenue, 60 feet; southeast by lot 9, 120 feet; south by Summit Street by two lines twenty-two and 10-100 (2-100) feet and three feet; west by 62-100 (32-83) feet, and northwest by land of owner unknown one hundred and three and 10-100 (32-83) feet, containing 3,428 square feet. Being the same premises conveyed to said Charles D. Caboon by Frank Heath, and being subject to the restrictions set forth or referred to in said deed.

Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes for the year 1902, and to all other unpaid municipal assessments. $500 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

PROBATE COURT.

MINUTEN, ss.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Nellie Edna Head, late of Newton, in said County, deceased.

A HEREBY, a certain instrument, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for probate, by Julia Ann Head, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

And she hereby claims to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth day of November, A. D. 1902, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing a copy of this citation, together with a copy of this citation, to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least, before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McVerry, Judge, First Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and two.

S. H. FOLSOM, Register.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by William G. Carter and Edith G. Carter to their own right, of Brookline to the Buss River Savings Bank of South Yarmouth, Mass., dated June 10, 1900, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 2230, page 63, for breach of the condition of said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing said mortgage, will be sold at Public Auction on the premises, on Monday, the tenth day of November, 1902, at 12 o'clock noon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

A certain parcel of land situated in Newton in the County of Middlesex, being lot 10 on a plan by E. S. Smith, dated July 16, 1900, and recorded with the Fennesse Estate, drawn by Rice & Evans, dated April 27, 1900, and duly recorded, bounded as follows:

Northerly by Commonwealth Avenue ninety-four (94) feet; Easterly by lot No. 14 on said plan about two hundred and one (201) feet; South by land now or late of Morton, eighty-six (86) feet; and Westerly by lot No. 16 on said plan about two hundred and 8-10 (208) feet, containing eighteen thousand two hundred (18,200) square feet, more or less.

Said premises will be sold subject to all reservations and restrictions contained or referred to in said deed, and also subject to all valid liens and claims for taxes.

For further information as to said encumbrances and terms of sale, inquire of the undersigned at room 1026, 53 State Street, Boston, Mass. 1

ARTHUR H. BROOKS, Attorney for Buss River Savings Bank, owner of said Mortgage.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the subscriber has been appointed executor of the estate of the late Edward Payson Scam, late of Newton, in the County of Middlesex, deceased, and that he has taken upon himself the trust by giving bond as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to Police Paragraphs.

On the personal request of John Buckley of Newton Upper Falls, last Monday morning, he was sentenced to the House of Correction for 60 days by Judge Kennedy.

Judge Bacon presided at the inquests held Saturday morning upon the death of Henry L. Griswold, who was killed at Riverside, Oct. 4, and on the death of Henry T. O'Brien who was killed on Adams street, Oct. 8.

For chasing a man named Farrell and his family for several miles last Sunday afternoon, Coleman Naughton, Daniel Gass of Dedham, and Paul Stark of West Roxbury were fined $15, $10 and $5 respectively on charges of intoxication before Judge Kennedy on Monday morning.

Farrell reported that the three men were in a buggy, attempted to run him down, and a spirited chase ensued when he tried to evade them. While on Winchester street, Newton Highlands, their horse fell and Farrell got away. The men were slightly injured and the horse and wagon in bad condition.

Street Railway Matters.

The Boston Suburban Company has bought 80,000 more feet of land in Waltham and now owns almost the entire property between the Boston & Maine Railroad, Moody and Pine streets and Charles River. It is the intention of the company to erect a large central power house as a feeder for its system of street railways, the other stations being auxiliaries. It also is the intention to build a general repair shop on the site.

Weak and Tired.

"Do you suppose your Vinol would do me any good?" said a woman customer the other day. "I just drag round. My work seems an awful burden." "I think Vinol will help you," said our clerk. "Our folks at home use it. We have such faith in it that we will pay the money back if it doesn't help you."

She took a bottle of Vinol home and has since bought another bottle.

Vinol was sold last year on the same guarantee. How many "refunds" were there, do you think? Less than two per cent. In other words, Vinol did successful work in ninety-eight cases out of 100.

For two great classes, those who can't seem to gain strength, and those who are tired at nothing, we say: "Try Vinol on our guarantee."

Dr. Lowe Declines.

West Newton, Oct. 29th, 1902.
Mr. Chas. E. Hatfield, Chairman of the Republican City Committee:

My Dear Sir—
Permit me to state at this early date that it will be impossible for me to stand as a candidate for re-election as alderman at large from Ward Three.

My reason for writing as I have is due to the fact that my time is almost wholly taken by my business—the little left I cannot in fairness to my health devote to the City. I personally much regret that such is the case.

Yours, Very Respectfully,
(Signed) Fred. M. Lowe.

Y. M. C. A.

The first men's meeting of the season was held on Sunday last in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. The speaker of the meeting was Rev. J. E. Perry, Ph. D. of Allston, who had for his subject "Man of Machinery." Mr. Perry's address was remarkable in that he had a very attractive way of putting his subject. He said in part: "We have come to a time when we look at a man as a mere machine and estimate his value to a community or an institution not by what he is but by the low standard of what he can produce and in making this estimate of the man we lose sight of the fact that the community owes something to the man. The highest standard which we ought to judge a man is, not what he can produce or how much we can get out of him but how much can we do for him and give to him."
Miss Marion Perkins of Malden rendered two soprano solos accompanied by Mr. Carl Ellison.

Next Sunday, Nov. 2nd, Mr. J. B. Lewis will give his celebrated Temperance address, "The Emancipation of the Twentieth Century." There will be special musical attractions.

Chrysanthemums.

The approaching exhibition by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society will be the most important show of Chrysanthemums ever held in Boston. It will take place at Horticultural Hall, 300 Massachusetts avenue, on November 6, 7, 8 and 9, and there will be music every afternoon and evening.
Over a thousand dollars and several medals will be awarded to the successful competitors.

Music Sight Reading.

Mr. Henry T. Wade, teacher of the Pianoforte also gives instruction in the reading of music at sight. The ability to read music readily is of importance to Vocalists as well as instrumentalists. Studio 6 Steinert Hall, Boston. Residence 25 Wesley St., Newton.

The Board of Management, New England Conservatory of Music, extend a cordial invitation to clergymen, all teachers in recognized schools, and College graduates, to visit the classes in Expression, Interpretation, Oratory and Literature. Cards of admission will be furnished to visitors on written application to K. Charlton Black, L. L. D., New England Conservatory, Huntington Avenue, Boston.

GOV. CRANE

Endorses Hon. John L. Bates For Governor.

Praises His Knowledge and Views of Public Matters.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Executive Department.

Boston, Oct. 27th, 1902.
Hon. Alpheus Sanford, President, Chicatawbut Club, Boston.

My Dear Sir:—

I thank you for your kind invitation to attend the dinner of the Chicatawbut Club this evening, and regret that owing to a previous engagement I shall be unable to be present; otherwise, I should be glad to join with you in an endorsement of the Republican candidates for the state election.

Lieutenant Governor John L. Bates, our candidate for Governor, with whom I have had the honor and pleasure of being associated during the past three years, has been a most valuable assistant, in full accord with me on all important matters that I have acted upon during my administration. Owing to his accurate and comprehensive knowledge of the affairs of the Commonwealth and his broad and sensible views of public questions, he can be depended upon to discharge the duties of the office of Governor to the satisfaction of all the people.

He is a most worthy candidate and is entitled to the united support of the Republican party.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) W. Murray Crane.

Hon. Samuel L. Powers.

As an Independent and uncompromising Anti-Imperialist, I voted for Hon. Morrill Storey, 1900, to represent our district at Congress. Without modifying my views upon the burning questions which distinguish the Massachusetts Independents of Hon. George S. Boutwell type, I shall cast my vote next Tuesday for Hon. Samuel L. Powers, our present representative, to continue his seat in Congress, and for the following reasons: First. After a personal acquaintance with Mr. Powers of many years, entire confidence in him as a gentleman of high and honorable character in public and private life is established. Such as Massachusetts honors in men of either or no political party. Second. Mr. Powers stands with and in the young, progressive and liberal element of the Republican national party. Evidently having little sympathy with his iron ribbed, Conservatives, who, as did the Hunker Whigs in the early fifties opposed all progress or change, when Sumner, Wilson, Charles Francis Adams, Stephen C. Phillips, (soon joined by Geo. S. Boutwell) passed out, leaving Robert C. Winthrop, Hillard and Webster to remain and experience a hapless political death. Third. Mr. Powers has never been an Imperialist, but favors the ultimate independence of the Philippines. Fourth. Mr. Powers is in favor of Reciprocity with Cuba and Canada, thus favoring the principle of dealing with other nations in kindly, generous spirit.

Fifth. Mr. Powers advocates free entrance to our ports of raw material, wool, coal, iron, wood, etc., which is evidence of favoring a sensible, liberalizing and humane governmental policy in dealing with foreign nations.

Sixth. The fact, that for years Mr. Powers has favored equal Suffrage for Women as did Lincoln, Sumner, Andrew and as do Hoar, Long and Claflin, is cumulative testimony to his breadth of mind, humanity and catholicity of spirit.

There is no doubt of the equally honorable and forceful character, cultured mind and genial spirit of Mr. Stimson, the manly competitor of Mr. Powers, the candidate of the Democrats and Independents, to succeed and represent the twelfth Congressional district in place of Mr. Powers. Mr. Stimson undoubtedly stands more nearly with me for Imperialism; also for Free Trade measures than does our present Representative.

Seventh. The fact that Mr. Powers has been tested, has commanded a highly honorable reputation for superior ability in advocacy of good measures, thus obtaining strong and deserved influence during the past two years in Congress, convinces me that the broadening, elevating, needful influence upon the progressive wing of the Republican party, will be more strongly effective for the public good by the re-election of Mr. Powers than through Mr. Stimson as a new member.

Nath'l T. Allen,
West Newton, Oct. 29th, 1902.

Political Notes.

There was a rally in the interest of the Socialist party Monday evening in Lincoln hall, Newton Highlands, an audience of 200 being present. Dr. Howard A. Gibbs of Worcester, after outlining the Socialistic platform said: "Socialism has obtained general recognition as the result of the coal strike, and government ownership of monopolies is now recognized as a blessing. The working class is not recognized by either the Democratic or Republican party, but in the Socialist party it is supreme."

Sumner P. Annis of Natick, Socialist candidate for senator from the 1st Middlesex district, discussed the rise of monopolies. If there is any man, he said, who is meaner than

J. P. Morgan, it is the man who would like to be Mr. Morgan. If there is any man meaner than Mr. Baer, it is the man who would vote for the party who upheld Mr. Baer.

THE FASTING FAD.

There is No Advantage to Be Gained From Going Hungry.

We are living in an age of fads, remarks Good Health, and as its opinion has been solicited in regard to the "fasting fad" it proceeds to give it as follows:

There is no particular advantage to be gained from going hungry. Hunger is the voice of nature telling us that the system needs food and, like all of nature's warnings, should be heeded. To be sure, a great many, we might say the majority, of people eat too much as well as too often. But the entire abstinence from food is an exceptional remedy if it is used at all. In cases where one's stomach is filled with germs it is far better to fast than to go on eating in the usual way, but even then it is not necessary, for one can get all the benefits of fasting and more without discomfort by subsisting for a time upon a fruit diet. In this way the germs are starved out, the fruit juice acting as a disinfectant. Usually one or two days of this kind of fasting is all that is needed, and it is not always necessary to use the fruit entirely alone even then. Some dry sterilized bread, such as zwieback or granose, may be taken with it without interfering with the purpose of the fast. It is really wonderful what can be accomplished by the use of fruit in ridding the digestive tract of germs.

Eau de Cologne.

How many of those who use eau de cologne from Cologne daily, one might almost say hourly, are aware of the fact that it was invented by an Italian and not by a son of the Fatherland, which gives its name?

Almost 200 years ago an Italian priest, Giovanni Maria Farina, eked out his modest fortune by selling perfume, little art objects and so on at Domodossola. In 1702, happening to be in Cologne and making use of some of the finest vegetable productions of the country, he discovered the secret of the miraculous perfume, which has never been revealed to this day except to his descendants. He soon devoted himself to the sale of his invention, which was so satisfactory that, needing help in its manufacture, he had his brother and nephew join him from Italy.

The increasing fame of the water brought increasing difficulties of rivalry. New firms who stole his name, his trademarks, stamps and so on sprang up like mushrooms, but they could not steal his secret.

Smoking a Narghile.

"The narghile is the best instrument to smoke tobacco through, provided you use it in the right way," said a man who knows. "Most people use it in the wrong way. They load it with tobacco and light up with a match as though it was a pipe they were smoking. This is incorrect, and the narghile, so abused, has an abominable taste and odor. The right way to use the narghile is first to dip your tobacco in water, squeeze the water out and place the soaked, damp mass in the pipe bowl. Then you take a lump of burning charcoal and set it on the top of the wet tobacco and begin to smoke. The tobacco itself, you see, is not really alight; it's the charcoal that's alight; it is the burning charcoal that eats the tobacco up. This is the secret of narghile smoking. And a narghile, smoked properly, is delicious—makes, in fact, the very best smoke in the world."—Philadelphia Record.

Her Great Fault.

A Georgia citizen recently said that while riding out from Savannah on horseback he saw a typical southern matron outside a whitewashed cabin, while on the lawn in front a bevy of young colored children were playing. There were eight of them altogether, seven of their number being very, very dark, while the eighth one was light complexioned.

"You've got some fine looking children there, auntie," he said.

"Deed I lub, boss," she replied.

"Dere ain't any better pickaninnies in de whole state of Georgia den dat first seben, but dat eighth one, dat mulatto, she done make me more trouble dan de whole oder seben put together."

"In what way?" I asked. And she replied:

"Cause she done show dirt so easy!"

Chased and Refined.

At a recent police court sitting a man was fined 40 shillings and costs for assaulting a policeman. Considering himself a much injured man, on reaching the door he began abusing the magistrate in very violent language. The magistrate sent an officer after him, and the delinquent found himself once more in the dock and fined again for contempt of court.

"My man, if you had been more chaste and refined in your language," said the magistrate, "you would not have been chased and re-fined."—London Tit-Bits.

How Goshawks Are Trained.

A French traveler states that the goshawk is still used in Persia in hunting the gazelle and that it is trained to feed on that creature's beautiful eyes by placing its food in the emptied eyeballs of a stuffed gazelle, so that when used in the hunt the goshawk stops its victim by attacking its eyes, a horribly cruel form of sport.

A Lovers' Quarrel.

"Hallo, Fitz! where did you get that black eye?"

"Oh, it was only a lovers' quarrel."

"Lovers' quarrel! Why, your girl did not give you that, did she?"

"No; it was her other lover."

The ink of the Greeks and Romans was merely lampblack mingled with gum in the proportion of three parts of the former to one of the latter.

Shot-Gun Prescriptions.

We suppose we are not revealing any trade secret when we say that many medicines are made up on the principle of the so-called "shot-gun prescriptions," which were formerly somewhat in vogue.

The idea of the shot-gun prescription was to put in a large number of different drugs, each useful for different purposes, in the hope that some of them might hit the case.

Vinol, the medicine we sell over our name and guarantee, is not a scattering shot-gun prescription, but goes straight to the mark.

It is the best thing we know for a run-down condition, for a listless feeling, nerve troubles, for lung troubles—in fact, it is a safe, pleasant, reliable tonic and reconstructer.

It has cured so many people right here in town we offer money back if it fails to benefit.

HISTORICAL.

The Newton Historical Society Reorganized.

Prominent Gentlemen Interested in This Worthy Object.

An event of unusual importance to the present and future citizens of the City of Newton is now creating widespread interest among those inclined to the collection and perpetuation of local historical data, and the identification and preservation of matters intimately concerned in the early history and progress of our City. We refer to the recent incorporation of the Newton Historical Society having for its objects the study of local history, the collection and preservation of antiquities, the establishment and maintenance of an historical library and the publication from time to time of historical matter relating to the Town or City of Newton.

The incorporators of this society are the Hon. Henry E. Cobb, Hon. Gorham D. Gilman, Hon. Thomas Weston, Frank A. Mason, Alfred W. Fuller, Col. I. F. Kingsbury, J. R. W. Shapleigh, Arthur Farley, Marcus Morton, Winfield S. Slocum and Charles S. Ensign.

At the first meeting of the subscribers to the agreement of association on Tuesday, October 14, 1902, the following officers were elected: President, Henry E. Cobb; vice-president, Thomas Weston; treasurer, Alfred W. Fuller; secretary, Frank A. Mason. The by-laws of the corporation show that the incorporators do not favor a large and unwieldy membership as they restrict the regular membership to a limited number of persons known to be actively interested in historical research, at the same time providing for the election of honorary and corresponding members.

It is earnestly desired that all accurate data relating to the early history of the Town in the shape of manuscripts, letters, sermons, essays, maps, books, portraits, prints, records or the like may be brought to the notice of the society, or of some member thereof so that immediate steps may be taken for the preservation of the same.

It is the intention of the society to immediately secure rooms, as free as possible from the danger of fire, in which loans and donations to the society may be safely preserved, and made accessible to the public, subject to proper regulations. The unselfish objects of this society distinguished by the great good they promise in years to come can hardly fail to awaken and command the interest of the most indifferent among us and it is indeed superfluous in a community like ours to urge a hearty co-operation of our citizens with the society in their work. It is hardly to be expected that anyone will refuse his services as guide if the occasion offers in the broad field of research upon which the Newton Historical Society has now entered.

Among Women.

The Social Science Club will hold its first business meeting for the season 1902-1903 on Wednesday, Nov. 5, at 10 a. m., at the Hunnewell Club.

The Newton Ladies' Home Circle is making preparations for a fair to be held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, Nov. 19 and 20.

The Sarah Hull Chapter D. R., of Newton held their first meeting of the season at the Newton Club House, Oct. 28th, from three to six o'clock. Mrs. G. H. Mellen, Mrs. H. W. Crowell, Mrs. Henry Griffin, Mrs. J. F. Barnes, Mrs. J. F. Heckman and Mrs. B. R. Ware received the ladies. Mrs. F. E. Stanley, the regent, presided at the business meeting. The Eliot Memorial committee that had conferred with the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., and the mayor, reported that the city had repaired the masonry of the Memorial, and put the roads which led to the historic spot in good order. Mrs. John Heckman was appointed to represent the chapter at the Floral Emblem Society which meets at Faneuil Hall. The program for the afternoon opened with a piano duet, followed by a chorus of eight young ladies from the Newton High school, who sang Keller's American Hymn. Then the chapter were much entertained with a paper from the very able pen of Mrs. F. O. Stanley on the D. R. convention in Denver, Col. Miss Cross favored the ladies with the spirited song "Our Flag," and Mrs. John Heckman gave an instructive paper on Paul Revere. The chorus then sang "O Country," followed by greetings from the state regent, Mrs. Heath. The regent, Mrs. F. E. Stanley, gracefully thanked the hostesses for their delightful program, and the afternoon closed with the singing of America. The ladies then adjourned to the dining room, where refreshments were in order. The decorations in the hall and dining room were effective and in good taste.

Death of John Whitney.

Mr. John Whitney, a resident of the city for about fifty years, died on Monday morning at the residence of his son, Mr. J. Clifton Whitney on Austin street, Newtonville aged 89 years. Mr. Whitney was ill but a few days and death was occasioned by old age.

Mr. Whitney was a native of Harvard, Mass., but came to Newton about 1850, residing first in Newton and later in Newtonville. He was a 32nd degree Mason and a charter member of Dalhousie lodge. He was twice married and is survived by a widow, a daughter and a son, Walter Commissioner J. Clifton Whitney.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2.15, Rev. F. B. Hornbroke officiating and the interment was at Newton cemetery.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

TREMONT THEATRE, Nov. 3.—Mr. E. S. Willard.

PARK THEATRE, Nov. 3.—"All the Comforts of Home."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, Nov. 3.—Mr. Thomas E. Shea.

COLUMBIA THEATRE, Nov. 3.—"The Defender."

Park Theatre—There will be a lively series of performances at the Park Theatre next week, when Corae Payton's Stock Company present the popular farce, "All the Comforts of Home." Ever since its first production some ten years ago, this piece has met everywhere with unprejudiced success, its laughable situations and humorous dialogue serving to keep the audience in a continual roar of laughter from the opening of the first act to the final fall of the curtain. It is the work of William Gillette, and ranks with that popular actor-authors Secret Service and Sherlock Holmes among the leading plays of the day. The policy of Mr. Payton in the management of the Park Theatre is to make it a popular price playhouse where nothing is cheap but the prices. The plays are as carefully staged and acted as at the theatre where regular dollar and half prices are charged. Mr. Payton's prices at the Park run from 10 to 30 cents in the afternoon, and from 10 to 50 cents in the evening.

Grand Opera House—The annual engagement of Mr. Thomas E. Shea at the Boston Grand Opera House is always the signal for a series of crowded houses, and his engagement next week will probably be no exception to the rule. The repertoire for the entire week is as follows: Monday and Saturday nights, and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees, "The Pledge of Honor;" Tuesday and Friday night, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde;" Wednesday night, "The Bells;" Thursday night, "The Hunchback's Daughter;" "The Hunchback's Daughter," is an adaptation from Tom Taylor's "Fool's Revenge" which was brought out prominently by Edwin Booth.

Tremont Theatre—Admirers of Mr. E. S. Willard, (and what playgoers cannot thus be classed?) will be delighted to learn that during his engagement at the Tremont Theatre, beginning next Monday evening he will appear in no less than six of his most successful character creations. These have been selected from his extensive repertoire to illustrate most fully the versatility of his art, for the roles are of a widely differing nature. What, for instance, could afford a greater contrast than the stately central figure in "The Cardinal" and poor, humble, self-effacing Tom Pinch? How far divergent are the characters of stern, honest, greathearted Cyrus Benken in "The Middleman" and the wily, plausible, selfish scoundrel, Baily Prothero in "The Rogue's Comedy?"

How different the absent-minded, blundering, simple old Professor Goodwillie of "The Professor's Love Story" and the brilliant, alert, polished man of the world, David Garrick. The eminent English actor has, indeed, been well advised in his selections, for in each of these roles he has achieved distinction, and his revival of former successes in connection with later triumphs is sure to meet with popular approval. Mr. Willard brings with him this season a carefully selected company and has been exceptionally fortunate in engaging as its leading lady Miss Maude Fealy, who, while the youngest actress to occupy so responsible a position now before the public, has attained her place by virtue of sheer merit. To the advantages of youth and beauty is added in her case unmistakable dramatic genius, and she makes a valuable accession to Mr. Willard's support. During next week, Mr. Willard will present "The Cardinal" every evening except Wednesday, and at the Wednesday matinee, and on Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon will appear as David Garrick.

Letter to A. Brackett, Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir: You give full weight of good coal.

So do we—231 inches to a gallon of paint that lasts twice as long as old-fashioned painter's paint, lead and oil; and allow our agent to sell it on this guarantee:

"If you have any trouble with this paint, either now in putting it on, or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it."

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

We know a dealer in coal, who delivers his coal with a public weigher's ticket (full weight) invited complaints, and actually exchanged the coal when complaint was made. He had half the business; a dozen firms had the other half.

We are 146 years old, but not too old to sell paint as that dealer sold coal. We like to pay damages—when there are any.

Yours truly,

F. W. Devoe & Co.

P. S. J. M. Briggs & Son, Newton; W. E. Tomlinson, West Newton; and McWain & Son, Newton Centre, sell our paint.

Nose Pulling in Newton.

It would be only an act of accidental justice in politics if Senator Skinner were defeated by the defection of Republican votes in the city of Newton this year.

The Graphic thinks this is the strongest argument for the Republicans of Newton to vote for Gov. Bates. This argument will have no weight in the city of Newton. The voters down there are pulled around by their noses by a few unscrupulous lobbyists and politicians before the conventions. But if the Republicans of that city have made up their minds to vote for Gaston this year, vote they will, regardless of Mr. Bullard of Newton or any of the cheap crowd that have assisted him in his political schemes.

Worcester Spy.

"The Worcester Spy is controlled by a relative of ex-Senator Nutt of Natick. Enough said."

Columbia Theatre—It is seldom that audiences, by their endorsement of a performance make it necessary to change the time for the rise of the curtain. So strong, however, has been the applause at every performance of that great musical extravaganza, "The Defender," at the Columbia Theatre, Boston, and the repeated demands for encores have been so continued and strenuous, that the management has been forced to change the time for starting the performance. On and after Wednesday evening, the performance will commence promptly at 7.45. This change in time will not appear at all strange to anyone having seen the show, as every number on the program has been so well done, and has received such hearty applause, that the artists have been compelled to reply to encore after encore. When it is considered that this greatest of musical extravaganzas, produced by A. H. Chamberlyn, a master of the art, and having had lavished upon it an expenditure of between forty and fifty thousand dollars, and interpreted by a cast hard to equal, and impossible to excel, it is no wonder that the Columbia Theatre is packed to the doors at every performance, and, as in two instances last week, hundreds of people turned away. In stage settings, costumes, light effects, and general gorgeousness and splendor, to say nothing of the beautiful chorus, typical of the house and its productions, the production now running at the Columbia has never been surpassed.

REAL ESTATE.

Edward T. Harrington & Co. report the following sales of real estate through their Newton agent, W. H. Rand: Parcel of land containing 22,500 square feet situated on Waltham street, West Newton; grantor, S. Edward Howard; grantee, Melville F. Goodrich. This is the pioneer sale of the large tract of land recently developed by Mr. Howard. Mr. Goodrich will commence the erection of a very attractive house at once. Estate containing 23,000 feet of land with house, situated on Winchester street, Newton Highlands; grantor, Mrs. R. Waterson; grantee, John Murray. Mr. Murray buys for investment and will remodel the house, making two desirable tenements. Estate containing 9000 square feet with house, situated on Channing street, Newton, grantor, Holmes heirs; grantee, Eugene F. Carpenter.

C. W. Carter has sold for the Cambridge Mutual Fire Insurance Co. their estate on Grove street, comprising a house and 15,024 square feet of land to Sarah A. Elliott, who will at once improve and occupy the same. Assessed for $4700. Recent rentals by Mr. Carter in Auburndale are house to Mr. Frank Hobart, situated on Owatonna street; house and stable corner of Owatonna street and Ware road to C. H. Seavey; house of Geo. W. Torrey, 25 Woodbine street, to Dr. Albert Leonard; house of D. C. Thornton on Oris street to L. J. Denison.

Henry W. Savage reports the sale of a house and 7766 feet of land on the corner of Auburndale and Prairie avenues for E. B. Bottomly to Harriet E. Spencer of Boston, who buys for occupancy.

C. W. Carter has sold for the Cambridge Mutual Fire Insurance Company their estate on Grove street, Auburndale, comprising a house and 15,024 feet of land to Mrs. Sarah A. Elliott, who will occupy.

James W. Robinson has conveyed to Jennie M. Currier a lot of land on Harvard street, near Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, containing 7631 feet.

S. Edward Howard has conveyed to Melville F. Goodrich a lot of 22,500 feet of land, situated on Waltham street, West Newton.

Another Newton transfer concluded is that of 1510 feet of land on Neshob road, Waban, Warren O. Kyle conveying to Horatio D. Pratt.

Clubs and Lodges.

At the meeting of Eliot Lodge, K. of H., held in Newtonville last week the degree work was performed by a staff composed of the following grand officers: Grand Dictator Richardson, Grand Vice Dictator Hayward; Grand Guide Miller, Grand Treasurer Richardson, Grand Chaplain Jones, Deputy Downing, Grand Committee-men Endres and Past Dictator Murray.

An assembly will be held under the auspices of Newton Centre Lodge, A. O. U. W., in Circuit hall next Monday evening.

Tennyson Rebekah Lodge made a friendly visit to Deborah Lodge in Waltham last Monday evening.

The first annual supper of Riverdale Lodge, N. E. O. P. will be held next Monday evening in Norumbega hall, Auburndale.

Police Paragraphs.

Michael Flarity, aged 40, of Beech street, Nonantum, was in court Monday morning on complaint of Patrolman Butler, charged with disturbance. According to the testimony Flarity made things lively for his wife and family Saturday night. He pleaded not guilty, but Judge Kennedy sentenced him to three months in the house of correction.

THE FEAR OF DEATH

IT SHOULD FIND NO LODGMENT IN ANY RATIONAL MIND.

Yet This Dread of Meeting the Inevitable is So Universal That Our Entire Social Fabric is Largely Built Upon It.

Do we dread death on the same principle that half a flock of sheep leap through a certain hole in a fence—because the other half has done so? For unless the fear be traditional and hereditary it is hard to account for it.

Death is a change, occupying a moment, from one form of life to another. Whether it come in the course of nature or by accident or design, it is seldom painful; never probably so painful as a bout of the toothache. It brings us from a condition of bondage and uncertainty at best to one of freedom and security. But often it is a change from slavery, both physical and moral, to emancipation comparatively perfect, or, if we hold the materialist view, to everlasting unconsciousness. The spiritual state is emancipated from the inertia of matter and the tyranny of space; therefore thought will be presence, and a man's surroundings as to both thing and person will be inevitably such as are most desirable to him. The evil will be emancipated from the opposition of the good, and the good will not be grieved and hampered by the machinations of the evil. The whole chapter of accidents which here looms so large will there be eliminated. Time, which now makes us long for the arrival of an appointed hour and now dreads its too speedy coming, will be no more. But we shall measure life by its intensity and by its opportunities. In other words, we shall be the makers of our own times and seasons.

Death takes us from a world of effects to one of causes. The soul is made of will and thought, and, as we may daily perceive, it is only the obstruction of material conditions that prevents us from immediately accomplishing our desires and beholding the realization of our thoughts. Again, death is inevitable to all and to any one who chooses is at any moment attainable. By what logic can our fear of it be defended?

Yet we fear it so much and so universally that our entire social fabric is built largely upon that fear. Our law makes death the supreme penalty. Our funerals are occasions of mourning, and the medical profession, one of the most numerous extant, spends its existence in combating death. We seek eagerly all nostrums or elixirs that promise us continuance of life. We ascribe supreme merit to the soldier who risks his life for his country or to the individual who sacrifices it for others. We laud the stoicism which affects to despise death, but which bases the virtue of that despising upon the acknowledged terror of the event. Our humanitarians spend sympathy and money in attempting to prolong the miserable condition of the poor and diseased. We shudder to hear of a vast natural calamity like that of Martinière or of avoidable accidents such as are furnished daily by railways and other instruments of civilization. And all the while it is the survivors who suffer, if any one does, though they too, are soon comforted by time or the insurance companies. The dead man, the man who has entered upon the new and spiritual life, whom we absurdly pity, is free, and his troubles are over.

Suicides, it is true, are said to increase with civilization. But few philosophical suicides occur. The majority are induced by dread of life overcoming dread of death. It may be doubted if suicide be ever the act of a man at once perfectly brave and thoroughly sane. The value of this life—and it is a real value—is in the discipline and experience it gives, which it is our honest and sensible duty to improve to the utmost and to the last. Life may be interesting and arduous; it may be disappointing and irksome. It is very seldom if ever uniformly and positively agreeable. Fear, on the other hand, is one of the worst and basest of evils, and fear of death the most irrational. It must have originated in sheer ignorance and thoughtlessness. It ought to vanish before our modern enlightenment and sagacity, and with its disappearance will appear social changes that cannot but be revolutionary and salutary.—Julian Hawthorne in Brandur Magazine.

Dangerous Criminals.

"Why," said a lady reproachfully to her husband, "you know when I say Denmark I always mean Holland!" Perhaps the city girl in the following story, told by the Philadelphia Telegraph, allowed herself a similar latitude of expression:

She was sitting on the porch, lazily rocking to and fro and watching the fireflies flitting about through the shrubbery. Suddenly she turned to her companions and said in a musing tone:

"I wonder if it is true that fireflies do get into the haymows sometimes and set them afire?"

Everybody laughed at what was apparently a piousantery, but the young lady looked surprised.

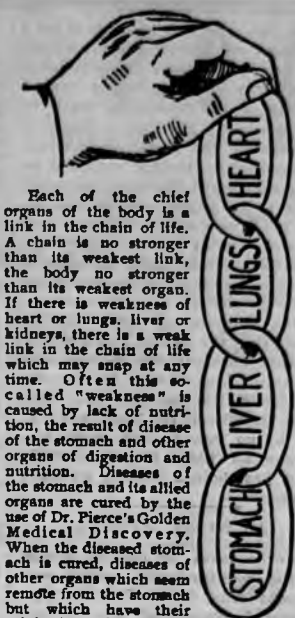

"Why," said she, "it was only yesterday that I saw in the paper an article headed 'Work of Firebugs.' It said they had set a barn on fire. Really."

Following Good Preaching.

Vicar (severely, to his cook)—Mary, you had a soldier to supper last night. Cook—Yes, sir; he's my brother.

Vicar—But you told me you had no brother.

Cook—So I thought, sir, until you preached last Sunday and told us we were all brothers and sisters.—London Tit-Bits.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the chain of life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

"I was in poor health when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mr. Elmer Lawler, of Volga, Jefferson Co., Ind. "I had stomach, kidney, heart, and lung troubles. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs, but after using your medicine a while I commenced to gain in strength and my cough and hemorrhage right away. Took about six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I feel like a different person. I gladly recommend your medicine to all sufferers, for I know it cured me."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure that foul breath.

Free Trip to New York.

All the great fortunes of America have been founded upon Real Estate Investments. A Borough Park lot at from $400 to $1250 (last year's prices $150 to $500) will be worth double and treble what it is now within a few years.

Borough Park is twenty-six minutes from the business center of New York City by elevated railroad.

New York city is growing at the rate of 400,000 per annum. Brooklyn Borough, in which Borough Park lies, is growing at the rate of 130,000 per annum, and is the only section in which New York can now grow.

The present week witnesses the close of as warm a political campaign

as the state has seen for the last ten years.

The popularity and personality of the Democratic candidate for governor, combined with the popular unrest regarding the coal situation,

the tariff and the trusts made a combination which has brought forth

the best talent of the Republican party.

Their speakers on the stump and their writers in the newspapers have clearly shown that Mr. Gaston is but the mask to cover the striped skin of the same old incompetent Democratic party, and that the tariff and trust questions can be handled with far greater safety to the public by the Republican party.

Newton has but a sentimental interest in the choice for governor, as that official has no direct control, except through the veto power, over the measures which affect our immediate interests. As we have before stated, however, and we believe the matter is of the greatest importance to Newton. The city does have a vital interest in the size of the Republican vote for governor to be cast next

Tuesday. Any reduction in the vote of the city for Mr. Bates from that thrown for Governor Crane last year, will lose us the control of the senatorial nomination next year, and will probably result in the election of a senator who will favor the mill tax bill, estimated to cost the City of Newton $60,000 annually, to say nothing of consequential damage matters in the metropolitan water district which will add still more to our state tax.

Policy, therefore as well as patriotism combine to induce the taxpayers of Newton to vote for Hon. John

L. Bates for governor.

Outside of the contest for governor,

the Republican state ticket will receive the usual vote in Newton and the councillor, county, senatorial and representative candidates are certain come has been at the rate of but 4 per cent, and the committee in charge has experienced considerable difficulty in properly providing for the various objects of the fund, particularly in the constantly growing numbers of children at the picnic, and for poor widows. The further reduction as proposed by the Mayor will seriously hamper the objects of the fund unless the Trustees, two of whom have a local interest in the matter, can find some other safe investment, which will yield an adequate income.

The matter is one of importance to the thousand or more children who enjoy the annual picnic to Norumbega Park, to the large number of citizens from all over the city who appreciate the lectures and books made possible by the fund, and last, but by no means least, to the poor widows for whom the legacy of Mr. Read has been a blessing for many years.

AS TO MR. POWERS.

Newton takes an unusual interest in the congressional election next Tuesday from the fact that the Hon. Samuel L. Powers of this city is a candidate for re-election from the newly formed twelfth Massachusetts district.

While there is absolutely no doubt of the success of Mr. Powers' candidacy, local pride in the achievements of a fellow townsman, as well as a natural desire to show the political world what the new district can do in the way of a republican majority, should unite to bring to the polls every possible vote for Mr. Powers.

While Mr. Powers has served but one term in the National House, his worth as a legislator and as an orator have already been recognized by the leaders of that body, and he has received rare honors for a first term representative. His committee appointments were recognitions of his legal ability and his speeches on the River and Harbor, Bankruptcy and Protection of the President bills made excellent impressions on his colleagues and the country.

In other ways Mr. Powers has carefully served the interests of his district, state and nation, and his constituents should take this opportunity to express their appreciation of his efforts and their continued confidence in him as their member to Congress.

The best endorsement, however, that can be given Mr. Powers is the one that comes from his neighbors and friends in his home city, and we trust that the citizens of Newton, without regard to party, will see that he has the endorsement from our voters on Tuesday next to which he is fairly entitled.

Political Notes.

A rousing rally and reception was tendered Congressman Powers at Athenaeum hall, last night by residents of Nonantum, regardless of party. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, fully 400 people being present. Mr. Edwin O. Childs presided in the unavoidable absence of Dr. McCoy. Speeches were made by Mr. Powers, Senator Skinner and ex-Senator A. L. Harwood.

City Hall Notes.

The public hearing on the proposed reorganization of the Assessing Department, held last Monday evening, by the committee on rules was attended by about a dozen persons.

Remarks were made by Messrs. Bernard Early, George May, and A. H. Rolfe, assistant assessors, endorsing the plan for a board of nine principal assessors, the chairman to receive a salary of $2400 and the other assessors $600 or $700 each. This scheme was also endorsed by Mr. Geo. T. Van Norman.

Remarks in favor of a board of four principal assessors with seven assistants were made by Hon. E. L. Pickard and principal assessor J. F. Ryder. The committee took the matter under advisement and will report to the aldermen next Monday night.

Mayor Weeks will present his estimates of the receipts and expenses for 1903 at the next meeting of the aldermen.

The superior court has granted the petition of the City for a commission to determine the abolition of grade crossings on the south side of the city. The personnel of the commission has not been announced.

At the Churches.

There was a large attendance at the annual meeting of the young people's society held at the Newton Highlands Congregational church last Tuesday. The sum of $5.50 was raised from a basket party, which is to go to aid the Oak Hill church. These officers were elected: Pres., George H. Stevens; Vice Pres., Philip S. Sweetser; Sec., Miss Marion Converse; Treas., Miss Rebecca Wood.

The First church, Newton Centre, has engaged Mr. Tom Johnson, tenor and Miss Clara Fortune, contralto of Boston; and with Mrs. Clara Jackson, soprano, and Mr. Arthur B. Hitchcock, bass, the quartet is now complete. They will sing next Sunday morning "O How Amiable," Oliver King; "O Sacred Head now Wounded," Liast; "O Jesus, Thou art Standing," Brewer.

THE WOMEN.

Some women are just a trifle timid about going to a bank to transact business. And why? Simply because they are not familiar with the rules of banking. This shouldn't be so, and, indeed, this isn't so with those who come to this bank, for we aim to make every transaction so clear and so plain, that dealing with a bank soon becomes to them an easy habit.

We appreciate the patronage of women. Their business with us is already large and steadily increasing. If you are not now a patron, then please consider this an invitation to become one.

Literary Notes

The opening article in the November Scribner's, "In the Paths of Immigration," is by James B. Connolly, who recently made a trip to Europe for the purpose of making a careful study of a problem that is of constantly increasing interest to America. Col. Curtis Guild, Jr., who was a well known speaker during the last Presidential campaign, writes of the work of "The Spellbinder." The number is notably strong in fiction. J. M. Barrie's beautiful story of "The Little White Bird" is concluded, and it will take, its place among the very best work. Mr. Barrie has yet done. Mrs. Wharton contributes "The Lady's Maid's Bell," a ghost story. "Harry of England," by Miss Julia Magruder is a dashing story of the New York horse show. Sewell Ford, author of "Chieftain," tells of the adventures that befell "Selim, Son of Pasha," as a member of a famous cavalry troop in the Civil War. Miss Margaret Sherwood's story of the Princess Pourquoi, is a fanciful and amusingly satirical commentary on the question of the modern "higher education." "The American Ship in 1902," by Winthrop L. Marvin, is a very clear statement of the present condition of our merchant marine. Mr. F. J. Stimson's story, "Jethro Bacon," the scene of which is laid on the New England coast, is his first long story since his successful "King Noanett."

THE MASK OF THE PARTY.

Represented in Newton by H. M. GREENOUGH and F. B. HOMER.

"Not" as an illustrated news magazine, but also as a literary monthly, the National of Boston is establishing its rank among the first half dozen American monthlies. Among the literary features of the November number are stories by Frank H. Spearman, Edward W. Wooley, Willard Dillman, Eva Hampton Prather, Frances Wilson and Lyle O. Harris; poems of real distinction by Ernest McGaffey, Hilton R. Greer and Louise Levin Matthews; and "Studies of Books and Their Makers." Current affairs are discussed by Joe Mitchell Chapple, who tells how, armed with a letter from President Roosevelt, he saw the coronation of King Edward; by S. Glen Andrus, who reports an interview with "Finance Minister Limantour, the real executive head of Mexico, on the future of that country and its relations with the United States; by Marcia Davies, who writes of the South's great college for women; by Hamilton Wright, who contributes a character sketch of San Francisco, our gateway to Asia by Paul'n'y Bigelow, whose theme is housekeeping in Munich; by Frank Putnam, whose Note and Comment on a variety of topics is a regular feature; and by Arthur McIlroy, who considers the coal strike as an object lesson. The number includes many portraits of celebrities and short illustrated sketches of nine progressive American cities, east and west.

President William DeWitt Hyde, of Bowdoin College, opens the November Atlantic with an impressive discussion of The New Ethics—the moral laws and safeguards of our race, the spirit of which all laws are but the symbolic impression. The Atlantic contains another valuable sociologic and economic essays, notably "A Quarter Century of Labor Strikes," the first of an interesting and timely series of papers on trades-unions, by Ambrose P. Winston; a labor paper entitled "The Australasian Cures for Coal Wars," by H. D. Lloyd; "The End of an Economic Cycle," a thoughtful treatise on current conditions, by Frederic C. Howe; an instructive paper "On the Care of the Eyes," by Dr. A. B. Norton; and a study of Modern Artistic Handicraft," by Prof. Charles H. Moore. Samuel F. Batchelder contributes Old Times at the Law School a lively account of the Harvard Law School "sixty years since," and of some of the famous men of those days who have since become historical. "The Book in the Tenement," by Elizabeth McCracken, author of "The Play and the Gallery," is complimentary to that much quoted Atlantic paper, and equally interesting. Other brilliant essays and sketches are Benjamin De Wheeler's "Things Human," William Everett's "The Possible Glimpse of Dr. Johnson," Mary Austin's "Jimmie," "A Bret Harte Town," and the late Mrs. Pennell's appetizing accounts of "My Cookery Books." In fiction, the number contains "George S. Wasson's Evenings at Simeon's Store," Mary Tracy Earle's "Tomorrow's Child," and Laura Spencer's "Porter's 'Sally.'" Review comprise Books New and Old, a paper upon "Shakespeare and Voltaire," and some comments upon "The Literature of the Early Georgian Era." Poetry is furnished by Hartley Alexander, Arthur Ketchum, and John James Platt. The Contributors' Club completes a brilliant number.

Notable in interest among the illustrated articles which appear in the current Magazine number of The Outlook are: the first instalment of a series of twelve papers by the Hon. John D. Long, Ex-Secretary of the Navy, under the general title, "The New American Navy;" "The Russian and Polish Jew in New York," by Edward A. Steiner, with original photographs—one of a series of articles in which the author is tracing the life and career of immigrants of different races after they are settled in America; "An Artist's Impressions of Malta," by Mr. E. C. Peixotto, accompanied by several drawings by this artist, whose work is comparable only to that of Mr. Pennell and one or two other of the very best "black-and-white men," "The Earl of Aberdeen," by Justin McCarthy, one of a series on living British statesmen by the author of "A History of Our Own Times," which is appearing from week to week in The Outlook; an article by Mr. Clifton Johnson on Tuskegee, considered as a typical Alabama town, with many pictures full of human interest from photographs by Mr. Johnson; a charmingly illustrated article on "The Growth of the Oak," by Mr. J. Horace McFarland, one of his series of tree biographies; and a paper on Tchaikowsky by Mr. D. G. Mason.

Carpets for Fall

Our experience has been that the refurbishing of houses chiefly takes place in the Fall—doubtless in preparation for the various social functions which come with the colder season.

Hence we are now displaying specially attractive Oriental Carpets and Rugs (the result of our buyer's recent trip abroad), Wilton and Brussels Carpets

Our Upholstery Department exhibits its customary choice assortment of Draperies and Furniture Stuffs.
